HOME GROUND.

Rally For Mr. Powers in Newton.

McCall and Moody Heard at Eliot Hall.

Eliot Hall was comfortably filled last Tuesday evening with representative gentlemen and ladies of Newton, gathered to hear the fine speaking provided by the Republican Ward and City committee.

The stage was handsomely decorated with flags, bunting, palms, ferns and other potted plants, and small American flags were given the audience at the entrance to the hall. The ushers were in evening dress and the whole affair seemed more a reception than a political rally.

The American Watch Factory band furnished music, first outside the building and then in the gallery, and with the singing of a mixed quartet composed of Mrs. Frances Dunton Wood, Miss Adah Campbell Hussey, Mr. A. K. Lane, Mr. F. W. Cutter, with Mr. E. E. Truette accompanist, made a great hit with the audience.

The quartet sang the following selections:

Bella Fidia Rigoletto
Robin Adair Bunck
Skylark Hamby
Evening is falling to sleep Spencer

Col. D. W. Farquhar presided and among the prominent gentlemen who supported the meeting were noticed Hon. Henry E. Cobb, Hon. Wm. P. Ellison, Hon. J. Wesley Kimball, J. Richard Carter, Esq., Aldermen J. H. Tickney, Wm. F. Dana, A. R. Weed, C. M. Wardwell and Walter Chesley. Representatives N. Henry Chadwick and John T. Langford, Register of Deeds Edwin O. Childs, City Solicitor Slocum, Mr. S. W. Jones, Mr. Morton E. Cobb and members of the Ward and City committee.

Col. Farquhar in opening the meeting called attention to the work of the city committee and announced that on account of the death of the mother of Mr. Powers he would be unable to be present and address the meeting.

Congressman Samuel W. McCall of Winchester was then introduced and spoke substantially as follows:

Mr. McCall said that the district had made no mistake in nominating Mr. Powers, and that a personal effort should be made by each voter to give him a majority in his own city which would gladden his heart. Remember that you vote not only for President, but for the second great office, that of Speaker, who has more power over legislation than any other man, and now after three years of McKinley, 2 per cent. bonds are selling above par. Mr. McCall said that free silver was a vital question of today, and traced the various attempts made by Congress since the days of Hamilton to fix the ratio between gold and silver.

In regard to trusts, Mr. McCall stated that the Sherman law was on the statute books before the Cleveland administration, but that no attempt was ever made by a Democrat to enforce it. Mr. Bryan rates all corporations as trusts.

Congressman Wm. H. Moody of Haverhill was introduced as one of the coming men of Massachusetts and said that in this district the Democrats had the choice of the paramount issue in the campaign, and his advice was that between the two evils to take neither, but allow the minority party to divide its vote in any way it saw fit. In regard to the claim that the election of Storey would restore the high standard of representatives in this district, Mr. Moody paid glowing tributes to both Congressmen Sprague and Draper, and said that the standard would be maintained by the election of Mr. Powers.

The Philippine question was dramatically traced, the first step, the declaration of war with Spain, in which the Democrats equally share. The second step, the ratification of the treaty of peace, brought about by Bryan influence, placed constitutional burdens on the President, to maintain the authority of the United States, and the third step of authorizing an army of 100,000 men against which there were only 13 Democratic votes in the Senate and 30 in the House.

In the Philippines we are teaching the natives to govern themselves and have introduced the American school. Aguinaldo's proclamation of extermination and the shooting of prisoners of war conclusively show that the insurgents are not yet capable of self government.

In closing Mr. Moody contrasted the candidates for the Presidency, one as a statesman of construction, the other a statesman of criticism; one with a long line of acts behind him, the other with a voice. Contrast also the surroundings, McKinley with Hay, Long and Root, and Bryan with Altgeld, Croker and Tillman.

Bryan, if elected, would be President by the dishonest elections in southern states and the grace of Richard Croker of New York.

The ushers, Messrs. A. W. Blakemore, E. O. Childs, Jr., B. V. Degeu, J. L. Palmer, H. D. Cabot, S. O. Jefferison and Edward Worden, were under charge of Mr. J. Franklin Ryder, chief usher.

Visitors to the Cedar street gridiron at Newton Centre yesterday afternoon were disappointed, as the advertised championship match between the Newton A. A. and Dedham A. A. did not take place. There was only half a dozen home players on hand, and the expected visitors did not show up.

Annual Report of the School Committee for 1899-1900.

It gratifies the Committee to be able to report that, through the liberality of the City Government, much has been done towards the general improvement of the School property. Among these improvements, and the most important, is the erection of a new and splendid structure on the site of the old Bigelow school. This building marks the deep interest which our city takes in public education. It is safe and substantial in its construction, generous in its proportions and attractive in its architecture. The children of the neighborhood which it will serve will be educated in a beautiful and healthy environment.

There is evidence that this contribution from the City to the Bigelow district is warmly appreciated by the residents therein. Already a sum of money amounting to more than $1000 has been given by the citizens of Wards 1 and 7, to be expended in the purchase of pictures and works of art which will soon adorn the walls of the new Bigelow school. A number of gentlemen competent to judge of the artistic and educational values of pictures have been chosen and are energetically carrying on this work.

There is in this city a well defined feeling that our School buildings should be made attractive, so that the sense for the beautiful in form and color may be cultivated in the children in our schools. In response to this feeling and to the petition of the School Board, the city government, during the summer colored the walls of several of our School buildings, and it is the hope of this Committee that at an early day all of our school houses will be treated in a like manner. It may be added that the physical well being of the children demands action of this nature, as the combination of whitened walls and blackened boards in school rooms is very trying to the eyes.

The Committee believes that if the city government will finish the work it has begun, of coloring the walls of our school buildings, the residents in the various districts will provide suitable and artistic objects to adorn them. In fact, such action has already been taken in a number of the school districts.

The addition of two rooms at the Waban school will, it is presumed, accommodate the laundry for some years. At the Hyde building, extensive alterations have been made in the sanitary arrangements, and the Oak Hill school has been improved.

The Committee regrets that its petitions for the enlargement of the Thompsonville school have not received favorable consideration at the City Hall. Meanwhile, both Thompsonville and Newton Centre are suffering because their respective buildings are overcrowded and are badly torn. There will be no relief until the Thompsonville school is enlarged. There is imperative need for a new school building at the Upper Falls, to replace the Wade school.

Drill exercises in the Thompsonville schools have for years been given in our schools, in order that the children may be developed physically. One of the acknowledged duties of the Board, therefore, is to look to the health of the young under its charge. During the coming year the Board hopes to be able to make a systematic examination of the eyesight and hearing of the children, in order that defects in these two senses may, if existing, be discovered. This work will, if undertaken, be carried on under expert supervision, but it should be understood that no action should be taken until the defects are ascertained or until a corrective in these cases where defects were found; it would make known to parents or guardians the results of its discovery and urge upon them to seek medical advice. The Board favors such an investigation as is here mentioned, because in other cities there has been found a surprisingly large number of children who, when undergoing examination, showed defects, especially in vision. The school no little part of teaching is through the agency of the eye of the child. Therefore, it can really be appreciated that to show forth the power of a child, and to lead by the next higher, and then on the third round dropping to the lowest. This is not an absolute demand for a trump lead, but the information so given is often of great value.

These two exceptions, each of which show trump strength, and one being an absolute call for a trump lead, are the only necessary high card plays in the game. In the rule of invariably playing the smallest possible card consistent with the demands of the situation. Any other play is known as false carding and while opponents may be occasionally deceived by such a play, the destruction of your partner's confidence in your play is of far greater consequence, than the gain of a trick or two by such methods. False cards are rarely used by experts and are not recommended by such a play can do partner no harm. The student should never use them.

The news of the week in whist circles is the announced retirement of Mr. L. M. M. from the game, including the discontinuance of his valuable paper on whist in the Wednesday Transcript. Mr. Boyne has done more to advance the knowledge of the game in New England than any other person, and has always stood for all that was gentlemanly and fair in the game. His retirement is greatly regretted by all whist players who earnestly hope, that his business engagements will soon allow him to again give them the benefit of his great knowledge of the game.

On Friday and Saturday, Oct. 26, 27, the fifth annual fall tournament of the New England Whist Association was held at the Vendome, Boston, and was largely attended.

Mr. M. L. Messer of Auburndale made two top scores in the open events and the American Club team of which Mr. C. F. Gilman of Newton, and Mr. A. E. Fennell of Newton Highlands are members, won the Junior trophy for fours. Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Elether, Mr. Fisher Ames, Mr. John Greenwood, Mr. F. M. Copeland, Mr. W. O. Doherty, Mr. Messer, Mr. W. B. Hickox, and Mr. E. B. Hawkes were also noted as participants in the open events, and the Hunnewell Club was represented in the contest for the Junior trophy by Mr. and Mrs. Messer, J. F. Croft, W. B. Trowbridge, J. A. Lord and E. M. Hallett.

Newton District Nursing Association.

The annual meeting of this association will be held at the Methodist Episcopal vestry, Newton Centre, Monday, November 5th at three o'clock p. m. Few people realize the wonderful amount of comfort that is given by this association. Two trained nurses are now employed, who are called by the doctors in the various wards to attend any except contagious cases. The nurses make one call a day, two if absolutely necessary, upon each patient; give instructions as to the preparation of proper food, and especially as to the value of fresh air and the careful bathing of the sick; last, but not least, they give human sympathy in a practical form.

The great benefit of this association is the immediate help that the sick poor derive from it. At short notice from the doctor the nurse is in attendance. There are no preliminaries to go through before the sick can get needed attention.

The officers of the association would like to pay all expenses of nurses, supplies, etc., from the membership fees, would be very thankful for any names of new members who are interested in the work; and would be pleased to have any one interested attend the annual meeting. The annual membership fee is two dollars for women, and five dollars for men.

Police Paragraphs.

Inspector Frank B. Fletcher left Tuesday morning on the pilot boat Louise of Boston for a week's cruise in Massachusetts Bay.

A meeting of the Police Relief association was held Tuesday afternoon to arrange for the first grant to be held under the association's auspices.

Charles E. Berry, 17 years old, employed as a teamster by H. G. Walsh of 500 Albany street, Boston, was arrested shortly after 2 Monday afternoon by Patrolman Richard Taffe for cruelty to a horse. As stated by the patrolman and another government witness the case against Berry was very serious. He, it was alleged, beat a horse unmercifully on Langley road, Newton Centre, and kept his whip on the animal's back for fully 20 yards. Judge Kennedy fined Berry $20, the money to be paid over to the Mass. S. P. C. A.

Lucy Lambert, 15, of Chestnut Hill reported to Patrolman Mills last Friday evening that when she was crossing a field off the North Avenue, near West street, she was accosted by a colored man. He said nothing to her but she was much frightened. This was about 8.20 p. m. On the next night the girl told the same patrolman that she was passing over the same spot a'out the same hour on that evening when a colored man appeared in her path and attempted to snatch her pocketbook. He failed to get it, but in the excitement she dropped a bag of potatoes valued at 10 cents. When she and the patrolman later sought the potatoes there they were not to be found. The girl confided in the officer that she thought James W. Brown, 30, colored, employed as a butler by Mrs. S. E. Barry of 361 Commonwealth avenue, was the man she had seen. The field in which her adventures took place is in the rear of the Barry residence. Brown was arrested and the case was brought before Judge Kennedy on Tuesday for trial. The government's testimony was substantially as given above, but in addition it was stated by the patrolman that he had several complaints from women in that vicinity who claimed they had been frightened by a colored man. Brown attempted to prove an alibi. He said he was at home during the time in question and worked very little at night. His wife and a colored coachman employed by Mrs. Barry testified to this effect. Members of the Barry household testified to Brown's good character. Judge Kennedy said he did not believe Brown guilty of assault with intent to rob, but rather guilty of simple assault. He therefore fined him $15.

In court last Saturday morning Amelia Schendi, an Italian woman of Newton Centre, pleaded guilty to a charge of maintaining a liquor nuisance, and the case was continued until Dec. 29.

Whist.

Before taking up the interesting subject of the trump card, attention should first be directed to the advisability of invariably playing the lowest card in the suit, when it is made to win the trick. This is the lowest of two or more in sequence when high cards are played. For instance on partner's lead of a low card, third hand, holding both ace-king or king queen should play the lower card of the two. This can easily be remembered from the fact that the play of one high card should deny holding the card next lower.

The play of small cards the same principle follows and the fall of a five or six, denies the smaller cards. The announcement of trump strength is the only exception allowed to this rule. The play of an unnecessary high card before a lower such as the 3 before the 2, the 8 before the 7 and so on, is an imperative demand upon the partner of the player using it, to lead the ace of trumps, if held, or the top of three or less trumps and the fourth best of four or more trumps, where the ace is not held.

The use of this trump signal has become so near a science that expert players are extremely liable to lead trumps which card as high as an eight or nine is played by partner on the first round of a plain suit. This is altogether too rash a play for the lowest of a plain suit, followed by the next higher, and then on the third round dropping to the lowest. This is not an absolute demand for a trump lead, but the information so given is often of great value.

A method adopted by many players to show four trumps is the play of the next lowest of a plain suit, followed by the next higher, and then on the third round dropping to the lowest. This is not an absolute demand for a trump lead, but the information so given is often of great value.

These two exceptions, each of which show trump strength, and one being an absolute call for a trump lead, are the only necessary high card plays in the game. In the rule of invariably playing the smallest possible card consistent with the demands of the situation. GET UP!

That's the morning call of Chanticleer. It's a welcome cry to a well man. But to a man whose sleep seems to have been only an unrefreshing stupor; who wakes with burning eyes, throbbing head, and a bad taste in the mouth, it means only a new day's misery.

In such a physical condition health is most surely and swiftly restored by the use of Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It cures diseases of the stomach and organs of digestion and nutrition, and it cures through the stomach diseases of liver, lungs, kidneys, etc., which have their origin in a diseased condition of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. It increases the activity of the blood-making glands, and every organ is benefited by the resulting increase of rich, pure blood.

"Golden Medical Discovery" contains no alcohol and is entirely free from opium, cocaine and other narcotics.

Your "Golden Medical Discovery" and Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy have been of great benefit to me," writes (Prof.) Pleasant A. Oliver, of Viola, Fulton Co., Ark. "Before I used the above mentioned remedies my sleep was not sound; digestion bad; a continual feeling of misery. I now feel like a new man. Any one in need of medical treatment for nasal catarrh could do no better than to take treatment of Dr. R. V. Pierce. I know his medicines are all right in this class of diseases."

MUNICIPAL POLITICS.

Although the large body of voters have as yet, given but little consideration to the selection of candidates for 1901, more or less work has been done towards shaping public sentiment in the interests of Mr. E.
L. Pickard of Abundale as the Republican candidate for mayor. Mr. Pickard is so well known to the people of this city that it is not necessary at this time to enumerate his fitness for that honorable position. His energy and business experience amply qualify him to fill the office with credit and honor to the city and himself.

More or less opposition has developed, however, to Mr. Pickard's candidacy, and although it has not yet crystallized upon another candidate it is more than probable that two sets of delegations will be found on the ticket.

The aldermanic field is the scene of several contests. Ex-Alderman Reuben Forknall is a candidate for the two year term in Ward One, although it is understood that Alderman Weldon desires another term.

In Ward Two the citizens will be glad to learn that Alderman John F. Lothrop will again allow his name to be used, and that Alderman Walter H. Pulsifer will be returned to the board for the one year term.
Ward Three's strong delegation will remain intact, Alderman Weeks having consented to serve for the one year term, and making way for Alderman Fitzpatrick for the two year term.

Ward Four will prove the storm center of the aldermanic convention as it is understood that friends of Alderman Lyman are expecting to send him back to the board against considerable opposition in the Lower Falls, and Abundale believes that Alderman Brown should also be given the two year term. The caucus in Ward Four will be a warm one, and the fight will undoubtedly be continued at the polls.

In Ward Five, Alderman Warren retires after faithful and effective service, and Geo. H. Mellen is booked to succeed him, Alderman Wardwell taking the one year
term.

Newton Centre will send a united delegation to support Alderman Norris for the two year term, and Endicott P. Saltonstall of Chestnut Hill is expected to be the candidate for ward alderman.

Ward Seven politicians are very much at sea, as there is a strong sentiment that Alderman Dana should not resign until his expected representative duties commence about January 1st, and yet it is thought that the people should have a hand in the election of a successor. Legal advice is now being obtained as to whether both ends may not be served in some way.
Aldermen Weed and Trowbridge will both be returned without opposition.

Nominations for the school board are not in demand this year, and so far as heard from, Rev. H. Usher Munro of the Lower Falls will succeed Mr. Crehore, Rev. Geo.
M. Boynton will take the place of Dean Huntington of Newton Centre, ex-Councilman Lewis P. Everett will represent Ward
Five in place of Mr. Bacon, and Mr. Fred H. Tucker of Ward One has consented to stand for the position vacated by Dr.
Hamilton. There will probably be opposition to Mr. Tucker, but it is too early to predict the extent of it at the present time.

THE congressional fight is now on, and each of the three candidates are busily engaged in campaigning for votes. It is a foregone conclusion however, that Mr.
Powers will be elected, and the size of the majority is the only thing in question. A three cornered fight in a district which gave the Republican candidate a majority of nearly 15,000 in 1896, and where the present division is among the opponents to that party, will easily conduce to a walk-over for Mr. Powers. Mr. Baker, notwithstanding the fact that strenuous efforts were made to induce him to withdraw, and in this connection it is rumored that Mr.
Bryan himself requested such action, remains in the field and believes he can be elected. Mr. Storey makes the fight simply and solely on the anti-imperialistic platform, and will probably receive the full magnum vote of the district. Neither of the opponents of Mr. Powers, claim that he is not competent to represent the district, and his ability and capacity are thus conceded in advance. The issues are therefore, clearly placed before the people, Mr.
Powers standing on the Republican platform, fully committed to the cause of sound money, and for a continuance of that policy, which has brought general prosperity to the country during the past four years; Mr. Baker, representing Mr.
Bryan's various theories and known to be a strong advocate of the free coinage of silver, at the ratio of 16 to 1, and lastly Mr. Storey, who seeks to be elected on account of the war in the Philippines. Putting aside all personal considerations the citizens of Newton would naturally support the sound money, and general prosperity candidate, but when to these inducements, is added the personality of our neighbor and friend, who has been tried and not found wanting in the service of the municipality, there can be no question but what Mr. Powers will receive a flattering endorsement at the polls. An amusing factor in the Baker candidacy is the claim made by people, outside of Newton, that

Mr. Baker is to receive the support of Mr.
Powers friends for the office of Mayor, in return for the indirect aid given Mr. Powers in the congressional contest. This claim, it is needless to say, comes from the friends of Mr. Storey, and not from any one at all in touch with the pulse of public sentiment in this city. One other matter should also be borne in mind, and that is the very great necessity of not only re-electing President McKinley, but to also secure control of the Congress, and thereby enable the Republican party to carry out its pledges to the people. Vote for Mr.
Powers for Congress.

In this city, we have been accustomed to a short breathing spell after the state election before entering upon the municipal campaign, but this year, all good citizens, thanks to the present cumbersome caucus law, must, if they desire to be instrumental in the selection of proper candidates for mayor, aldermen and school committee by the Republican Party, determine upon their course, before the din of the national election has died away, and prepare to file their list of candidates before five o'clock on Wednesday afternoon, Nov. 7th.

In the heat of a Presidential contest the election of state officers is apt to be overlooked. See to it that Gov. Crane and his associates on the Republican ticket are given a rousing majority, and do not forget that Senator Hoar's re-election depends upon the success of the Republican candidates for the Senate and House.

A PETITION has been filed with the Board of Gas and Electric Light Commissions for a reduction in the prices of gas and electric lights in the city, and a hearing has been ordered before that Board on Nov. 15th. This is a subject which reaches every one and the further proceedings will be followed with great interest.

ATTENTION is called to the announcement in another column of the annual meeting of the Newton District Nursing Association. The object of this association should appeal to the sympathy and pursue of all interested in the good of the city.

ton on Hancock street last Tuesday morning, a meeting of the Abundale Review Club was held.

A bundle whist under the auspices of the Ladies' Home Circle will be held at the home of Mrs. Albert Plummer on Lexington street, Abundale, next Wednesday afternoon at 2.30.

A regular meeting of the Newtonville Woman's Guild will be held in the parlors of the New church on Highland avenue, next Tuesday afternoon. It will take the form of a home meeting and several of the members will speak on "Summer Outings."

The W. C. T. U. will hold its regular meeting, Tuesday, Nov. 6, at 3 p. m. in the vestry of the West Newton Baptist church.

The regular meeting of the Newton Centre Women's Club was held yesterday morning in the hall, West Newton. Oct.
Livermore was the guest of the club, giving an interesting address on "Some Eminent People Whom I Have Known." Mrs.
Livermore gave accounts of meetings and conferences she had had with Clay, Calhoun, Webster, Lincoln, Horace Mann, John Bright, Gladstone, Phillips, Parker and many others.

Under the auspices of the Lucy Jackson Chapter, D. A. R., the first in a course of three lectures was given at the house of Mrs. James C. Melvin, West Newton, Oct.
24th, by Col. Thomas Wentworth Higginson on, "American Orators." He first spoke of us as a nation of speech makers and while we may be numerically more than the English, a nation of orators or talkers, to the Latin races we seem very reticent. What influences us chiefly in others is not the written words, not this or that act, but the expression of the face, through that only we know the man. Col.
Higginson divided the subject of his address into five periods: the colonial, the revolutionary, the rise of the lawyers, the academic and the literary. He referred briefly to the colonial and revolutionary periods, with a few masterly strokes setting the characters clearly before us.
Daniel Webster and Rufus Choate were also described. The lecturer under the head of Academic spoke of Everett and his finished style and of the anti-slavery period when there was no time for studied form in composition. The Lyceum speakers followed:
Emerson, Curtis, Lucy Stone and others.

The second meeting for the season of the Women's Alliance was held in the parlors of the Unitarian church, West Newton, next Thursday evening. The general subject is "Our Responsibilities," and Mrs.
Charles H. Ames will give an address on "Proportion in Life."

High School Notes.

Bud Brier of the Boston Globe pays a fitting compliment to Mr. Ed. Corey of this place when he says, "Under the Rose" that "Newton is famous for its amateur gardeners, but I guess 'Eddie' Corey, son of station master Corey, at the Highlands, takes the chrysanthemum. His show of these flowers is something magnificent."

Dharma Lodge T. S. is now occupying its new quarters 27 Floral avenue. The usual meetings will be held this week and the regular lodge meeting will be held on Friday evenings hereafter.

A lecture on Egypt was given before the Women's Alliance last evening by Mrs. Hovey of Newton Centre, and illustrated by a number of photographs, also vocal music by Miss Grace White, of Newton Centre, piano solo by Mrs. Wells, duet by Mrs. Luitwiler and Miss Stone. There was a large attendance. Refreshments were served. The next meeting of the club will be with Mrs. Gorton, Hyde street.

The C. L. S. C. met on Monday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. Peter Clark, Newton Centre. This was the 20th anniversary of the circle, and the exercises were appropriate to the occasion. Among those present were Priscilla and Elizabeth, twin infant daughters of Mr. and Mrs.
Clark, who had quite an ovation. The next meeting will be with Mrs. Logan, Forest street.

Mrs. W. H. Mansfield, Mrs. E. E.
Bird and Mrs. H. R. Robinson are among the patronesses for the recital to be given in Steinert hall, Nov. 21st, by Miss Florence Wood and Mr. John Sturgis Codman.
It will be Miss Wood's first appearance in concert since her return from Germany and the recital promises to be a great success, from a musical and social standpoint.

The Newton Highlands M. E. church will hold a fair Tuesday and Wednesday,
Nov. 13 and 14.

Monday afternoon the Sophomore team defeated the Freshmen 15-0.

"Ikey" Andrews '03 returned to school Wednesday for the first time since his accident, although still walking with the aid of crutches he is able to get around.
He will probably be unable to play on the team again this year, much to the regret of the school for he had proven himself to be a good centre.

TONE IS..
.. TONIC.

Tone is to the soul what medicine is to the body—a tonic. There is nothing so good for the tired mind as good music. Egyptians treated their insane with music, and charmed reason back to its throne again.
When the world goes wrong and our best friends go back on us, that is the time we
we need a tonic. When you are all tired out, come and see us, we are positive we have a remedy in the sweet, full, round tone
of our McPhail pianos.

We take old instruments in exchange and allow you three years to pay for your new piano.

The Proposed Playground.

To the Editor of the Graphic:

Not a few of the older residents of Wards One and Seven have noticed the movement for a playground to be set apart for the use of the boys and young men.

I believe that all such movements should secure the most willing co-operation of the older ones who remember, if they do not play, a healthy game of football, and would be glad to see opportunities given for the continuance of manly sport, the development of muscle as well as mind, to make a healthy body and some day our best citizens.

Yours respectfully,
GOHAM D. GILMAN.

IF BRYAN IS ELECTED

We Shall Lose Respect For Our Sagacity, Sincerity and Integrity.

By Harry Wallerstein.
"If there is any one," said Bryan in 1896, "who believes that the gold standard is a good thing, I warn him not to vote for me, because I promise him that it will not be maintained in this country longer than I am able to get rid of it."

Bryan's purpose is unchanged. In a recent speech at Topeka, Kas., he said: "Since the farmer and workman produce merchandise and not money they do not profit by the appreciation of the dollar."

Ask the people who live in Mexico whether they prefer to be paid in their dollar, which intrinsically contains more silver than ours, or in our dollars. They will tell you that they prefer our dollar.

The Mexican dollar is worth only 50 cents, and that is what our dollar will be worth if Bryan is elected. He will order all payments to be made in silver, the country will be flooded with a depreciated coin; gold will be withdrawn from circulation, wages will remain stationary, while living expenses will be materially higher.

The workman will have less demand for his labor, and will be paid in a dollar whose purchasing power will be cut in half.

Four years ago thousands of workmen were idle; agriculture and nearly every other line of industry had entered upon a long period of paralysis, bankruptcy and despair. The country was then suffering from the greatest industrial depression it had ever experienced, and the period from 1893 to 1897 was one of "hunger, horror and misery." That terrible time ended with the dawn of the year 1897. Bryanism had been defeated. The silver conspiracy had been thwarted. McKinley had solemnly pledged himself to safeguard the gold standard, and as a result industry revived, confidence was restored, factories were reopened, wages were advanced, and the entire country entered upon a golden era of American enterprise.

Today we see all employed at remunerative wages, the country prosperous, the people contented and happy and our flag respected and honored all over the world. Shall this be changed? Shall we return to the misery of four years ago, and to the industrial depression and low wages prevailing then? It was at that time that Bryan warned the farmers and workmen that, if silver declined, the products of their labor would likewise decline, and prophesied universal ruin and destruction, if the gold standard would be maintained.

Since then, all products of agriculture and of manufacture have materially advanced, and prosperity has reigned throughout the land. Our country enjoys today a higher degree of influence and consideration all over the world than it has ever before attained. It means a large and increasing export trade. It means a growing market for the product of our farms and factories. The moment we take the backward step to declare for free silver, we lose the confidence of the rest of the civilized world, and this would be followed by serious loss of commerce and export trade. The South American republics are earnestly striving to get away from their depreciated currency, and to rise to the gold standard. They know by long and bitter experience the curse of the silver dollar. They have looked upon us as the possessors of an ideal government. They have confidence in the wisdom and ability of our people. Shall we follow the lead of Bryan, declare in favor of the silver standard, and thereby lose the respect for our sagacity, sincerity and integrity?

Bryan's election would bring confusion and distress upon the business interests of the country, especially including the interests of labor.

In the contest for a sound and honest currency, the straightforward common sense and patriotism of the people came out nobly four years ago for the rescue of the country. In the course of a speech at that time Bryan made the dismal prediction: "The gold standard means half time in the factories and it means double time on the farms." How far has this gloomy prophecy been fulfilled? There was then not even half time in the factories. Many wage-earners were idle, their families were hungry.

Today under the gold standard those mills and factories are all in operation on full time, and those wage-earners are all at work at the highest wages they ever received. The gold standard does mean double time for the farmer. The people want more of his grain, his live stock, his wool, and his other products.

The agriculturalist has fewer mortgages on his land, larger herds of cattle, greater crops and prices of his staples are higher.

Was Bryan, is he, a student of financial and industrial conditions and laws? Was he, is he, only guessing? We want not this prophet of ruin and calamity, whose judgment has been so frequently at fault, and is at fault now. We want happiness, not misery. We want full purchasing power for our dollar. We want good wages and constant employment for all. We want an honest dollar and an honest government. We want not the owners of silver mines to become rich, while impoverishing the entire community, and destroying the credit of the nation.

Bryan's policy is "destruction, calamity and repudiation."

McKinley says today: "The nation faces the new century gratefully and hopefully, with increasing love of country, with firm faith in its fine institutions and with high resolve that they shall not perish from the earth." His paramount issue is "The happiness of our homes, the prosperity of our people."

New York, October, 1900.

Bryan Angers Honest Democrats.

The Democratic Honest Money League of America, at a special meeting, heard a number of reports received from throughout the country. All of these were encouraging. Major John Byrne, president of the league, in discussing them, said:

"The honest Democrats all over the country are incensed at Mr. Bryan's latest utterances. He is dragging the great position of the candidacy for the presidency to the lowest level it has ever been in this country."

"The man is desperate. His friends claim that he is honest, at least, but this is not honesty."

AND GOOD BABIES.

TENNEY'S FOOD IS THE STAFF OF LIFE FOR CHILDREN AND INVALIDS.

Is your baby well? Are you sure you understand the language of a cry? Tenney's Food makes sturdy children. It nourishes the child with gentle means. It is a natural food prepared from whole wheat, malt and the sugar of milk.

Tenney's Food, in itself, contains every essential for human sustenance. It is the nearest approach to a defined essence of life.

Tenney's Food nourishes the infant; it strengthens the mother; it invigorates the invalid; it will sustain life and energy in persons of mature years and robust health.

Tenney's Food is readily and easily assimilated by delicate or enfeebled stomachs. Does not require cooking, may be given with milk, hot water, beef tea, etc.

Tenney's Food is the most satisfactory substitute for mother's milk. It is now generally prescribed by physicians and adopted by many hospitals.

Pleasant and palatable, no sickness, no sweetness, no nausea.

Literary Notes.

A striking instance of expert appreciation is shown in the following letter written to Mr. Hamlin Garland by a Southwestern cattleman, whose tribute to "The Eagle's Heart" runs as follows: "I wish to congratulate you. Your story 'The Eagle's Heart' is 'shore' all right you never made a miss throw, but landed squarely over the horns every time. This praise don't come from a tender foot but from a cattle man who has been through it all and is still in the business. When your papers are printed in book form I want a copy to send to my boy boys in Arizona. Please tell me where I can get it and the price, and if you ever come to this part of the country I want you to visit my ranch I will give you as good a jerky stew as you ever got out side of and a shore enough bed with goose hair pillow on it."

Mr. Frank Dunlap Frisbie, whose book "Sir Tommy," issued some time ago, brought forth much favorable comment, and demanded a second edition to be printed, has a new book in preparation. It is a collection of short stories dealing with American customs from colonial times to the present day, and has a touch of both the humorous, pathetic and dramatic side of human existence. The book will probably be brought out sometime during November by De Wolfe Fiske & Co., Boston.

The great Trans-Siberian Railway, described by Henry Norman in his series on "Russia of Today," leads the November number of Scribner's Magazine. This story is the commercial and political key to the Far East and Mr. Norman says that since the great wall of China the world has seen no one material undertaking of equal magnitude. Jesse Lynch Williams describes the "Cross-streets of New York," fully illustrated with original sketches and drawings. In color printing this number shows some very effective pictures by Frederic Dorr Steele made to illustrate a charming bicycle story called "The Wheel of Time." Henry James contributes "The Tones of Time"—the story of a woman who tries to create a respectable past. Another of the short stories in the number is a tale of Russian intrigue in China called "The Tartar who was not Caught." Mr. Barrie's great serial, "Tommy and Grizel," is concluded in this number. Some of the beauties of the World's Fair which is just closing in Paris are fully illustrated by the camera of Dwight L. Edmundson who has made a wonderful series of photographs.

Billy Sanders, Joel Chandler Harris' shrewd and droll Georgia cracker, who promises to excel in popularity the Uncle Remus of other days, makes welcome re-appearance in "The Views of Billy Sanders," a monthly symposium which Mr. Harris is to contribute to the new magazine, The World's Work. Billy Sanders is as wise as he is witty, and his observations on current topics are sure to be a noteworthy addition to periodical literature, and one eagerly looked for by every lover of pure and wholesome humor.

Dana Estes Co. have just issued two books for boys by James Otis on interesting events in American History. "Boston Boys of 1775" is an account of the efforts of two lads to obtain evidence to convict Dr. Benjamin Church of treason and their exciting adventures in the besieged town of Boston. "The Armed Ship America" is an interesting description of privateering during the War of 1812, including an account of a mutinous and superstitious crew and an uprising of some prisoners.

Spread Like Wildfire.

When things are "the best" they become "the best selling." Abraham Hare, a leading druggist, of Belleville, O., writes: "Electric Bitters are the best selling bitters I have handled in 20 years. You know why? Most diseases begin in disorders of stomach, liver, kidneys, blood and nerves. Electric Bitters tone up the stomach, regulate the liver, kidneys and bowels, purifies the blood, strengthens the nerves, hence cures multitudes of maladies. It builds up the entire system. Puts new life and vigor into any weak, sickly, run-down man or woman. Price 50 cents. Sold by Arthur Hudson, Druggist."

BOSTON AMUSEMENTS.

TRIMONT THEATRE—Next week will be the fourth and last of Mrs. Fiske's engagement at the Tremont Theatre. To witness this play as it now is being represented is to see as perfect a stage as the time affords. Mrs. Fiske plays Becky with a grace and spontaneity altogether delightful, and in the critical stages of the drama she thrills with that quiet, powerful characteristic of her art. Her present company is one of more even effectiveness than that of last season, and the performance as a whole is remarkable for its symmetry. This will be the final engagement of Mrs. Fiske in Boston in this play, and to miss seeing "Becky Sharp" is to miss one of the few really great stage representations of this period. On Monday, Nov. 12, Mr. E. S. Willard will make his re-appearance on the stage of the Tremont Theatre after an absence of three years. His return will be effected in Robertson's famous comedy, "David Garrick" in connection with which will be presented a comedy-ette, entitled "A Silent Woman." These plays will constitute the bill for every evening of the week, which will be Wednesday and Saturday matinees. The distinguished actor will appear in that delightful idyl, "The Professor's Love Story." The second week will be devoted to a re-visit of "Tom Pinch," that charming play founded on Dickens' "Martin Chuzzlewit," and on Monday evening of the third week will be produced a new play by Elwyn A. Gardiner, entitled "Truchinello," and devoted to the life of a strolling actor in Italy.

The "Beauty Show of all Nations" the one supreme novelty of the recent big 20th Century fair at the Mechanics' building in Boston, has been transferred to Austin and Stone's Tremont Row Museum. This will be now seen in all its glory and in its entirety, amid magnificent surroundings, elaborate decorations and appropriate appointments.

This great bit of the Exposition went to the Museum as a loan. Its stay there will not be long, but it will be of sufficient length to give the thousands who went to the Mechanics' building again and again to see it still another opportunity to feast their eyes on the "beautiful rosebud garden of girls."

The Springfield Republican says that at a recent meeting of Moorfield Storey's campaign committee arrangements were made for opening his campaign with a rally in the Brookline town hall on Friday evening at 8 o'clock. Mr. Storey's speech will be a review of McKinley's letter of acceptance, and it is said that it is a thorough piece of work. Notwithstanding the expectations of the Republicans to hold their vote, information comes to these headquarters that Storey will get a considerable number of votes. Baker, who has held on to the Democratic nomination after pressure to withdraw had been applied by the leading state and national Democrats, only by Democratic leaders in Brookline to be sure of losing a considerable section of the party vote in that town. Baker himself says to-day that very few men asked him to withdraw, and that the local influence was in favor of his remaining. He says that the Storey vote will be drawn from the Republicans and that he (Baker) will not lose any Democratic votes; therefore his chances are favorable. This is scouted by the Storey men, and it is believed by some of them that Baker will be the third candidate on the list.

Discussion of the coveted office of sergeant-at-arms of the Legislature follows promptly upon the burial of Capt. Adams, as was to have been expected. It rests with Gov. Crane to appoint an acting sergeant-at-arms until the General Court of 1901 elects Capt. Adams' permanent successor. It is expected that the governor will name Maj. Charles G. Davis, first clerk to the late sergeant-at-arms, as temporary occupant of the place. Not only does this office carry a salary of $3500, but the sergeant-at-arms has the appointment of nearly 100 subordinates. He also has supervision of the expenditure of nearly $200,000 annually. All in all, Massachusetts has nothing else quite comparable with this office, whose occupant goes on dress parade in a high hat, cockade and the mace of authority. Lots of curious eyes have been fixed upon the vacant place. The office was created in 1835, and since then there have been four occupants of it. Benjamin Stevens served from 1835 to 1839, John Morrissey from 1839 to 1874, Grab F. Mitchell from 1875 to 1885, and Capt. John G. B. Adams from 1885 till Friday last.

SENATOR HOAR'S SUMMING UP.

Democrats Have the Same Old Leaders and the Same Old Doctrines.

We had a great debate in 1896. We made up the issue and the Democratic party was defeated. We have had four years' experience. The Democratic party comes back, I say, for a new trial with the same old candidate, the same old leaders, and with one, or perhaps, the same old doctrines. They mean to elect Mr. Bryan if they can; they mean to get the free coinage of silver at 16 to 1, if they can; they mean to overthrow the protective system, if they can; they mean to adopt Mr. Bryan's remedy for what they call "trusts" or great and overgrown aggregations of capital, if they can; they mean to impose an income tax by national authority, if they can, and they mean to reconstruct the supreme court of the United States, if they can. Two other questions have assumed prominence at the present time not discussed in the last election, but practical questions now. In five states at the south the Democratic party has succeeded, by ingenious processes, in taking away from the colored men the right to vote. Other states are following their example, so that before long if they do not stop there are to be 10,000,000 colored people in the United States deprived of the rights of American citizenship, and the question is upon us whether we shall execute the constitutional mandate that the southern Democratic states which have done this thing shall have their representation in congress proportionately reduced, or whether you and I also are to be disfranchised and have 50 or 60 men make laws for us who represent nothing but usurpation. That question demands our attention now.—Senator Hoar.

HE WOULD CHECK EXPANSION.

Yet Bryan Does Not Promise Exploitation of New Enterprises.

"The present campaign," says Senator Chauncey M. Depew, "emphasizes the difference in practical life between a prophet whose predictions must stand the test of time and experience, and the pledge of a party whose promises are based upon principles which have worked out in the past the results which are guarantees for the future. In other words, theory and experience are again, as in 1896, in hostile array."

"Having proved himself such a colossal failure as a prophet in 1896, we can hardly believe in 1900 that Col. Bryan has now the real mantle of Elijah. The difficulty with the terms which he depicts from Republican principles and policies is that they have all been tested, both under Republican and Democratic Administrations. Protection of American industry has given America to Americans and sent forth our products to the conquest of the markets of the world. The gold standard of value has divorced us from Mexico and China, has placed us in commercial relations with and upon the same commercial basis as the great industrial nations of Christendom. It has given stability to our credit; it has made the American dollar recognized upon an equal value with the English sovereign or the French louis everywhere around the globe; it has given steadiness to our business, unexampled credit to our Government."

"Mr. Bryan does not deny the wonderful prosperity of our country and of our people; he does not promise any better returns to the farmer or the manufacturer or the merchant; he does not promise any greater employment or higher wages to the laborer; he does not promise the exploitation of new enterprises and the conditions which make money active and capital useful by new additions to the productive powers of the country, and therefore a larger employment and a greater distribution of money. The country is to be no better than it is today or was yesterday by his election, even upon his own showing, upon his own prophecy and upon his own promise."

"His position, measured by plain standards of business, is simply this: 'The country is drunk with prosperity; it is an inebriation which is unhealthy and cannot last; if you elect me I will check the pace, curtail this unhealthy expansion; my methods and my remedies will arrest the disease and eradicate it before it has destroyed the body politic.' In other words, through the process of a milder catastrophe he will prevent the greater one which he thinks otherwise inevitable. He is the veritable successor of the doctor in the well-known and venerable story who threw his patient into fits because he was death on fits."

"But, dear Dr. Bryan, except a little surface irritation here and there from too good living, there is nothing the matter with the American patient. He is in magnificent health, his vitality is never so vigorous, his brain never so active, his purposes never so clear and his future never so promising before. It will be many years before he leaves the healthy diet upon which he is now feeding for your patent medicines."

"A prophet who attempts to fool the people by holding up as untold theory demonstrated results and upon that theory predicting the reverse of what history has established, insults the intelligence of every person who is familiar with the story of the marvelous growth of the United States in the nineteenth century."

First—Because the proprietors have always been most careful in selecting the various ingredients used in its composition, namely; the finest Cod Liver Oil, and the purest Hypophosphites.

Second—Because they have so skillfully combined the various ingredients that the best possible results are obtained by its use.

Third—Because it has made so many sickly, delicate children strong and healthy, given health and rosy cheeks to so many pale, anemic girls, and healed the lungs and restored to full health, so many thousands in the first stages of Consumption.

The meeting was well attended and those present were enthusiastic over the formation of such a society in our village. A constitution was presented and adopted and the following officers elected: L. P. Everett, president; William Hopkins, vice-president; John Temperley, secretary; John A. Gould, treasurer.

—One of the saddest events in our community for a long time was the death of young Sherwood Davis, which occurred at the Newton hospital on Sunday night. He had been seriously ill with diphtheria for a week. He was a fine young man and very much liked by all who knew him. He was 14 years old. His brother Harold, E. at the hospital with the same disease, but had a light attack and will soon be home.

—Timothy T. Hurley, age 38, died last Friday night at the Newton Hospital. He was a resident of this place and had a wide circle of friends. Funeral services were held Sunday afternoon at St. Mary's church, conducted by Rev. C. J. Riordan. A large number of friends were in attendance. The Holy Name society, with about 100 members, under the direction of its president, William Hopkins, and his two assistants, Andrew C. Hughes and Jeremiah Mahoney, marched to the cemetery and participated in the ceremonies at the grave. The pallbearers were William Kenedick, John B. Sullivan, Richard Osborne, Jr., John Romanoski, Bernard Smith and Patrick Riley. Interment was at Needham.

MacLean-Slade.

In the First Parish church, Brookline, Wednesday, at noon, took place the marriage of Miss Anna Perkins Slade, daughter of Mrs. Daniel D. Slade of Chestnut Hill district, Newton, to Lt. Col. J. B. MacLean of Woolwich, England, a member of the Imperial army, recently stationed in Montreal.

The edifice was tastefully decorated with palms, ferns and other potted plants, together with a profusion of yellow chrysanthemums.

Rev. Edward Hale of Cambridge was the officiating clergyman. The bride was unattended, and she wore white liberty silk and her veil was caught up with a silver hairbrush. The best man was Lt. C. W. Weldon MacLean of Montreal.

The following gentlemen acted as ushers: Elisha Flagg, 24, Conrad Slade, Benjamin Van Horne, Arthur Wheelwright, M. G. Houghton, Jr., and Frederick Tudor, Jr. There was a wedding breakfast following the ceremony at the Slade residence on Hammond street, guests being present from the Newtons, Boston, Montreal, Toronto and New York. At the conclusion of the tour Lt. Col. and Mrs. MacLean will reside in Montreal.

City Hall Notes.

Water Commissioner Whitney and Treasurer Banlett were both pleased to see Saturday morning the Metropolitan water board discharge its indebtedness with the city by paying over $50,000 for the open reservoir at Waban Hill. The money goes to water construction account, and in consequence Mr. Whitney wears a smile. It is said that the Waban Hill plant will be used by the Metropolitan water board in place of the Fisher Hill reservoir in West Roxbury which now supplies Watertown and Belmont. The former is more centrally located, is 12 feet higher and possesses a better grade of water, all of which Belmont and Watertown will surely appreciate.

Thirty-one deaths were reported to the board of health during October and the rate per thousand was 11.07. The board had under its care last month 40 cases of diphtheria, 2 of scarlet fever, 6 of typhoid and 1 of measles.

Thursday was a record breaking day for receipts in the treasurer's office, more than $135,000 being taken in by Major Banlett and his assistants.

Col. Kingsbury has recently had neatly painted bulletin boards placed at convenient places throughout the city for municipal notices.

Come to the fountain of life! Come, come, weak, and cast down, and gloomy men and women, with health and strength ebbing away, come to the fountain of life, and drink of its vivifying waters! There's hope for you, however sick and despondent you may be; there's health and strength and energy as surely as the sun shines and the wind blows. For years, two noted German scientists have been experimenting under the guidance of their scientific skill and practical knowledge, with the determination to find a remedy for the restoration of the health. Their investigations have been deep and broad and far beyond the lines of the ordinary scientist. If you wish to "live long and prosper" our "Longevity" ad. in another column will tell you how to do so.

Farlow of $200 be used as a fund and that the interest at the rate of 4 per cent. per annum be used only for the purchase of books for the library.

Loring B. Marshall, the Photographer in the Stevens Building, Nonantum square, has completely renovated his studio by substituting a dark green ingrain paper on the walls of the operating room, giving much better light for good workmanship and being much more agreeable to the sitter. This studio is now one of the most attractive around Boston and shows Mr. Marshall's good taste in decorating, furnishing and the excellent work done there. Picture framing has been added to the business. A stock of mouldings of the latest designs have been purchased, and a competent man has been placed in charge of the work.

The increase in the City Messenger's department is occasioned by an appropriation for carriages $500, (the carriages for 1900 being paid from an appropriation brought forward from 1899) and the addition of a telephone operator at City Hall.

The health department has an extra $1000 for the Newton Hospital, and the increase in the wire department is to provide a new dial transmitter at first head quarters.

The schools appropriation provides for several new teachers and for the purchase of a few pianos. A decrease is made in the street appropriation and the increase in the treasury department explains itself.

The increase in the water department is largely on account of the item of fuel at the pumping station.

The Mayor also estimates the receipts for 1901 as $288,805, an increase of nearly $19,000 over those of the present year. The corporation taxes and water rates yielding more revenue than before.

DINNER OF THE OLD CLAFIN GUARD.

ASSOCIATION CELEBRATES ITS 30TH ANNIVERSARY AT HOTEL ESSEX, BOSTON, WITH A BIG ATTENDANCE LAST EVENING.

Members of the Clafin Guard Veteran Association celebrated that organization's 30th anniversary at the 6th annual dinner held last evening in the Hotel Essex, Boston. The great Boston fire which broke out Nov. 9, 1872, in which many of the older members of the Clafin guard performed a week and more of hard duty was also brought to mind.

The entire affair was certainly one of the most successful ever held under the association's auspices. Every arrangement proved most satisfactory and the members were highly pleased with their surroundings.

At 6.30 in the business session these officers were elected:

President, Maj. Robert Ball Edes; first vice-president, Richard A. Cunningham; second vice-president, Capt. A. C. Warren; secretary, Capt. W. E. Lombard; treasurer, Edward L. Clark.

After the business meeting members and guests enjoyed a half hour of social intercourse and then proceeded to the banquet hall. President C. A. Bowditch, chairman of the dinner, presided at the banquet.

Gen. Embury P. Clark, 2d Massachusetts volunteers; Col. S. A. Bolster, formerly assistant adjutant general, 1st brigade, M. V. M.; the Hon. E. L. Pickard, Commander John Flood, post 62, G. A. R., Newton; Past Department Commander W. A. Wetherbee, Massachusetts G. A. R.; Capt. E. R. Slinger, company C, 5th regiment, and the Hon. Henry E. Cobb.

Among the associate members present who were on guard during the fire were: Maj. Robert B. Edes, Capt. Fred P. Barnes, Lieut. W. E. Glover, Sergt. Edward L. Leland, Sergt. George A. Robbins, Edward O. Childs, C. A. Hill, C. H. Ireland and H. E. Cobb.

On motion of Alderman Warren the references of the budget to departmental committees was reconsidered, and after a little discussion was referred to the finance committee with instructions for that committee to hear the several committees or their chairman as the various department estimates are considered.

The certificate of incorporation of the Abenarie Golf Club was approved by the board.

The claims committee recommended a settlement with remonstrants on Lexington street betterments for the nominal sum of $5 each and an order to that effect was adopted.

NEW SOUTH SIDE CLUB.

YOUNG MEN OF NEWTON UPPER FALLS HAVE SUCCESSFULLY ORGANIZED ONE FOR WHICH A BRILLIANT FUTURE IS PROMISED.

Among the recent additions to Newton's many clubs is the Rockland Club of Newton Upper Falls, which starts with many features that indicate its future prominence among the political and social organizations of the south side. The members have secured for quarters the finely situated estate of the late J. Allen Gould, with an area of five acres and in every way adapted for club purposes. The main building has been renovated to suit present ideas. The main entrance opens upon a good sized hall. To the right is the parlor and reception room; to the left the smoking room and library. Connecting the library and reception rooms is a music room. Directly to the rear of the lounge room is the dining hall and kitchen. On the second floor is found the pool and billiard, card, smoking, writing and secretary's quarters. The club starts with an energetic membership of twenty-three. The furnishings are designed for comfort and homeliness. The officers are: President, Thomas J. Sullivan; secretary, Thomas W. White; executive committee, William Hurd, W. H. Fanning, James C. Ryan.

Two Collisions on Monday.

The early morning fog Monday was responsible for a collision between an electric of the Newton & Boston street railway company and one of the city's steam rollers at Newtonville about 7 o'clock that morning. The electric was Watertown bound, and was passing along Watertown street near the corner of Crafts street, Newtonville, when it struck a steam roller which had crossed the single track. Fortunately, there was but one passenger on the car, and he escaped any injury. The motorman and conductor were both unhurt, but an employee of the road named Kiley, who was standing in the front vestibule when the crash came, sustained slight injuries. The front vestibule of the car was badly damaged, and the car was derailed. The steam roller suffered little injury.

About 11 o'clock Monday morning a Natick electric car, which was descending the Washington street hill on the Wellesley side of the river at Newton Lower Falls, came into collision with a locomotive at the railroad crossing the foot of the hill. Just how the accident occurred is not known. It is reported that while the electric car was wrecked, the few passengers inside and the conductor and motorman escaped injury.

Incendiary's Work.

There is being an investigation made of a deliberate attempt to destroy by incendiaryism the barn of Joseph L. Caverly on Jewett street, which was discovered about 4:30 Sunday morning by Jeremiah McNamara and Richard Kiley, whose promptness undoubtedly prevented the ravages of what would have proved, it is believed, a most destructive blaze.

Caverly's barn is located at the corner of Jewett and Gardner streets and is occupied by Thomas Ford, McNamara and Kiley were employed in a barn across the street and were preparing milk wagons and contents for delivery early that morning, when they noticed a tiny flame issuing from the corner of the Caverly barn.

Some water was thrown which, apparently, quenched the fire. McNamara, believing the fire extinguished, drove away, but Kiley remained to finish his work. In a short time flames again appeared and after several ineffectual attempts to put out the blaze with buckets of water, Kiley pulled an alarm from box 17.

The blaze was extinguished by members of hose company, and later there was an investigation by Chief Randlett. It was found that an incendiary had been at work, who had been free in the use of the premises. There was a large quantity of hay and several horses in the barn.

During the investigation Patrolman Maurice Keely, of division 2, took down some loose boards which covered a cess-pool and fell into the excavation, 10 feet. He sustained a severe shaking up and injuries to his left hand. A physician attended him and he was taken to his home in the patrol wagon. He reported for duty 12 hours later.

Phonographs.

An inferior talking machine with thin rasping records is enough to make a musical car distracted. If you are interested in securing a first class instrument with clear and natural tones and records, I would be pleased to give you the benefit of several years' experience in handling phonographs, gramophones and records. Call or address F. E. Harwood, 194 Church street, Newton.

Police Paragraphs.

It is seldom that the Newton police are called upon to handle a crowd of unusual size, but Saturday night's management of the torchlight parade was a decided credit to the department. Chief Farber and all his men ought certainly receive "all that's a'comin'" in the way of bouquets.

Michael Driscoll of Williams street, Newton Upper Falls, was arrested about 9 last Friday evening at his home by patrolmen McKenzie and Nugan. Driscoll was creating a disturbance, the principal features of which included an assault upon his wife. The patrolman subdued Driscoll after quite a fight and with difficulty relieved him of a 34 Malabar brand knife. He was brought in court Saturday morning to answer to a charge of disturbing and sentenced to three months in the house of correction.

In court Monday morning Mrs. Elizabeth McCarthy, was sentenced to the house of correction for 30 days on a charge of drunkenness. "She was found Sunday evening by Patrolman Keely lying helplessly drunk outside of an Italian boarding house on River street, West Newton, and was placed under arrest."

Inspector Frank B. Fletcher has returned after a vacation spent on the Atlantic. He was aboard the boat at East Boston last week Tuesday for a cruise to Brown's Bank, off the Bay of Biscay, and returned. The inspector had a thoroughly good time, for Capt. Joseph Fawcett, the boat's commander, and his crew made him entirely at home. On the afternoon of Oct. 31, when the boat was about 35 miles off Highland Light, Inspector Fletcher and the others on deck observed quite a commotion in the water about a half mile from the boat. As she drew nearer they saw fish jumping about and a short distance from the school the tail of a huge serpent. According to the inspector's story this tail was elevated about 12 feet in the air, but the serpent's head was not to be seen. A capture would have been attempted, but before the boat got near enough it dived below the surface. After placing pilots on the S. S. New England, the Sackem, S. S. Norwegian and Eva, all the pilots being manned out, the boat returned to Marblehead.

Attention is called to the advertisement of Draper & Joane, Dentists and Opticians, 51 Summer street, Boston. The location is very convenient for their Newton patrons, and great care is exercised in the examination and treatment of the eyes.

Women Who have the Blues

Despondency in women is a mental condition directly traceable to some distinctly female ill. Well women don't have the blues, but comparatively few people understand that the right medicine will drive them away.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

overcomes the blues, because it is the safeguard of woman's health.

It regulates the entire female organism as nothing else does. When the dragging sensation and the backache go, the blues will go also.

Read the letters from women appearing in this paper—women who have tried it and know. There are a million such women.

SEMI-CENTENNIAL.Auburndale Congregational Church Marks an Important Epoch.

Church-going folk throughout the city are deeply interested in the semi-centennial jubilee celebration at the Auburndale Congregational church which began last Sunday evening and which is to continue until Nov. 16.

The members of that society hold a high position in Newton and in their own village particularly they are looked upon with much esteem.

Last Sunday evening after prayer and scripture reading there was a review of the church's missionary work during the past half-century. The names of those who went out from the church in such service were recalled, and many of the society's benevolences were referred to. There were remarks by the pastor, Rev. C. M. Southgate and Rev. M. C. Strong, followed by an address on "Development of Mission Work in India" by Rev. Dr. Perkins of India.

It was in the latter part of October, 1850, that there was held a gathering of the church going folk of Auburndale, at which time it was the voice of the meeting that a place of worship for those of the Congregational faith in Auburndale was a necessity. Many had attended services in the Second Congregational church of West Newton, while others had traveled a greater distance to attend divine worship.

At subsequent meetings plans were outlined, and on Nov. 14, 1850, there was a council of churches in a public hall at Auburndale. It was unanimously agreed that the village of Auburndale was entitled to a church of its own, and in consequence 34 signed their names to the confession of faith and covenant of the newly formed church. The name of the Evangelical Congregational church of Auburndale was chosen and is borne by the society today.

Until July 1, 1857, when the church was dedicated, the members of the Evangelical Congregational church of Auburndale gathered for worship in the village hall. It was voted to purchase a site for the church on June 15, 1855, but not until Sept. 10, 1856, was it deemed advisable to erect the new structure. Charles E. Parker, deceased, was the architect, and the cost of the building was about $12,000.

During a violent storm on the night of March 24, 1862, the spire and bell were blown down upon the roof, causing great damage to the body of the church.

For temporary accommodations the society made use of the hall at Lassetts, and after repairs had been completed the edifice remained in use for several years and until that time, when a chapel fund was raised, the idea originating with the Ladies' Aid Society, having accumulated a sufficient sum, the church society voted on Dec. 6, 1877, to enlarge the building and erect a chapel in addition.

The building committee consisted of Capt. Charles E. Rantlett, Rev. Isaac Worcester and Mr. Nathan Mosman. When all improvements were completed the church was reopened for public worship. This was on Sunday, Sept. 22, 1878.

After the organization of the church society in 1850 the services were for two years conducted by several clergymen, including Rev. Sewall Harding, Rev. J. E. Woodbridge, Rev. Charles D. Legee and Rev. M. G. Wheeler. It was on June 20, 1856, that Rev. Edward W. Clarke became pastor. He remained in charge of the society until June 30, 1861, when he was succeeded by Rev. James Means, who occupied the pulpit for a year. After the latter resigned candidates were heard for several months, until Feb. 10, 1864, when Augustus H. Carrier was installed pastor. He resigned Oct. 7, 1868, and on Feb. 19 of the following year a call was extended to Rev. Calvin C. Cutler. Rev. Mr. Cutler was installed May 9, 1867.

Upon Rev. Mr. Carrier's resignation in 1865 Rev. C. M. Southgate, the present pastor, was called and installed. He occupies the parsonage at the corner of Grove street and Woodland road, which is owned by the church society.

The bell at present in use was cast in Boston, at the foundry of Henry N. Hooper, from whom it was obtained in the autumn of 1857. It weighs 350 pounds and was purchased for $110, the amount having been secured by subscription. The first clock was placed in the church tower, in 1858, but was replaced in 1862 and 1867 by later and better ones.

The early records of the Sunday school are not complete, but it is known that the first superintendent was Mr. Wm. Wallissey.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surface of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer one Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Hall's Family Pills are the best.

What Makes the Home?

Not the house, however fine it may be; not its furniture, pictures and appointments. The wife and mother makes the home, and to speak of going home means to go back into the shelter of the mother's love and care.

And when womanly ills sap the mother's strength, the home-life suffers. The food is not cooked as she cooks it.

Everywhere the lack of wisely supervision and motherly thoughtfulness is apparent.

What a change, then, when this wife and mother comes back to take her old place in the family. Thousands of women who, because of womanly ills, had been shut out of home life and home happiness, have been enabled to once more take their place in the family after being cured by Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It establishes regularity, dries weakening drains, heals inflammation and ulceration and cures female weakness. It makes weak women strong, sick women well.

"I commenced taking your 'Favorite Prescription' and 'Golden Medical Discovery' about the 10th of last December one year ago," writes Mrs. Eliza Wright of Mountainview, Howell Co., Missouri. "I have been very slow about writing to you, although I am thankful I am here to-day and have the privilege of saying I thank you a thousand times for your kind advice. I can truthfully say that it was through your kind advice and your medicine and the will of the Lord that I am living to-day. I am in better health than I have been for three years. I have taken one-half dozen bottles of each medicine, so am able to do my washing for four in family, and all my housework, cooking and milking. In fact, I feel like a new woman."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation and its almost countless consequences. They do not react on the system nor beget the pill habit.

(Finds At Langman Vitam.)

The Scientific Discovery of the Age!

The Magic Key to the Mystery of Life!

From time immemorial it has been man's predominant ambition to prolong life. But among the many brilliant minds, who have devoted their lives to the fascinating subject, it was left for the immortal Darwin to give the world, in his great theory of Life, the fundamental principle upon which to build a new research in this direction. Following closely in his footsteps came Prof. Ludwig Buchner, a German scientist of international renown, with his remarkable work entitled "Das Buch des Langen Lebens" (the book on Longevity). But as, like Darwin he died, ere he could reap the fruit of his wonderful doctrine. Others, however, equally great took up the interrupted thread and the result that two famous German scientists, after years of experiments and research, have at last discovered the secret of Longevity, in the shape of a perfectly natural Compound which if properly used will positively prolong life. This new remedy appropriately named "Longavita" (Long Life) has been subjected to the most rigid tests at all the leading clinics and hospitals throughout Europe with marvelous results. Appreciating the importance of this discovery, we have acquired enormous cost, the exclusive proprietary right to this truly wonderful preparation, which has proved a blessing to mankind.

"Longavita" is the true Tablet of Life, a rejuvenator par excellence embodying the veritable secret of longevity in practical, feasible form. It is the fountain of perpetual youth, which it prolongs far beyond its present limits, while retaining health in a perfectly normal state.

"Longavita" brightens the eye, stimulates mental activity, gives elasticity to the step, makes the face full, absoves wrinkles, cleanses the system purifies the skin, and is the only true Ponce de Leon remedy for old and young of both sexes. It is endorsed by Europe's leading physicians.

THE 1901 BUDGET.

The mayor's estimates of the receipts and expenditures for the year 1901, together with the estimates of the heads of departments, have been submitted to the board of aldermen.

His Honor has recommended an appropriation of $1,061,133.27 for the year as against the sum of $1,092,518 appropriated in 1900, and the sum of $1,202,788.27 as recommended by heads of departments for 1901. Taken in connection with the addition made to the budget by the present city government, it is safe to say that the mayor proposes practically the same appropriation for 1901 as has been available during 1900.

Investigation shows, however, that such a comparison is superficial, and that in one or two departments, at least, the blue pencil has been used with great severity. In the street department, where results are patent to all observers, and whose operations attract or repel prospective residents and tax payers, large reductions are made in the recommendations of Commissioner Ross. The item of $20,000 for cleaning streets, for example, is not approved by His Honor, notwithstanding the fact that numerous and vigorous complaints have been received at City Hall all summer on account of the neglect to clean the weeds and debris from, otherwise beautiful streets. We believe that this is mistaken policy for the city to adopt. Newton is noted for its beauty as a residential city, no small part of which is due to the great care given and liberal appropriations heretofore made for its streets. We have invested large sums of money in macadam streets and there is no question but what they should be maintained to their former high standard. It is undoubtedly the intention of the mayor to have the street cleaning charged as heretofore to the general repair account. That account, however, having been reduced by $8,000, we believe that the recommendation of the commissioner for a distinct appropriation should be adopted.

In the matters of reconstruction and permanent improvements the mayor has been fairly liberal, and the only possible criticism relates to the advisability of cutting the estimates of one street in order to use the amount thus saved (?) for some other object. We believe that what is done, should be done thoroughly, even if the number and variety of improvements is thereby reduced.

The public buildings department's budget is also reduced, not only from the estimates of the commissioner, but also about $4,000 below the present appropriation. The needs of this department where the principal expenses are caused by repairs to city buildings are so indefinite, however, that one man's guess is as good as another's.

The fire and police appropriations are left practically as recommended by the departments, although the sums are well up in the thousands.

Under the heads of the charity and health departments the mayor has reduced the amounts requested for the Newton Hospital by $2,500, and the charity department's estimate for poor out of almshouse is cut $1000. These last items are matters of contract or law and it does not seem wise to cut appropriations which will without doubt have to be exceeded, and thereby compel the next city government to appropriate the additional sums required.

In this connection it seems proper to call attention to the growing custom in city affairs to make smaller appropriations than are actually known to be required when the budget is considered, and leaving to the incoming city government the necessity of making up the deficit when the appropriation had been exhausted. The objections to this method are not only the apparent dishonesty in making such insufficient appropriations, but the injustice of requiring the tax payers of the succeeding year to contribute to the expenses of the year, for which the budget is made, as is the case when the additional appropriations are passed after the tax levy is made in August.

The custom is a pernicious one and each city government should see to it that reasonable appropriations are made in the yearly budget.

Taken as a whole, the recommendations of the mayor seem to be reasonable, and will probably be adopted by the aldermen without much change.

THE CITY ELECTION.

From the list of delegates filed last Wednesday with the republican ward and city committee, it appears that Mr. Edward L. Pickard will receive the nomination of that party for mayor, as his friends are unopposed in four of the wards. Contests in the other three wards, are partially caused by aldermanic or school committee fights and will not in any event affect the mayoralty.

Nothing new has developed since our article of last week, except that Alderman Fitzpatrick has declined a renomination in Ward 3, and gossip as yet has yet to name his successor. A peculiar fact in connection with the aldermanic field is the naming of the senior alderman in Wards 2, 3, and 4, heretofore elected at large, for the one year ward aldermanship. We are glad to see that men of experience and standing in city affairs are willing to take these ward nominations, as their action will undoubtedly tend to dignify and elevate positions which have hitherto been considered the kindergarten, so to speak, of the board.

Ward One was supposed to be the storm centre in the coming caucus, but the withdrawal of Mr. H. S. Potter as a candidate for ward alderman, and the announcement that Mr. Albert Wright is not a candidate for the school board, leaves only a contest over the alderman-at-large. Ward Six has a contest for alderman-at-large, between Mr. Alderman Norris and Mr. George F. Richardson. Alderman Norris has rendered effective service for his district during his two years service, and should be returned if he desires such a thankless position. Mr. Richardson however, has had previous experience in the city government and his friends are capable of putting up quite a fight in his behalf.

The democratic caucuses have been called for Nov. 16th, and that party will undoubtedly re-nominate Mr. W. H. Baker for mayor, with the remainder of the ticket an open question at the present time.

THE RESULT.

The results of the national and state election prove conclusively that the American people are not yet ready to trust the government of the country to the hands of untried parties and men. McKinley and Roosevelt do not represent all that the people of Newton desire in a President and Vice President, but as a choice between them and Bryanism, there can be no question as to where we stand.

In this city Bryan's vote is nearly twice that of 1896, and he carries three precincts, two in Nonantum and the Lower Falls. For state officers the Republican nominees receive over three times the number of votes cast for the Democrats, although Turner for State Auditor runs behind the head of the ticket nearly 500 votes. For this office the Prohibition candidate runs way ahead of the remainder of his ticket.

The greatest interest, outside of the Presidency was occasioned by the congressional fight, both the leading candidates being residents of our city.

As was expected Mr. Powers received a handsome endorsement at the polls, carrying all but two precincts, including that where his opponent resided. The vote in his own ward (7) of 488 for Powers 27 for Baker and 44 for Storey was a deserved compliment to his popularity. Mr. Powers received a plurality over Baker in the district of 10,759 votes and a majority of 8009, the total vote being, Powers, 21,492, Baker 10,723, Storey 2748.

One of the surprises to the political wise acers was the showing made by Mr. Ballard in the vote for representative to the legislature. It was confidently expected that Mr. Dana would head the poll in this contest, but he falls behind Mr. Ballard about 350 votes. Both have a large majority over Mr. Magne the Democratic candidate, who received a little more than the full party vote.

Mr. Edwin O. Childs received the largest vote cast for any one candidate, and well deserves the almost unanimous re-election of Register of Deeds.

THE GAS QUESTION.

A strong effort is to be made this week before the board of Gas and Electric Light Commissioners, to compel the local gas company to reduce prices and improve the quality of both the gas and electricity furnished the city and the people. This subject comes home to almost every citizen and the result will be awaited with great interest. The petition of the people include the names of representative and prominent men, and as the city joins in the movement, in order to obtain a renewal of its street lighting contract on better terms, a good case will be presented to the commission.

We understand that the plan of the Wellesley & Boston Street Railway Co. to give the receipts of the Saturday preceding Hospital Sunday to the Newton Hospital, is an adaptation of a western custom. In some cities young ladies, in the best society, collect the fares, and usually forget to return any change, and in various other ways, good naturedly agreed to by the travelling public, substantial sums are realized for worthy objects. Some such a plan, if adopted here, would certainly bring out a heavy travel on the designated date, from the numerous friends of the Hospital in this city.

City Hall Notes.

City Treasurer Raalett leaves to-morrow for Vicksburg, Miss., to attend to his duties as a Commissioner of the state to determine the location of Massachusetts's troops during the campaign in that vicinity during the Civil War. The major will represent the 36th Mass. regiment and will be absent about ten days.

The treasury department report the extraordinary large sum of $500,000 of taxes collected to date.

It is understood that the board of health is willing to grant H. C. Daniels of Newton, permission to erect a stable for thirty horses. The board, however, demands changes in Mr. Daniels' original plans which called for forty stalls, and says he must change the location somewhat and reduce the proposed structure in size.

The following rhyme is alleged to emanate from city hall:

The landslide connected for Bryan,
Didn't do as the landslide was bid
For, in spite of all Bryan's tryin',
The landslide McKinleywards slid.

The first meeting for the season of the Newtonville Woman's Guild was held Tuesday afternoon in the New church parlors on Highland avenue. "Summer Outings" was the subject and the first paper was by Miss Ely on a trip to the Rocky Mountains. Miss Josephine Martin followed with a description of Elbert Hubbard's Roycroft Shops at East Aurora, N. Y. Mrs. D. C. Heath gave an account of the founding of the federal city, Washington, and Mrs. W. C. Boyden described a summer sojourn in Duxbury, closing with some suggestions regarding summer vacations. Mrs. Herbert S. Kempton spoke of an interesting camp on Lake Champlain, which she visited last summer. Piano solos were rendered by Miss Root. At the next meeting, Nov. 20th, owing to the illness of Rev. Oliver Dwyer, Mr. Ernest Ingersoll, the well known traveller, and formerly connected with the U. S. .. TONE IS .. TONIC.

Tone is to the soul what medicine is to the body—a tonic. There is nothing so good for the tired mind as good music. Egyptians treated their insane with music, and charmed reason back to its throne again. When the world goes wrong and our best friends go back on us, that is the time we need a tonic. When you are all tired out, come and see us, we are positive we have a remedy in the sweet, full, round tone of our McPhail pianos.

We take old instruments in exchange and allow you three years to pay for your new piano.

The Source of Wisdom.

"I wonder how Solomon became the wisest man on earth?"
"That's easily explained," replied the man with the intellectual but worried face. "You see, Solomon had a large number of families, and of course his children asked questions, just as all children do. I have no doubt Solomon was like anybody else and had a certain dislike to exposing his ignorance. When one of the children would ask him something he didn't know, he'd make believe he wanted a drink of water and then go out and look in the back of the dictionary. I shouldn't be surprised if he were compelled to do this 50 or 60 times a day. Under such conditions a man couldn't help getting wise."—Washington Star.

An Awful Loss.

At a fire in Cambridge, Mass., an occupant of the damaged house was bewailing the loss of her purse. Several firemen joined in a search for the missing pocketbook, but after spending some time in their quest were still unsuccessful. Finally the chief said to the woman:
"How much was in the pocketbook?"
As she answered, "Fifty cents," the look of disgust on the chief's face was too evident to be mistaken.

The Masculine View.

Gentleman—My wife has lost her water-proof, and she wished me to stop in here and order another sent up at once, as it looks like rain.
Dealer—Yes, sir. What sort, sir?
Gentleman—Um—I've forgotten the name, but it's one of those that make a woman look better dressed in wet weather than she is in dry weather.—New York Weekly.

To Philip Sober.

When a woman who asked Philip of Macedonia to do her justice was scrubbed by the petulant monarch, she exclaimed, "Philip, I shall appeal against this judgment."
"Appeal!" thundered the enraged king. "And to whom will you appeal?"
"To Philip sober," was her reply.

Do Your EYES Trouble You?

If they do, the proper fitting of glasses is of great importance. There are so many nervous conditions due to faulty vision that too much care cannot be exercised in the fitting of glasses. If you find that in reading or sewing your eyes blur, causing headache, dizziness and other unpleasant symptoms, or you cannot enjoy the theatre or lecture without experiencing similar troubles, there is no doubt an error of vision or muscular weakness, requiring attention. Realizing the inconvenience and expense of visiting both the Oculist and Optician, we have opened rooms at 51 Summer Street, where we are prepared to attend to all cases requiring correcting glasses. Examinations will be made by an oculist of known standing and ability, and special care will be taken in the fitting and adjusting of frames. The glasses will be made in our factory on the premises by skilled workmen, insuring the best of work. Repairs and mail orders will receive prompt and careful attention. We carry a full line of Lorgnettes of the latest patterns, also Opera Glasses, Reading Glasses, etc. Our rooms are light and furnished for the comfort and convenience of patrons.

FOR BABY'S GOOD

AND GOOD BABIES.

TENNEY'S FOOD IS THE STAFF OF LIFE

FOR CHILDREN AND INVALIDS.

Is your baby well? Are you sure you understand the language of a cry?

Tenney's Food makes sturdy children. It nourishes the child with gentle means.

It is a natural food prepared from whole wheat, malt and the sugar of milk.

Tenney's Food, in itself, contains every essential for human sustenance. It is the nearest approach to a refined essence of life.

Tenney's Food nourishes the infant; it strengthens the mother; it invigorates the invalid; it will sustain life and energy in persons of mature years and robust health.

Tenney's Food is readily and easily assimilated by delicate or enfeebled stomachs. Does not require cooking, may be given with milk, hot water, beef tea, etc.

Tenney's Food is the most satisfactory substitute for mother's milk. It is now generally prescribed by physicians and adopted by many hospitals.

Pleasant and palatable, no sickness, no sweetness, no nausea.

Price 50 cents. At your druggists, or by mail. Tenney's Food Co., 155 Congress Street, Boston.

Literary Notes.

In a recent issue of the New York World, in an article on "Babists," a new Oriental sect, the statement was made that Miss Lillian Whiting, the author of "The World Beautiful," is a believer in "Babism," and one of the latest to return from Syria. As the publishers of Miss Whiting's books, Messrs. Little Brown & Co. desire to state that this assertion is absolutely unfounded. Miss Whiting had never even heard of "Babism" until her return from Paris, and she has never been to Egypt or Syria, but divided last winter between Rome and Florence. She was born and bred in the Episcopal Communion, to whose faith she is unflinchingly allied.

Dana Estes Co. have just published the "Chatter box for 1901." This well known volume still continues to be the reservoir of stories for children and retains the high standard of previous years. Just the book to place in the hands of young children, who cannot fail to be interested in its contents and illustrations. (Dana Estes Co. boards $1.50.)

REPUBLICAN ENTHUSIASM.

THERE WAS PLENTY OF IT ON SATURDAY NIGHT WHEN THE BIG PARADE WAS HELD.

Blazing torches, natty uniforms, prancing horses, lively bands and thousands of enthusiastic spectators, combined to make Newton's Republican torchlight parade of last Saturday evening one of the most successful ever held in the city.

The route covered the principal streets of Newton, Newtonville and West Newton and residents all along the line did justice to the occasion with residential and store decorations of an unusually elaborate character. Mayor Wilson, together with members of the city government, viewed the parade from the veranda of the Newton clubhouse while the chief marshal and his staff looked upon the marchers from in front of the Jackson homestead on Washington street. In Nonantum square the procession was dismissed.

The order was as follows: Mounted police, Chief Carbox commanding. Chief Marshal, Morton E. Coby; Walter L. Sanborn, chief of staff; aids, Lieut. Col. George H. Benyon, Capt. H. B. Parker, Lieut. C. S. Dole, Lieut. Brent Taylor, E. A. Muller, Guy Marchant, A. L. Wyman, W. S. Youngman, Lieut. F. E. Stevens; chief of honorary staff, William M. Flanders; aids, Charles S. Dennison, L. Loring Brooks, George N. Towle, William H. Lucas, J. Richardson, Dr. D. W. Stearns, L. B. Fay, George S. Hatch, Thomas Nickerson, H. C. Nickerson and H. F. Cate.

Division 2, Capt. A. C. Warren, chief; aids, Harry L. Burrage, Lieut. George F. Guilford, Lieut. Thomas E. Wyse, Nathaniel A. Smith and George E. Atherton, Jr.

Carter's band of Boston.

American Watch Company contingents of Waltham, Capt. E. C. Osgood.

Among the marchers the display of the residents brought forth much favorable comment. Mayor Wilson did not forget the honor of the occasion and came out with plenty of flags, bunting, red fire, etc.

GOLF NOTES.

On the links of the Newton Centre golf club last Saturday afternoon, the finals for the woman's club championship were played. Mrs. J. A. Daniels defeated Miss Friend, 8 up, 7 to play. The finals for the consolation cup between Mrs. A. A. Tiney and Mrs. A. L. Ripley will be played next week.

On the Brae Burn links at West Newton Saturday afternoon, the Newton High team defeated the Brighton High team, 16 to 2. The playing of Foley of Newton and Stratton of Brighton was exceptionally good. The scores:

BOSTON AMUSEMENTS.

TREMONT THEATRE.—Mr. E. S. Willard, who has been absent from the stage for three years, has arrived in Boston with the large and capable company he engaged in London, and will begin his American tour with an engagement at the Tremont Theatre, opening Monday evening next, Nov. 12. Mr. Willard has chosen for his reappearance the role of David Garrick in T. W. Robertson's famous play of that name, in which it will be remembered, he met a great success during his last American tour. He will have the support of Miss Maud Hoffman as Ada Ingot, Frederick Volpe as Alderman Ingot, Ernest Stialard as Richard Chivy, and other players of repute in the less prominent parts. "David Garrick," preceded by a comedy-ette entitled "A Silent Woman," will be acted every evening of the first week and at the Wednesday and Saturday matinees that delightful comedy, "The Professor's Love Story," will be presented, with Mr. Willard as Prof. Goodwillie, "Tom Pinch," the play founded on Charles Dickens' "Martin Chuzzlewit," is scheduled for the second week and "Punchinello," a new work by E. A. Barron, will be the third production.

MILDRED HOLLAND.—The annual starring tour of Mildred Holland in her new play, "The Power Behind the Throne," will begin after election. The locale of the play is laid in an Austrian province at the end of the eighteenth century. The story is a typical one of that time, from which the author has evolved an exceedingly intense and interesting drama, replete with strong situations. The productions will be on an elaborate scale, with historically correct scenery, furniture and other accessories, while the company will be made up of well known artists comprising over thirty people.

An Old and Large Carpet House.

[From the Boston Transcript.]

An idea of the magnitude of the business of the John H. Pray & Son's Company may be gathered from a list of some of the contracts taken this fall, among them being:

The furnishing of the new Colonial Theatre, the Hollis Street Theatre, the Berkeley Hotel, the Rhode Island State House, Providence, and the new Hotel Lenox, corner of Exeter and Boylston Streets, in this city. The last-named contract was for about $100,000 and the entire furnishing of carpets, upholstery and furniture has been undertaken by Messrs. Pray & Co.

The company has special facilities for handling large contracts, as it always carries an extensive stock of the most desirable goods, which are at all times available for prompt delivery.

Spread Like Wildfire.

When things are "the best" they become "the best selling." Abraham Hare, a leading druggist, of Belleville, O., writes: "Electric Bitters are the best selling bitters I have handled in 20 years. You know why? Most diseases begin in disorders of stomach, liver, kidneys, bowels, blood and nerves. Electric Bitters tone up the stomach, regulates liver, kidneys and bowels, purifies the blood, strengthens the nerves, hence cures multitudes of maladies. It builds up the entire system. Puts new life and vigor into any weak, sickly, run-down old or young man. Price 50 cents. Sold by Arthur Hudson, Druggist."

Thin, pale, anæmic girls need a fatty food to enrich their blood, give color to their cheeks and restore their health and strength. It is safe to say that they nearly all reject fat with their food.

is exactly what they require; it not only gives them the important element (cod-liver oil) in a palatable and easily digested form, but also the hypophosphites which are so valuable in nervous disorders that usually accompany anæmia. SCOTT'S EMULSION is a fatty food that is more easily digested than any other form of fat. A certain amount of flesh is necessary for health. You can get it in this way.

DOLLAR GAS

Sought By the Citizens of Newton.

Sentiments Expressed At a Public Hearing.

The Board of Gas and Electric Light Commissioners held a public hearing yesterday at their rooms at the State House on the petitions of the City of Newton and of numerous citizens of Newton for better quality and cheaper prices for both gas and electricity furnished by the Newton & Watertown Gas Light company.

W. S. Slocum, Esq., appeared for the City, James A. Lowell, Esq., for the petitioners from Chestnut Hill and Geo. H.
Mellen, Esq., for the other petitioners.
E. W. Burdett, Esq., and Wm. F. Bacon,
Esq., appeared for the Company.

Mr. Mellen opened the hearing by stating that the petitioners ask for dollar gas and that the people of Newton are not penurious, and are willing to treat all quality public corporations with fairness and liberality.

The company, however, has paid 8 per cent. dividends for the last ten years, and its bonds can be issued for 4 or 4-1/2 per cent. It has also charged off to depreciation during the last five years over $267,000, and on June 1, 1900, it had $172,000 in its profit and loss account. It is such a prosperous company that the citizens feel that they should be allowed to share in its prosperity, and dollar gas can be given on the present number of consumers, while experience shows that decrease in price means increased consumption.

Alderman Lowell said that there was but little gas at Chestnut Hill, and that they want better electrical service at a less price.
The company charges 15 cents per 1000 volts, net, and gives no day service.

Mr. B. K. Hough was the first witness as an electrical expert and testified as to the condition of the commercial circuit as tested at the house of Mr. E. L. Webster, Chestnut Hill, as indicated by a voltmeter which was attached to the current for a period of days. The charts showed extreme fluctuations ranging from 90 to 105 volts, the normal being 104. These fluctuations caused the flickering noticed in the lamps.

A series of six tests made on the street lighting system on three different circuits about the same time showed the watts ranging from 70.22 to 78.15 (the contract calling for 87.5) and the candle power (contract specifying to be 25) ranging from 4.6 to 13.2.
The tests of arc lights were much better,
the volts ranging from 287 to 322.5, the contract requiring 306.

Mr. Hough characterized the house and street lighting by incandescents as extremely bad, and said that the arc service was not abnormal. He attributed the defects in incandescent service to causes outside of the station, such as bad insulation, trouble in the line.

Messrs. J. A. Whitman, F. W. Lee, J. D.
Colt, R. M. Saltonstall and Redington Fiske, all of Chestnut Hill, testified to the very poor service at their homes and said that kerosene lamps and candles were kept constantly at hand for occasions of darkness. Complaints had been made to the company without relief and requests for day service had not been granted. The prices were extremely high, Mr. Saltonstall saying that his bills had been doubled since the meter service had superseded the contract system.

Mr. J. R. Leeson, Erastus Monilton, Edw. E. Hardy, Alderman W. B. Trowbridge, Arthur C. Farley, G. Albert Ward and Alderman E. W. Warren, all testified as to the poor quality of the gas furnished for lighting and cooking and the irregular pressure.

Street Commissioner Ross and City Engineer Farnham explained the contract for street lighting.
Mr. Slocum then presented tables as to the financial condition of the company for the last ten years, showing the profit and loss account increasing from $128,000 to $172,000, capital from $230,000 to $250,000 bonds from $80,000 to $90,000 and a reduction in notes payable from $81,000 to $44,000, with $267,000 charged off for depreciation. Dividends of 8 per cent. had been paid, and the manufacturing account shows a profit in 1900 of about $51,000 on gas service and $11,000 on electricity.

Among those noticed at the hearing were Mayor E. B. Wilson, Aldermen Bailey, Stickney, Fisher, Wardwell, Norris, Palmer, Pond, Weed, Messrs. W. F. Harbach, Ernest Winsor, S. B. Hinckley, Arthur
Hood, Arthur Bradley, Reginald Gray, L.
E. Green, Abbott Bassett and Superintendents Learned and Holmes of the Gas company.

The hearing was postponed until Dec.
4, 1900, when the company's side will be represented.

A Ward Six Delegation with Convictions.

Will Give Mr. Norris Strong Support.

We desire to call the attention of the voters of Ward 6 to the following list of Delegates to the Republican City Convention:—

EDWARD H. MASON,
HENRY H. KENDALL,
EDWARD B. BOWEN,
WILLIAM E. WEBSTER,
JAMES A. LOWELL.

We believe that in appealing to the citizens of Newton Centre it is only right and fair that they should be fully advised of the preferences of these delegates so that they may vote intelligently, we would therefore state that in the City Convention they will favor the nomination of the Hon. E. L. Pickard for Mayor, and we are sure this will meet with general approval.

For School Committee they will present the name of Rev. George M. Boynton, a man whose personal characteristics, educational and business training peculiarly fit him for the position.

Believing that city governments should be conducted on business principles and that experience and training are as valuable in municipal as in commercial affairs we are sure that they will be endorsed by their fellow citizens in presenting for re-nomination the name of Mr. Alfred S.
Norris, the present Alderman from this ward.

Mr. Norris according to the voluntary testimony of his associates in the Board has rendered faithful and efficient services to the city not only in attendance at the regular meetings, but also on many of the important committees of the Board, always endeavoring to serve the general interests of the city, and at the same time insisting that his own ward should receive its fair share of attention.

We are sure it has been the experience of every tax payer that in approaching Mr. Norris on any subject, they have been courteously received and every request has had careful attention and earnest support when such could be consistently given.

Mr. Endicott P. Saltonstall of the Chestnut Hill district is the only candidate for Alderman for the one-year term, and while there is no contest for this office still every voter should feel it a privilege to aid in giving Mr. Saltonstall a rousing vote.

We therefore ask that you make an special effort to be present at the Cancus at Bray Hall on Tuesday, November 20, and cast your vote for the delegates given above.

The polls are open from 5 to 8.30

50th YEAR.

Marked by Exercises at Abundant.

Events Celebrated by the Congregationalists.

All the members of the Abundant Congregational church, young and old, have helped to make the past week one of the most memorable in the history of that parish. Exercises commemorating the semi-centennial jubilee have been held and largely attended. Both the pastor, Rev. C. M. Southgate, and the pastor emeritus, Rev. Calvin C. Cutler, officiated at the service last Sunday morning. The former preached.

In the course of his sermon Rev. Mr. Southgate told of the history of religion during the last two centuries. He paid a high tribute to those who had led revival movements, referring with much feeling to the great work of the late Dwight L. Moody.

He laid stress upon the controversies which had arisen on account of scientific discoveries, particularly among geological students. The study of the formation of the earth had been used as an argument by disbelievers, but in time their fallacies were pointed out, strengthening the doctrines of the churches.

Referring to the eternal life he spoke of life upon earth as a training for the hereafter. He discredited the Darwinian theory. Man was not to be let go by God after he had passed away, but was to be lifted up to a higher life.

Mr. Southgate told of the great work among the young people, emphasizing what had been done in the Christian Endeavor societies and the Y. M. C. A.

In the afternoon at 3:30 there were special exercises presided over by members of the Sunday school. Mr. Colon S. Ober, superintendent of the Sunday school, was in charge. Rev. Calvin C. Cutler read portions of the scriptures, Mr. James K. Burdett of Newtonville led in prayer, and there was an address by Rev. C. M. Southgate, followed by reminiscent addresses by these former superintendents of the Sunday school: Mr. J. B. Burdett, Mr. Charles W. Carter, Mr. Arthur Kelly, Mr. Charles Johnson, Mr. George M. Fiske, Mr. J. Frank Ryder and Mr. C. S. Ober. A letter from Mr. William H. Blood was read.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVORERS.
Tuesday evening's exercises were participated in by Christian Endeavorers, led by Rev. Francis E. Clark of Abundant.

One of the largest congregations ever in the chapel was present. There was a devotion by Rev. C. M. Southgate and singing, special music and prayers, after which there were these addresses: "Early Days," by Rev. Horace Dutton, first president of the local Y. P. S. C. JULY 4TH IN THE PHILIPPINES.

WILLIAM HENDERSON, A NEWTON BOY, WRITES HIS MOTHER FROM ILOAN, P. I., TELLING HER OF ARMY LIFE.

Iloan, Philippine Islands, Aug. 12, 1906.

Dear Mother—Here we are away out in the country again. On the night of July 15, at about midnight, they woke us up and told us we were to move to Iloan at six in the morning.

We moved nearly on time and made Iloan about 11 o'clock, and were quartered in an old Spanish arsenal. There were two companies of the 4th infantry here with us.

We were now about 12 miles from Manila and expected to go in before long. But on the 18th we got orders to move out here, a distance of about 35 miles; we left there at 4 in the afternoon and stopped at Iloan over night. We left there the next morning at seven.

We had dinner at Silang and pushed on to Iloan that afternoon, reaching here at seven in the evening, pretty well tired out. With us are H and C company and troop D of the 4th Cavalry. We have good quarters here and fairly light duty.

It is raining and the boys are sitting around reading, and three of them are singing "Only a Hard-Boiled Egg from Home." I have had only one bundle of papers and two letters in the last two months and a half.

I suppose at this time you know all about the trouble in China. The 9th has been up against it over there and lost quite a few, but that is the fortune of war. It is not a likely thing that we will ever see our time is too short. A few more weeks and I will be a year in the army, and I shouldn't be surprised to be in Frisco in March.

If we get back in the early spring, I will stay west till it is warm, as it will not do to go east in the cold weather after being so long in a hot climate. There is very little trouble over here now with the exception of an odd gang of larders now and then.

Wednesday, Aug. 15.
Still raining, and as I am off duty, I will finish this rambling epistle. I have just finished reading and the boys are reading, and coffee with milk in it, and apple-sauce. And with my pipe full of good tobacco, I am feeling in fine humor.

I suppose the 4th passed with the usual quietness in Iloan. It was not marked with any firing of cannon or firecrackers; but in the afternoon we had a horrible procession, and it was horrible in the extreme. About thirty fellows in native clothes and paraded up and down the main street of the town, to the great amusement of the soldiers and natives alike.

In the evening we had a minstrel show at our barracks and it was very good for amateurs. We intended to have a swell dinner of baked beans and rice pudding, but the cook went on a tear and the beans were so hard that you couldn't break them with a hammer, and the rice pudding was about half done.

If you send another box before I come back, don't forget the reading matter as we are pretty shy on that now. If you have any of those preserved pears that were put up with lemon, a jar of those wouldn't go bad; they would come all right if packed with papers around them.

Ever your loving son, WILL.

Watertown Historical Society.

The members of the Historical Society of Watertown were delightfully entertained last Tuesday evening at the residence of Mr. Charles S. Ensign on Billings park. It was the twelfth anniversary, and formality being dispensed with the meeting was largely of a social nature.

Rev. Edward A. Rand, the president, read his annual address in which he described a forgotten old time corner located at Mt. Auburn and Arlington streets with its former meeting house, parsonage, and burial ground or old folk's rest adjoining, also some of the stirring events of early times, when Watertown joined Sudbury, and of the citizens who participated.

Rev. E. H. Blyington, D. D., one of the guests of the evening, spoke of the Puritan leaders in New England and their connection with Witchcraft. The speaker went on to describe how the early Puritan teachings and customs were still felt in our Thanksgiving and Christmas observances, in the school house where eight generations have been fitted for citizenship and in the college, with Harvard the mother, at the head. The Puritan influence to a large extent still controls the town meeting, the gem of the republic, the ballot box where the will of the people becomes law and Congress which was the final result of the Mayflower Compact and the Declaration of Independence.

Mr. Ensign spoke a few pleasant words of welcome and exhibited a book which had recently come into his possession, of sermons by early Puritan pastors and published in 1633. He also described some ancient funeral customs and read some interesting epitaphs. The last speaker was Hon. Thomas Weston, a descendant of the Pilgrims who described the early struggles of his ancestors in England, Holland and America, where they came in the Mayflower for more freedom in worshiping God. Mr. Weston said the Commonwealth should be grateful and complement the society for doing so much to promote interest in historical places. At the close of the addresses refreshments were served.

The society has a membership of 60 and the officers are: Rev. Edward A. Rand, president; Jessie Fewkes, Mrs. Ruth A. Bradford of Watertown, Mrs. Mary F. Pierce of Weston and Mrs. Edward Whitney of Belmont, vice-presidents; C. F. Fitz, recording secretary; Dr. B. F. Davenport, corresponding secretary; C. F. Mason, treasurer; S. F. Whitney, librarian; Mrs. Annie E. Davenport, William H. Whitney and Wm. C. Stone, members of the council with the officers ex-officio.

If at last she tires of the fault finding of a dyspeptic husband and leaves him? The worst of the dyspeptic is that he does not realize his own meanness. His world is entirely out of perspective.

Dyspepsia and other diseases of the stomach and organs of digestion and nutrition are perfectly and permanently cured by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It cures the worst forms of the disease. It cures when all other medicines have failed to benefit.

Accept no substitute for Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. There is no other medicine for the stomach, blood and lungs, which can show so wide and wonderful a record of cures. It always helps. It almost always cures.

"I can say to you, one bottle of your 'Golden Medical Discovery' has cured me sound and well, after suffering two long years with stomach disease," writes Mr. W. H. Braswell, of McAdenville, Gaston Co., North Carolina. "My health is worth all the world to me. I will praise you as long as I live."

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, in paper binding, is sent free on receipt of 21 one-cent stamps to pay expense of mailing only, or if cloth-bound volume is desired send 51 stamps. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

THE CITY CAUCUSES.

At the Republican municipal caucuses next Tuesday evening, the voters in Wards One, Three, and Six will be called upon to decide between the claims of different delegations to the city convention. But little interest attaches to the mayoralty, as Mr. Edward L. Picard already has a majority of the convention pledged to support him for that office. The school committee situation is gradually clearing up as it is understood that there will be no opposition to Mr. Fred H. Tucker in Ward
One, and the friends of Alderman Norris openly announce their support of Rev.
George M. Boynton for the School Committee from Ward Six.

Two contests are in sight for the two year aldermanships, one in Ward One and one in Ward Six. That in Ward Six is attracting the most attention from the outside, on account of the personal campaign which is being conducted by the opponents of Alderman Norris. We hear no objections as to Mr. Norris' work as an alderman for the past two years, and his energetic and efficient service in the board is overlooked in the attempt to create a sentiment against him by insinuations as to his personal character. These are best answered by the endorsement given Alderman Norris by such gentlemen as Hon. J.
R. Leeson, R. M. Saltonstall, Edward H.
Mason and many others whose names will be found in another column.

No possible objection can be raised to his opponent, Mr. George F. Richardson, and if a new man was to be chosen he would receive our hearty support, but Ward Six owes it to itself as well as to the rest of the City to send experienced and efficient men to the Board of Alderman whenever possible and with the service seen by Alderman Norris, it will be derelict in its duty if it refuses him an endorsement.

In Ward One, the situation is similar,
although Ex-Alderman Reuben Forknall, the opponent of Alderman W. A. Weldon, had some service in the Board two years ago. If precinct one, Nonantum, is allowed to make its own choice of the man to represent it in the city government, Alderman Weldon would probably be endorsed by both Republicans and Democrats, but with the Newton end of the ward, Mr. Forknall's chances are equally as good as Mr. Weldon's, although if selected by the convention, he will probably be opposed at the polls.

DOLLAR GAS.

A most interesting hearing was held yesterday on the petitions of the city and its citizens for better lighting for street and house at reduced prices. The testimony for the petitioners was strongly put and seemed convincing as to the quality of service given, particularly at Chestnut Hill, where the people depend wholly upon electricity for light. These witnesses were extremely bitter towards the company, as well as towards the service rendered.

The financial facts brought out show the company to be in excellent condition, and as Mr. Mellen well said, "the petitioners believe that the citizens should share part of their prosperity." It is not safe to judge the whole case until the company's side is put in, but it will take considerable of an argument to counteract the case of the petitioners.

In another column will be found an account of a caucus law in Minnesota which contains a hint as to the solution of the caucus system in this state. Minnesota requires annual registration, and combines the caucus with the act of registering. We would find great opposition to the idea of annual registration here, but the feature of having both party caucuses on the same day and place under the supervision of the regular election officers might be adapted to Massachusetts methods.

TOE IS TONIC.

Tone is to the soul what medicine is to the body—a tonic. There is nothing so good for the tired mind as good music. Egyptians treated their insane with music, and
charmed reason back to its throne again.
When the world goes wrong and our best friends go back on us, that is the time we
we need a tonic. When you are all tired
out, come and see us, we are positive we
have a remedy in the sweet, full, round tone
of our McPhail pianos.

We take old instruments in exchange
and allow you three years to pay for your new piano.

Newton Club.

CALENDAR.

Saturday, Nov. 17. Gentlemen's whist.

Monday, Nov. 19. Duplicate whist. 8 p. m.

Wednesday, Nov. 21. Concert, members' faculty, N. E. Conservatory of Music. 8 p. m.

Thursday, Nov. 22. Bowling match with Charlestown. 8 p. m.

The ladies whist last Wednesday evening brought out the largest party of the season, 38 tables being in play. Elegant prizes of imported cloisonne vases were won by Mrs. W. F. Lunt, Miss Allen, Mrs. H. R. Nash, Mrs. G. H. Forrestal, Mrs. C. F. Shirley, Mrs. B. F. Shittuck.

The mug winners on Monday evening at duplicate whist were F. N. Robbins and J. W. Dickinson with high score, and F. E. Bass and William Hollings with trick Scotch. F. M. Copeland and Frederick Johnson tied for high score. Plus scores were made by Robbins and Dickinson, Copeland and Johnson plus 5, Lunt and Potter plus 1.

The next match in the Amateur Bowling league for Newton is with the Charlestown team next Thursday, Nov. 22, on the home alleys. A large attendance is desired to encourage the home team.

There was a bowling match in the Massachusetts Amateur League series last evening between the Newton and Old Dorchester teams. The Newton Club alleys. The home team won, two games to one, making a score of 278, the highest of the season thus far, and within two pins of the highest ever rolled by a Massachusetts team.

Newton was high in everything. All three of its singles were over 300 and the 946 with which it finished up its work was the highest. In the individual, as well as the team record making, the team did itself proud. Scully rolling, along with a lot of other good things, a single of 238 and an aggregate of 622.

The second annual dinner of the Newton Club, which was a complete success, was viewed from the intellectual, aesthetic or culinary standpoints, and to which might be added the musical standpoint, for the club's singing was so enjoyable that President Haskell stated that a choral society might be formed.

The 100 and more members and guests were more than pleased with the handsome appearance and shape of the tables, which were completely covered with flowers, carnations and pink roses, interspersed with vases of white chrysanthemums and carnations, and compliments without number were showered upon Mr. P. P. Pretto, who had the matter in charge. The menu was a tasty affair, with a raw silk cover tied with wide ribbons, and the club did ample justice to the good things which it told about.

The speaking by Gen. W. A. Baneroff, Mr. W. B. de las Casas, Rev. J. C. Jaynes and Hon. S. L. Powers, was thoroughly enjoyed, all being good, but the hit of the evening was made by Mr. W. A. Baneroff, whose address of wit and wisdom completely captured his audience, and brought out an enthusiastic ovation at its close.

During the dinner, Mr. Fred Marston sang "Gypsy Jigs" in a delightful manner, and Daggett's orchestra furnished instrumental music.

President E. B. Haskell as "head waiter" for the speaker's course, said that while the club was used largely for recreation, yet the members lost none of their interest in civic duties by so doing, and are interested in our city and in Greater Boston.

Gen. W. A. Baneroff, with the aid of a map, explained the plans of the Boston Elevated Railway Co. to aid rapid transit through the congested parts of Boston.

Mr. Wm. B. de las Casas spoke of the work of the Metropolitan commission, with its 10,000 acres of mountain, field, river and sea shore frontage, and urged the members to give their aid and support towards developing the parkway system, particularly with regard to the Charles river, which he declared would be the finest recreational water way in the world when the improvements were completed.

Rev. Mr. Baneroff spoke on the achievements of the 19th century, making dramatic comparisons between the methods of transportation and habits of living of today and 100 years ago, and contrasting also the religious and moral conditions of the two periods.

Congressman elect S. L. Powers received his customary ovation when he rose to speak about the methods of running a campaign for congress, and his obligations to his friends in the Newton Club.

Besides these mentioned the following gentlemen were present: J. R. Carter, Frederick Johnson, Rev. John Jackson, Hon. H. E. Cobb, S. W. Jones, E. K. Hall, F. A. Houston, I. O. Wright, E. L. Pickard, A. B. Cobb, Fred E. Whiting, Dr. James Utley, Col. A. M. Ferris, W. J. Follett, C. S. Dennis, W. F. Flanagan, J. W. French, W. H. Emerson, Mr. E. Cobb, N. S. Sabin, L. E. Coffin, H. F. Caucus Re-Examined.

The primary election law of the state of Minnesota, used for the first time in Hennepin County that state, on Sept. 18th, of this year, marks a new era in politics. Under this law, nominations are not made by conventions, but by the people themselves direct. In the voting booth at direct primaries every voter can vote with secrecy and security.

Both parties hold their primaries on the same day, in the same places and concurrently, where the citizens vote at regular elections.

The regular registration officers are behind their tables, and men irrespective of party register. This double opportunity is one of the magnets that draws. It is a time-saver. To hold primaries and registration at one time has been found in other states an excellent way of increasing the vote at primaries. Having registered, the citizen—republican or democrat—gets two tickets—one containing republican and the other democratic nominees who had been placed on the tickets, through petitions of not less than five per cent of the voters casting ballots for the office in question at the last previous election.

There may be a dozen candidates on the same party ticket for one office. The name of each aspirant for the place appears at the top under the designation of office, in a proportional number of ballots, the theory being that no name should have the advantage of appearing at the top on all the ballots. Should other parties enter the contest the number of tickets would be increased, one ticket for each party going to every voter.

Each voter marks one ballot only, returning both ballots pinned together as he received them to the judge, who places them in the box.

Later the crosses on the marked ballot are credited to the respective candidates and the unmarked ballot is returned to the city clerk. If a voter blunderingly marks both ballots, only the one containing the greater number of marks is counted.

As a result of the first primaries held in Minneapolis under the law, a much higher class of men became the duly nominated candidates than ever before. Men who had steadily refused to be drawn into the "leg-pulling" quagmire of old style primaries and conventions, now came to the front and accepted candidacy.

A most significant development was the fact that every professional officeholder whose name appeared on the ballot was rejected—a consummation that never could have been achieved under "machine" rule. Three "ring" aldermen, for example, received a resounding rebuff, whereas they had not encountered the slightest difficulty in retaining their offices, term after term, through the old familiar cut-and-dried system of party conventions.

Multiplicity of candidates is by no means a serious criticism, because each one brings out his friends and increases the volume of vote and interest.

Before the Australian ballot law was introduced the expense of a campaign was enormous, but now, say the friends of the primary reform measure, the money is well invested.

By combining registration and primary the expense to the people is not greatly increased, and the $10 which each candidate pays the county auditor helps to meet the bills.

In 18 hours everybody knows who is nominated for every office in the county. In Hennepin county alone, the new primary system did away with 25 conventions and 12 nights of canvassing, and the whole work was done by the voters in one day, the polls being open from 6 o'clock in the morning until 9 o'clock in the evening.

There were polled on this one primary election 37,220 voters, and without any friction, some districts voting almost the limit of 400 votes allowed by law to a precinct.

Touching the opposition in the legislature to the law he framed, its first actual test and danger of hostile amendments in the next legislature. Mr. Day says: "Every man who has been even remotely identified with professional politics in the past was defeated. Three of the best aldermanic candidates nominated avowed that they would never have encountered the cumbersome processes and devious strategy of a convention, but would go before the people under the new primary law."

"It has brought out a class of men for candidates that never would have come out under the old system. It has brought out a larger number of their kind at the next primary."

"I have at hand every primary law in use in the United States, and I can not have even the fundamental features of this case."

Millions Given Away.

It is certainly gratifying to the public to know of one who is not afraid to be generous. The proprietors of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colics, have given away over ten million trial bottles and have the satisfaction of knowing it has cured thousands of hopeless cases. Asthma, Bronchitis, La Grippe and all Throat, Chest and Lung diseases are surely cured by it. Call on Arthur Hudson, Druggist, and get a free trial bottle. Regular size 50 cents and $1.00. Every bottle guaranteed.

Doherty-Brennan.

There was a large company of West Newton and Waltham folk at the wedding of Miss Mary M. Brennan, daughter of Mrs. Margaret Brennan of West Newton, to Mr. Henry T. Doherty of Waltham, which took place Wednesday morning at St. Bernard's church, West Newton. Miss Brennan is organist of the church, and there were many of the congregation present, in addition to the gathering of relatives and friends.

Rev. L. J. O'Toole, rector of St. Bernard's church, West Newton, was the officiating clergyman. He was assisted by Rev. C. J. Galligan, the curate.

The bride wore white mousseline de soie and carried a spray bouquet of bride roses. Her only attendant was her niece, Miss Helen Gately. The best man was Mr. Anthony J. Doherty. These were ushers: William J. O'Neil, Edward Gately, John Sheridan and Patrick Carroll.

At the conclusion of the wedding breakfast Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Doherty received until 2 o'clock, after which they left on an extended wedding tour. Upon their return they will make their home at 73 Derby street, West Newton.

Spread Like Wildfire.

When things are "the best" they become "the best thing." Abraham Hare, a leading druggist, of Belleville, O., writes: "Electric Bitters are the best selling bitters I have handled in 20 years. You know why? Most diseases begin in disorders of stomach, liver, kidneys, bowels, blood and nerves. Electric Bitters tones up the stomach, regulates liver, kidneys and bowels, purifies the blood, strengthens the nerves, hence cures multitudes of maladies. It builds up the entire system. Puts new life and vigor into any weak, sickly, run-down man or woman. Price 50 cents. Sold by Arthur Hudson, Druggist."

—There is only one ladies hairdressing parlor in Newton and that is Mrs. L. P. Elliott-Anderson's. Here ladies desire to prepare for parties, weddings and receptions can be served just as well as going to Boston. Ladies can be waited on at their residence if they desire.

The Galveston Catastrophe.

My dear Brother David:— Do not think me ungrateful for your kind letters. There has been no time to write, for I have been fully occupied in the store and at home, trying to bring order out of chaos.

I appreciate your anxiety while waiting four days for this telegram. It was sent at the earliest possible moment Monday. The mental suffering of those outside Galveston who had relatives in the city was much greater than that of those left alive, who had so much work to do. Such work as that proved a very efficient mental anodyne.

My wife's brother in Houston, only forty miles distant, unable to get any news, started on Monday morning, after the catastrophe, Sept. 9th, to learn for himself what had become of us. He reached Galveston that evening, completely exhausted, having come by rail, by boat and on foot, walking twelve miles of human beings and cattle lying all about his way. The human bodies had scarcely any clothes, which gives you some idea of the severity of the storm. I believe it has never been equalled in this country. Never was there so great a loss of life in so small an area.

The "Galveston News" printed this morning a list of 2,363 names of those positively known to be lost. When you remember that hundreds of bodies were buried where found on the island, without record, during the first few days after the storm—to say nothing of those washed out to sea, never to be heard of—you need not stretch your imagination far, to swell the list to seven thousand, and I doubt if that will reach the truth.

You can have no idea of the damage done, unless you can come and see it. Yesterday afternoon I walked from two to five, and did not see one quarter of the destruction—you may have thought the newspaper accounts exaggerated, but that could not be.

We should feel our own losses bitterly, did we not see so many benefit of everything, even their dear ones, while we have life and health. Though our home was ruined, the house remains, and so does the furniture, and we hope gradually to make ourselves comfortable again. Not one of our more intimate friends is missing. Our quartette society of forty members are all alive.

It had been blowing rather hard for two or three days from the northeast, making a very high tide, and on the evening of Friday, Sept. 14th, the wind shifted to the south, and the sea began to rise.

I boarded an electric car, expecting to reach home in ten minutes. The car did not move, (in fact, it was standing in the same place the following Monday.) I waited half an hour, and then tried to get out, but after two blocks concluded I must get a car if I wished to have any clothing left, wet or dry. At length I reached one, which left me a block and a half from home. I reached home after a hard struggle against the wind.

After dinner I waited for cars that did not come, and concluded it was better to wait for a car than to wait for a car. I telephoned to the store, and was advised to remain at home as the water was already coming over the wharves, behind the store.

Presently the water from the Gulf began to crawl through the street near the house, then in front, then in the alley, beside us, then it crept over the side walk, then into the yard, the wind blowing great gusts all the time, and making the house shake perceptibly, then E. went into the back part of the house, and called to me that the water was in the wheel-room. We carried our wheels upstairs, and thus saved them.

Then we went to the windows, which were blown in, and we managed to raise the piano on a box. The water still rising very rapidly, we took some dry clothing, which E. was very careful to drop into the water, (he was nearly scared to death, poor boy.)

We walked across our back yard in two feet or more of water, and reached the next house considerably higher than ours. Dry clothing was kindly furnished, and we at last made the house shake perceptibly, then E. went into the back part of the house, and called to me that the water was in the wheel-room. We carried our wheels upstairs, and thus saved them.

The house rocked like a cradle. At every severe blast I stood ready to blow out the lamp, not wishing to have fire added to our troubles.

About 8:30 that evening, the water reached its highest point, 18 inches in the house, and seven or eight feet deep outside. I went below and saw that the water had begun to reach the kitchen, and I was glad to see the house altogether. You can imagine the thankfulness of the party above, when I reported my discovery.

The receding of the water was an indication that the wind had changed, which was a great deal to the relief of us who had been through, or heard of previous storms. As soon as the wind shifted to the south, we knew the water would be forced back where it came from. It still blew hard, but the wind gradually decreased, and had almost ceased by morning.

While the wind and water were at their height, no one thought of sleeping, but when they began to go down, I dropped off, one by one, though none of us slept late.

At daylight we returned to our house, and such a sight as met our eyes we hope never to see again. The water had deposited a slimy black mud on everything. It had been three and a half feet deep, and had upset everything upsetable. We had just laid in a month's supply of groceries, which were all ruined. The water had entered the parlor at the other end of the house. Everything was ruined except the canned goods. Since we had eaten nothing but canned goods the day before, and the water and the gas-plants were demolished, we had to exchange canned food for something cooked by our neighbors.

Our carpets were quite ruined and had to be thrown away. It was a heavy task to get the mud and the terrible stench out of the house. But we are now living like white people, though on bare floors for the present.

Mr. L., my employer, has not lost so heavily as many others. But we are doing business under great difficulties. The wind broke a great deal of glass in the rear of the store, and blew down a heavy cornice through the glass doors in front. Everything was left wide open, and the carpenters and glaziers are still at work.

The railroad and the telephone companies were remarkably good. The water was indescribably difficult. One bridge was repaired in less than two weeks.

The reason our house was not destroyed was probably because it is broad and rather low, and at some distance from the Gulf.

The waves on the beach were said to be twenty-five feet high, which, with the strong wind, would wreck any house. The houses nearest the Gulf fell, and with the wind and water behind, acted as battering rams on the houses near them, and so on, each adding wrecks and battering rams.

There is a distinct line of wreckage running from Southwest, piled as high as the tops of the houses, showing plainly the direction of the wind, and where the water was deepest.

Many think that the Government jetties built seven or eight feet above the normal tide level, confined the immense body of water, and caused it to be much deeper on the island. Before they were constructed the full force of the water could have had free access to a much larger outlet.

Do Your EYES Trouble You?

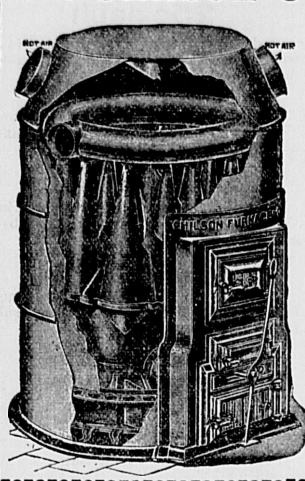

If they do, the proper fitting of glasses is of great importance. There are so many nervous conditions due to faulty vision that too much cannot be exercised in the fitting of glasses. If you find that in reading or sewing your eyes blur, causing headache, dizziness and other unpleasant symptoms, or you cannot enjoy the theatre or lecture without experiencing similar troubles, there is no doubt an error of vision or muscular weakness, requiring attention. Realizing the inconvenience and expense of visiting both the Oculist and Optician, we have opened rooms at 51 Summer Street, where we are prepared to attend to all cases requiring correcting glasses. Examinations will be made by an oculist of known standing and ability, and special care will be taken in the fitting and adjusting of frames. The glasses will be made in our factory on the premises by skilled workmen, insuring the best of work. Repairs and mail orders will receive prompt and careful attention. We carry a full line of Lorgnettes of the latest patterns, also Opera Glasses, Reading Glasses, etc. Our rooms are light and furnished for the comfort and convenience of patrons.

Second Hand Play. Hamilton speaks truly when he says "The older writers did not give to the play of second hand the consideration it merits. There are more tricks lost by the average player in the play of second hand than in any other position.

The correct play of second hand is the most difficult of any at the table, and very much depends upon its skill in placement. The American leads and the eleven rule gives to the second hand player many opportunities to materially affect the result of a deal, and the days when second hand should invariably play a low card are far behind the modern game. This is particularly true where the original lead is as high as 7, 8 or 9 spot. Second hand holding one or two of the higher cards has an excellent opportunity to use one of them with considerable execution. With two high cards in sequence like ace-king, king-queen, or queen-jack the lower card should be played, although in the latter case it is better to play the king. If the jack when holding but three in suit, and a low spot card when holding more than three. Holding ace-queen and not more than two others, it is customary to play the queen. Holding king-jack-ten, the ten should be played. Holding what is called a fourchette, that is, the card next higher and the one next lower than the card led. Such as a 9-7 holding, and an 8 spot, the lead should be covered with the higher card. Partner should not read this as a call for trumps. With king and one small card, a low card being led, many expert players carelessly pass up the opportunity to win the trick by playing the king, and thus lose the trick. If trump strength has been shown by the partner, the king should be played. We have seen players following this rule, when the king was killed by the ace on the return of the suit, and making their ace and kings as quickly as possible, and win the match by so doing. On the other hand, if the king was killed by the ace in third hand, short king or queen should be played. If the king was killed by the ace in third hand, short king or queen should be played. If the king was killed by the ace in third hand, short king or queen should be played.

When second hand is void of the suit which is led, he must either play a low card. The rule in such cases is to trump a doubtful trick, (doubtful being used here in the sense as to the possibilities of partner holding the winning card of the suit led, when holding three or less trumps. The refusal to trump should indicate at least four trumps. If six trumps are held the card should be trumped with the fourth best, and trumps led immediately. In discarding, you should, unless trump strength has been shown by opponents, select a card from your weakest suit, taking care not to guard possible trick winners, like king and queen, and the ace of a suit, which has been declared with opponents, the discard should be from your strongest (not necessarily the longest) suit. The idea being that with trump strength against you, it will be better to discard a card of your winning cards before they can be trumped.

The above outline is sufficient to indicate in a general way the great importance attaching to the play of second hand, and to guide the student towards a deeper investigation of the whole subject.

In the combination pair trophy match last Monday evening, at the rooms of the American Whist Club, Messrs. W. E. Hickox and W. B. Bosson of Newtonville, representing the Massachusetts Club, won the top score plus.

BOSTON AMUSEMENTS

COLONIAL THEATRE—The greatest theatrical event that has ever taken place within the confines of the New England States will be inaugurated at the new Colonial Theatre in Boston, the second of the third week in December, when Klav & Erlanger's stupendous production of the dramatic version of Gen. Lew Wallace's remarkable religious story, "Ben Hur," will be presented in this section of the country for the first time. The site of the new Colonial Theatre is the old Boston public library at Tremont and Boylston streets. The new structure will be one of the most magnificent in the city and the theatre will compare more than favorably with any in this country. It will be magnificently decorated and possess all the latest improvements of every kind. The stage, built expressly for the presentation of "Ben Hur," will be unusually large and will afford splendid facilities for the chariot race, the greatest and most effective reality ever attempted in a dramatic production. In this feature two huge chariots, each drawn by four galloping horses, will be shown in full view of the audience. This effect alone cost Klav & Erlanger $22,000 to produce. The eight rail-blooded Arabian horses seen in this race each cost $1,200. The original cost of the production was $91,000. This attraction appeals alike to all classes of people, particularly those of church affiliations who seldom, if ever, visit a theatre. The religious element of the story has been most reverently treated in its translation from the book to the stage, and in the year "Ben Hur" has been before the public in one word of criticism of this aspect of the drama has been uttered by clergy or laymen. The advance sale will open about ten days ahead of the opening date. Orders for seats will be received by mail when accompanied by remittance and will be filled in the numerical order of their receipt.

TREMONT THEATRE—Mr. E. S. Willard, who has been absent from the country and the stage for nearly three years, had a most enthusiastic reception on his reappearance in the role of "David Garrick" at the Tremont Theatre last Monday evening, and has since played to crowded houses. Next week beginning on Monday, November 19, he will present "Tom Pinch," a play founded on Charles Dickens' famous novel, "Martin Chuzzlewit," in the title character of which he won one of his greatest successes during his last previous visit to Boston. The eminent actor's assumption of Tom Pinch will rank as high as anything he has ever done on the stage, and in respect of depth and suggestiveness it surpasses many of his previous efforts. "Tom Pinch" will be acted every evening of next week, and at the Wednesday and Saturday matinees Mr. Willard will give his last performances in Boston this season as David Garrick. Mr. Willard will probably devote his third week to the production, for the first time on any stage, of a new play written expressly for him by E. A. Barron, entitled "Punchinello," and dealing with the life and adventures of a struggling Italian actor. For this piece one of the most beautiful scenic settings seen in recent years has been prepared, and the production will be exceedingly artistic and picturesque in every detail.

I suffered from catarrh; it got so bad I could not work. I used Ely's Cream Balm and am entirely well.—A. C. Clarke, 341 Shawmut Ave., Boston, Mass.

The Balm does not irritate or cause sneezing. Sold by druggists at 50 cts., or mailed by Ely Brothers, 56 Warren St., New York.

Literary Notes.

A charming book for children is "Snow White, or The House in the Wood" by Laura E. Richards, and is a sweet and poetic little story beginning like a fairy tale, with the principal characters a little girl and a dwarf, but with a more serious turn as the story is told. Dana Estes & Co., cloth, 50 cents.

The much desired illustrated edition of David Harum is now a reality, and is a most elaborate production with numerous text and full page pictures by the well known illustrator, B. West. Clinedinst, whose selection is certainly a fortunate one in view of the paper presented in the book. It is understood that Mr. Clinedinst has been engaged for a long time upon the collection of material, the selection of models, and the preparation of the drawings, which will make a complete David Harum picture gallery. The entire book has been revised by Mr. Forbes Heermans who has furnished a new biography of the author and it has been reset throughout. The new type and binding as well as the numerous admirable illustrations make this new issue of David Harum practically an edition de luxe. D. Appleton & Co., cloth, gilt top, $2.00.

"The Story of the Soldier," which the veteran Indian fighter General G. A. Forsyth has completed for D. Appleton and Company, presents a graphic history of the regular army, with special reference to the thrilling experiences and stirring campaigns of the regulars in the days of the old frontier. The author tells a consecutive story of great historical value, and one of picturesque and absorbing interest. Illustrated by R. F. Zogbaum, the well known artist of New York. D. Appleton & Co., 12 mo., cloth $1.50.

The Atlantic Monthly announces 3 serials in 1901. Mr. Johnston, author of "To Have and To Hold," will bring out her third story, "Audrey" in the Atlantic during 1901. This new story is said to be a most artistic advance even over her previous remarkable successes. Sarah Orne Jewett will contribute "The Trolly Lover." This stirring American historical romance exhibits in a new field the rare qualities of Miss Jewett's art, and her theme, the fortunes of the Loyalists in 1777, has not hitherto been developed. Kate Douglas Wiggin will tell "Penelope's Irish Experiences." The final volume of the delightful "Penelope" Series will be brought out as a six-part serial in the Atlantic, beginning with the November (1900) number. The Atlantic Monthly and the Newton GRAPHIC can both be obtained at club rates of $5.00.

The Cambridge Registry.

The new registry of deeds building for Middlesex county was dedicated last Tuesday. It is an imposing structure, an adaptation of Italian renaissance, situated on Cambridge street, East Cambridge. The basement story is laid up in pressed brick, the other stories in common brick masonry, with granite, brownstone, terra cotta and pressed brick. The building is of fireproof construction, with floors and roofs of steel, cement and terra cotta; finished floors of marble mosaic and tile; stairs of marble and steel construction, and furniture for documents of steel and iron. Walls of masonry separate the different rooms. A fire in this building could do no damage to any of the records.

The probate court and officers occupy one side of the building and the registry of deeds the other. Estimated at the present rate of increase, provision has been made for documents and books for the next 50 years.

The most complete, including furnishings, grading, etc., is in the vicinity of $470,000.

Great Luck Of An Editor.

"For two years all efforts to cure Eozema in the palms of my hands failed," writes Editor H. N. Lester, of Syracuse, Kan., "then I was wholly cured by Bucklen's Arnica Salve." It's the world's best for Eruptions, Sores, and all skin diseases. Only 25 cents at Arthur Hudson.

Help... Nature

Babies and children need proper food, rarely ever medicine. If they do not thrive on their food something is wrong. They need a little help to get their digestive machinery working properly.

will generally correct this difficulty. If you will put from one-fourth to half a teaspoonful in baby's bottle three or four times a day you will soon see a marked improvement. For larger children, from half to a teaspoonful, according to age, dissolved in their milk, if you so desire, will very soon show its great nourishing power. If the mother's milk does not nourish the baby, she needs the emulsion. It will show an effect at once both upon mother and child.

Moir-Jackson.

In Trinity Episcopal church, Newton Centre, took place last evening the marriage of Miss Isabelle Vearlock Jackson, daughter of Mrs. William Ward Jackson of Mill street, Newtonville, and Dr. Archibald C. Moir of Waban.

The church was handsomely decorated with chrysanthemums and palms and was filled by a large company of guests from the various Newtons, Boston, Brookline and elsewhere.

The ceremony took place at 7:45 o'clock and was performed by the Rev. Edward T. Sullivan, rector of the church. The bride was given away by her brother, Mr. Walter M. Jackson of London, England. She wore a white lace over white Liberty satin and carried a bouquet of bride roses.

The maid of honor was Miss Winifred Pulsifer of Newtonville, and the bridesmaids were Miss Louise Ramsey of Cambridge and Miss Adelle Kimball of Boston. They wore white mousseline de sole over white silk with pink garniture and carried chrysanthemums.

The best man was Dr. H. M. Beckwith of Framingham, and the ushers were Mr. Ernest Bates of Boston, Mr. Frank Riddler of Dorchester, Mr. Raymond Hooper of Allston and Mr. Ernest Macintosh of Brookline.

Following the ceremony a large reception from 8:30 to 10 was held at the home of the bride on Mill street, Newtonville. The parlors where the affair took place were decorated with chrysanthemums, palms and English holly. Mr. L. H. Odell's quintette rendered many excellent and thoroughly up-to-date selections, the most pleasing of which was perhaps a composition of Edward Strauss, complimentary to the bride and entitled "Happy the World Over."

After a tour Dr. and Mrs. Moir will make their home on Beacon street, Waban, where the former is a practicing physician.

Every one knows that the best workman in any line is not always able to impart his knowledge and therefore fails as a teacher. Miss Agnes Leavitt, whose advertisement of lessons in water-colors appear in our columns today, is we have heard on good authority one of the best teachers of that art in Boston. Her own work is very interesting and will well repay a call at her studio.

THE HALE CLUB.

INTERESTING ADDRESSES BY HENRY LLOYD AND ARCHIBALD M. HOWE—"POLITICAL REFORM" THE TOPIC.

The Hale Club of Newton Centre held a very successful meeting, Tuesday evening, in the parlors of the Unitarian church of that village. The affair was the second which the organization has held this season and was attended by some 75 club members and guests.

Supper was served at 6:30 o'clock, followed by a brief business meeting, at the close of which those present adjourned to the upper hall and enjoyed addresses by Messrs. Henry D. Lloyd and Archibald M. Howe of Boston.

Mr. Howe was the first speaker introduced and spoke at some length on "How to Overthrow the Boss in Politics." Mr. Howe is an ex-member of the Massachusetts House of Representatives, and his familiarity with legislative proceedings lent added interest to his remarks. After a brief survey of the existing evils of the modern legislatures, Mr. Howe made a strong plea for individual effort as one of the remedies.

"There will always be bad men," he said, "and weak legislatures, but it is in our power to prevent the spreading of corrupt legislation if we try. The solution of the problem is not an easy one, and nothing but self denial, patriotism and love of country can help us to solve it. Local self-government, personal responsibility and pure democracy is the root of its solution. While I do not advocate a return to old time methods of legislation, say what you will, the historic town meeting did more than anything else to make this Commonwealth a home of ideals."

I say it is a rare exception when the views of a legislator are known to his constituents. One of the 240 representatives and 40 senators in this state, how many of their constituents are cognizant with their views on legislative matters arising every day. Too little publicity is the beginning of the whole thing. They are not all bad men, but the opportunity afforded by this suppression of truth from the public is a leading factor in the working of corrupt legislation.

Commence the reformation at home. A simple common councilman can do as much in his place as a senator. Stand up for what is right. The greatest hero is not the man who grasps a sword and goes on a yonder hill and waves a flag, but the man who loves his country first, last and always.

There are those who say that corporations cannot live unless they buy the legislatures. Such a boast is an insult to the dear old Commonwealth, and that insult is cast upon it by the people themselves.

Stand up for pure politics, no matter if you are defeated, you will have done your best for the cause and that is all any man can do.

The trouble is that good men and women do not stand up long enough. Dr. Parkhurst preaches against vice in New York for a while and then goes off to Europe for a year. Seth Low, and I have known him ever since he was knee high, stands out for a short while, and then concludes that Platt is not so bad after all."

Mr. Howe's witty reference to the leading politicians of the day throughout his address provoked continual laughter and he was warmly applauded as he concluded.

Mr. Henry D. Lloyd was next introduced and gave a most entertaining account of the social and political reforms in New Zealand. He paid a graceful compliment to Mr. Howe in his opening remarks.

Continuing he said, "I went to New Zealand to realize some Arabian Nights dreams of Utopian reform. I wanted to get the encouragement of something really accomplished, to see for myself what had been done by the inhabitants of the Antipodes in the way of political reform and social reconstruction. And I may say that the results gratifying in the extreme."

Mr. Lloyd then entered upon a brief description of New Zealand, its climate, resources and its people. English, Scotch and Irish races predominate, he said, and nowhere in the world can be found so pure a strain of the Anglo-Saxon race. "It is a white man's country," he continued, "and the people fit the country."

Mr. Lloyd then gave a brief summary of the reforms in New Zealand since the political revolution of 1890. The abolition of the existing tax evils as levied by the controlling monopolies; the introduction of a progressive tax system; compulsory arbitration of labor strikes; old age pensions; law and the vast progress of the republic under the social reconstruction which sprang to life.

His remarks were loudly applauded. At the close of the meeting a vote of thanks was tendered to the speakers, after which an adjournment was taken.

Death Of Charles Everett.

Mr. Charles Everett of the commission firm of Wheelwright, Elbridge & Co. of 70 Franklin street, Boston, died last Sunday evening at his home on Parker street, Newton Centre. Death resulted from an attack of appendicitis, after a week's illness. Mr. Everett was a descendant on the old Everett family of Cambridge. He was born in Boston, and was about 43 years of age. He had resided in Newton Centre for about 16 years, during which time he had been connected with the Unitarian church of that village. He leaves a widow, one son and one daughter. Wednesday afternoon at 1:30 funeral services were held at his home. Rev. Charles W. Wendte, pastor of the Newton Centre Unitarian church, was in charge. The remains were taken to Mt. Auburn cemetery for interment.

TRINITY CHURCH FAIR.

SOCIAL EVENT AT NEWTON CENTRE ATTENDED BY LARGE NUMBERS AND MUCH ENJOYED—LIBERALLY PATRONIZED.

Newton Centre residents, more particularly those who attend the Trinity Episcopal church, have been much interested this week in the fair or Japanese bazar which was held on Tuesday and Wednesday afternoons and evenings in Bray small hall. The decorations in themselves were most attractive while every table was laden with a full supply of useful and fancy articles, and needless to say there were many ready purchasers. To say the affair was throughout entirely enjoyable and most successful is but a mild expression of the sentiment which was voiced by its patrons and those in charge.

Following are the names of those whose efforts contributed much towards the happy result: Harry Bartling, Henry J. Ide, Mrs. W. H. Garrett, executive committee; Frank H. Ratcliffe, treasurer; Charles B. Moore, H. W. Colby, Frederick Mills, C. M. Merriam, W. G. Snow, S. B. H. Bravo, advertising committee; Henry Haynie, floor marshal; Miss Lillian Everett, Mrs. W. E. Jones, Miss Maud Hammond, Miss Ida Willis, Mrs. G. M. Merriam, Miss Stetson, Miss Dora Robinson, Mrs. B. S. Casson, Mrs. W. G. Snow, Mrs. H. T. Wills, Miss K. M. Goodman, fancy table; Mrs. E. Q. Rowen, Mrs. W. Rand, lemonade booth; Mrs. D. A. Harrington, Mrs. John Briggs, children's table; primary department, members of the King's Daughters society; Mrs. H. J. Ide, Mrs. W. R. Holt, Mrs. F. H. Ratcliffe, Mrs. Wm. Byers, Mrs. F. C. Hatch, Mrs. Richards, Mrs. W. M. Turner, Mrs. W. P. Edwards, apron table; Mrs. Harry Bartling, Mrs. Jesse E. Powers, Miss Alice Bond, Miss Louise Plimpton, Miss Johnson, candy table; Mrs. Carl Underwood, Miss Hettie B. Ward, and members of the girls' friendly society, household table; David A. Harrington, Kenneth R. Forbes and members of the men's club, men's table; Mrs. J. B. Hall, Mrs. A. W. Harrington, Mrs. H. A. Ely, Mrs. J. E. Harlow, Mrs. C. E. Hill, Mrs. J. W. May, Mrs. Henry Haynie, Mrs. Harry Bartling, Mrs. Louis Fitch, Mrs. J. B. Hall, Mr. A. W. Harrington, Mr. J. E. Harlow and J. W. May with assistants, supper room. Excellent entertainment programs were given each evening, consisting of vocal and instrumental numbers.

BOARD OF ALDERMEN.

Readily Disposed of Budget by Adopting Finance Committee's Figures.

Chestnut Hill Residents Have No Use For a Fire Station and Declare They Don't Want It.

A regular meeting of the board of aldermen was held by the vigorous remonstrance made by the residents of Chestnut Hill over the proposed seizure of land for fire station purposes, and was further remarkable for the smoothness with which the annual budget was adopted. For the first time in the existence of the city the recommendations of the finance committee were accepted almost without question, as the trivial amendment of but $200 testified.

The board was called to order promptly at 7:45 o'clock by President Bailey, Aldermen Brown, Fisher, Fitzpatrick, Hutchinson, Lathrop, Lowell, Lyman, Norris, Pond, Pulsifer, Stickney, Trowbridge, Wardwell, Warren, Weed, Weeks and Welton being present.

Aldermen Lowell and Wardwell were appointed tellers to count ballots for a successor to Alderman Dana of Ward 7, for the present municipal year, and reported 14 ballots cast, all of which were for William F. Dana. Mr. Dana was declared elected and was escorted to the mayor's office, where the oath of office was administered by Mayor Wilson. Alderman Dana was subsequently reappointed upon his former committee by President Bailey and was also elected the vice-president of the board.

HEARINGS.

At the hearing upon the petition of the Wellesley & Boston Street Railway Co. for a double track location on Washington street, Lower Falls, Hon. S. L. Powers spoke in favor of granting the petition for about 3000 feet, in order to better accommodate the travelling public. The company also offered to contribute $25,000 towards the expense of widening to 75 feet.

A hearing on the laying of concrete sidewalk on Kenilworth street under the betterment act was announced and closed, but was subsequently reopened when Messrs. John H. and Sydney Harwood spoke vigorously in favor of such construction.

No one appeared at the hearings announced upon the widening of Walnut street, Ward 2, and the widening of Lincoln street, Ward 5.

CHESTNUT HILL.

The hearing upon the taking of land at the junction of Beacon, Hammond and South streets, as a site for a fire station, was largely attended by the residents of Chestnut Hill.

Ex-Alderman Henry L. Whittlessey appeared for Mr. S. B. Hinckley, the owner of the property, and said that the proposed site was extremely valuable, and was one of the best in the city. He said that the 10,000 feet upon which the site was located was owned by him, and that he was willing to take a black eye to all his property. The chief of fire department, in recommending this site, should have considered the fact that the entire sentiment of the district is opposed to the erection of a fire station on the ground that it is not needed, and the board should appreciate the feeling of the property owners on this subject. The taking of this land would be an act of injustice to Mr. Hinckley and his neighbors.

Mr. S. B. Hinckley also emphatically protested against the taking of this particular lot of land, and while denying that a necessity existed for a fire station, said that other lands could be secured for reasonable figures, and even had land of his own which he would sell for the purpose. He did not believe there was any necessity for infringing upon individual rights in this particular case, as there had not been any fires in the district for a number of years.

Richard M. Saltonstall appeared as a citizen and as representing Mr. Herbert Dunne, and said that he could not believe that the city was in dead earnest in this matter of taking land on a main and a very attractive street, and in the middle of a residential district. People do not like to live near fire and police stations, and Mr. Dunne, who has a valuable piece of property and pays large taxes, should be encouraged and not have this objectionable station placed within a few hundred feet of his residence. It would break up the rural features of the district.

Only two fires had occurred in that district for 25 years in his recollection, and there was a strong division of opinion as to the need of such a station.

He urged the board to act slowly as there are many other sites available, and that could be secured at much less expense.

Mr. H. E. Warner, representing Mrs. D. D. Slade, also protested and warned the board that a jury to assess damages would include not only the damages to the land taken but also all future damages to the remaining 36 acres. He also urged the board to obtain the necessary land in the usual methods.

Mr. Fred Sawyer called attention to the light water pressure in the district and thought if that could be remedied there could be no possible need of a station. He also strongly protested against the land selected, and the hearing was closed. On motion of Alderman Lowell the matter was referred to the committee on fire department.

PETITIONS.

A communication from the board of health recommending sewer construction in Standish, Chestnut, Winter, High, Elliot and Ellis streets was referred to the sewer committee.

Petitions of Connolly et al., to lay out Stone avenue and Lee avenue, Chestnut Hill, were referred to the highway committee.

Petitions of Ambrose et al., for street lights on Waban avenue and Carleton road; of G. F. Simpson for incandescent lights on Franklin street; of the telephone company for attachments on Devon road and Wesley street, and for pole locations on Ward and Elmwood streets, and of the Newton & Watertown Gas Light Co. for pole locations on Chestnut and Hammond streets were referred to the street light committee, appropriate hearings being assigned for Nov. 25 at 7:45 p. m.

COMMITTEE REPORTS.

The finance committee recommended an additional appropriation of $250 for the school department and the order for same was unanimously adopted. Its report on the estimated receipts for 1901 was received.

On recommendation of the highway committee the petition of W. O. Evans for side walk on Elmwood street was granted, and a crosswalk ordered constructed at the junction of Paul street and Oxford road.

The records of the board were approved upon report of the committee on journal. On recommendation of the license committee a license for a bowling alley on Walnut street, Ward 5, was granted. A. H. Strong, and the application of A. B. and G. W. Holmes to erect a frame building on High street was approved.

The recommendation of leave to withdraw upon petition of H. G. Tyrrell for license for a technical agency was opposed by Alderman Weed, and the matter remitted with instructions to grant a hearing to the petitioner and Alderman Weed.

The recommendations of the public property committee inviting opinion of the school board upon the advisability of purchasing land on Ash street for a new school house for Auburnville and appropriating $6,734.40 for purchase of such land were received. The order inviting opinion of school board was adopted and that appropriating the money was referred to the finance committee.

The committee's report referring the matter of a new school house in the Wade district to the favorable consideration of the next city government was accepted.

The sewer committee recommended the taking of land in Kensington street, Ward 3, in Ashton avenue, in new street off Morton street, and in Hammondwood road, Ward 6, for sewer purposes, and hearings were assigned for Dec. 3rd at 7:45 p. m.

ORDERS.

Orders authorizing concrete sidewalks on Kenilworth street, Ward 7, under betterment act; for the widening of portions of Walnut street, Ward 2, and of Lincoln street, Ward 5, were unanimously adopted. Orders rescinding pole locations on Walnut, Crafts and Waltham streets granted the telephone company and the Newton Street Railway Company jointly, and granting the pole locations on Crafts streets to the telephone company and attachments to the street railway company were adopted.

An order for an acre light opposite the Lower Falls house was referred to the street light committee, and an order granting $46,446.06 for city expenses during December was referred to the finance committee.

BUDGET FOR 1901.

Alderman Dana, chairman of the finance committee, presented a report recommending appropriations amounting to $1,138,827 for city expenses during 1901. $25 for board immediately entered upon the consideration of the numerous items contained in the order, accompanying the same.

But little discussion followed the appropriations for the various departments as explained by Alderman Dana, who carefully stated the differences between the recommendations of the mayor and the finance committee wherever any change had been made.

The committee had allowed an extra $200 for clerical assistance for the assessing department; had split the difference between the $400 recommended by the mayor and the $3000 fixed by the mayor; had added $500 to the charity department to furnish the hospital wards at the new almshouse; had increased the item for out door pool in the same department, $1,000 to $5,500; had omitted the appropriation of $208 for telephone operator at city hall on the ground that the present service was so satisfactory that a change would be necessary; had added a sum of $25 for record ink for city hall offices; had refused to increase the salary of agent of board of health to $1800; added $500 to the health department's appropriation for the Newton Hospital; added $500 to the law department for expert real estate advice; increased the item for Newton Centre branch of the library by $200; and added a new item of $100 for a branch at Newtonville.

The general repair account of the street department was increased to $70,000 from $60,000, and the item for trimming trees increased to $1000 from $800.

The special appropriations for street construction were considerably changed. The item for Beacon street raised from $4000 to $5000; that for Cheese Cake Brook increased from $10,000 to $15,000; that for Sargent street reduced from $1800 to $1000, and the $200 transferred to the Auburnville avenue. The items of $800 each for Marlboro and Arlington streets were omitted, and a new appropriation of $6,500 made for drain in Tremont street, and new items of $1000 for repairing the Auburnville tunnel and $4000 for a drain in Crafts street were also inserted.

All of the recommendations of the finance committee were adopted, with the exception that the item of $600 for maintenance of teams in the public buildings department was increased to $700 on motion of Alderman Lowell, and an item of $100 for extra work for inspector of police was inserted in the appropriation for the law department on motion of Alderman Dana.

Alderman Weed tried in vain to have the salary of the agent of the board of health fixed at $1800 and a motion of Alderman Lathrop to slightly change the text of the item was adopted.

Alderman Weed had fears that the item of $1000 for repairs of Church street would cause unnecessary criticism upon Alderman Dana and himself, and asked to have the same amount transferred to the general repairs account. Alderman Weeks opposed the amendment, but said if it was carried he should urge the same action in the item of $1500 for Valentine street. The matter was also opposed by Aldermen Fisher and Hutchinson and was easily defeated.

Alderman Lowell criticized the number and amount of the special appropriations as being excessive, and Alderman Dana called attention to the large amount of extra work included in the budget, and that the street work was about the same amount as in 1900.

Alderman Dana also urged the board to appropriate reasonable sums for each department, and then hold the departments strictly to the appropriations. The large items of $15,000 for Cheese Cake Brook, $6,500 for Tremont street drain and $1,000 for Crafts street drain were respectively explained by Aldermen Hutchinson, Dana and Lathrop.

During the discussion of the budget a recess was taken for lunch, and the sewer committee was authorized to sit during the recess.

Upon resuming the session the sewer committee favorably reported upon a sewer in Marlboro street, Ward 7, and the order for construction was adopted.

PRINTING OF RECORDS.

A long discussion followed the motion of Alderman Trowbridge to insert an item of $1000 in the budget for printing the proceedings of the board of aldermen, being favorably adopted, and the order adopted by Aldermen Weed and Dana, and opposed by Aldermen Lowell and Warren, and the motion was defeated. Subsequently on motion of Alderman Dana, a special committee consisting of Aldermen Trowbridge, Fitzpatrick and Lathrop was appointed to consider the matter.

The budget as amended and appropriated $1,138,827 was then read twice and unanimously adopted, and orders adopted estimating the receipts for 1901 at $280,005, and fixing the rate of interest on unpaid taxes for that year.

And the board at 12 o'clock midnight adjourned.

Death of Capt. John Exley.

Capt. John Exley, foreman, and one of the staunchest members of the Newton Veteran Firemen's Association since its organization, died last Friday afternoon at the home of his daughter in Westboro. Death was due to typhus fever from which he had been a sufferer for some time. Announcement of the sad event brought a universal expression of sorrow throughout the city, and flags were lowered to half-staff while the headquarters of the Newton veterans was draped in mourning.

Capt. Exley was born in Lowell and was almost sixty years of age. When a young man he entered the employ of the Pettie Machine Works at Newton Upper Falls and learned the trade of a machinist. He next went with the Whittier Machine Company, Boston, elevator manufacturers, and during the past thirty years has erected elevators in almost every large city in the East. He was an excellent workman and thoroughly familiar with his task. When Newton was a town he was a member of the board of fire engineers and also was foreman of and ran with the Mechanical hand 14, at Newton Upper Falls, where he lived. In 1889, through his efforts, the Newton Veteran Firemen's Association was organized. He was elected foreman, which place he held until his death. He was one of the best-known veteran firemen in New England, and his knowledge of the various playboys and the proper management of the tubs was said to be the most correct of any member of the league. He was also a member of the Newton Firemen's Association, and lived with his only daughter, Mrs. Florence E. Berry of Westboro.

The remains reached the Newtonville station last night after 3 o'clock afternoon. Gathered there were members of the Newton veteran firemen's association, delegates from the New England league of veteran firemen, members of Newton lodge, 92, I. O. O. F., members of Roxbury lodge, 211, I. O. O. F., and delegates from the veteran firemen's association of these places: Hyde Park, Waltham, Cambridge, Charlestown, Somerville, Everett, Watertown, Boston, Roxbury and Hingham. They were met by Chief Randlett, assistant Chief Humphrey and others of the active Newton department.

They marched as escorts to the cemetery on Walnut street. At the entrance into the Newton veteran firemen's association ladies' auxiliary joined in the march to the Farlow memorial chapel.

The service was completely thronged, and Rev. Henry J. Patrick, pastor emeritus of the West Newton Congregational church, conducted the services. The pallbearers were: John Hargaden, assistant foreman, T. H. Hargaden, treasurer, F. T. Burgess, third assistant foreman, J. W. Bailey, Andrew Nutting and J. U. Kimball, hosemen, of the Newton association, and Frank Linnell and Frank E. Hunter of Newton lodge, 92, I. O. O. F.

Scripture reading, prayers and a fitting eulogy by Rev. Mr. Patrick, together with the singing of "When the Mists have Rolled Away," "Sweet Home," "The Passing Out of the Shadow," by the Mendelssohn quartet, made up the simple yet impressive services.

The remains were taken to Newton lodge, 92, I. O. O. F., had charge of the services at the grave, which were conducted according to his ritual.

Laid upon the coffin were many beautiful flowers, including a huge cross from the Newton veterans, bearing the inscription "Our Foreman"; a spray of chrysanthemums and a wreath of pinks and roses from the same organization, a wreath of pinks and chrysanthemums from the letters R. J. V. E. A., a wreath of roses and pinks from the New England league of veteran firemen, a spray of chrysanthemums from the Hyde Park veteran firemen, a wreath of chrysanthemums and violets from J. H. McAdams, wreaths of similar design from Roxbury lodge, 211, I. O. O. F., Newton lodge, 92, I. O. O. F., Watertown veteran firemen and friends.

Death of Walter A. Allen.

On Tuesday evening at the Waltham city hospital occurred the death of Mr. Walter A. Allen of Woodland after a three weeks' attack of appendicitis. Mr. Allen was vice-president and general manager of the George J. Barker lumber company of Waltham, was well known in the lumber trade of New England.

Mr. Allen was about 38 years old, and a native of Newton. He was a son of the late Augustus Allen, and had always made his home on Washington street, Woodland, where three sisters and a brother now live. He was not married.

Mr. Walter Allen entered the lumber business soon after his graduation from the Newton High school. At first he was engaged in the lumber trade at Woodland, Boston, but later joined the Waltham company, and rapidly advanced to the position of vice president and general manager. He was highly esteemed by his business friends, and his death means a severe loss to the company with which he was connected. As a member of the West Newton Unitarian church he was greatly respected.

The funeral took place yesterday afternoon from the family residence at 220 o'clock and were attended by a large company of the relatives and friends, including a number of the employees of the lumber company, which was closed for the day. There were many beautiful floral tributes.

The services, which consisted of prayer, scripture reading and music, were conducted by Rev. John C. Jones, assisted by Rev. Dr. Harrington of Waltham. At the close the body was removed to the Newton cemetery for interment. The pallbearers were Mr. Herbert Barker, Mr. Arthur Hazen, Mr. George J. Barker and Mr. Lyman Matthews.

Spread Like Wildfire.

When things are "the best" they become "the best selling." An advertisement in drug list, of Belleville, O., writes: "Electric Bitters are the best selling bitters I have handled in 29 years. You know why? Most diseases begin in disorders of stomach, liver, kidneys, bowels, blood and nerves. Electric Bitters tones up the stomach, regulates liver, kidneys and bowels, purifies the blood, strengthens the nerves, hence cures multitudinous maladies. It builds up the entire system. Puts new life and vigor into any weak, sickly, rundown man or woman. Price 50 cents. Sold by Arthur Hudson, Druggist."

On The Gridiron.

The Newton A. C. second team and the Ratterville A. C. played a game at Nonantum Saturday afternoon, neither team being able to score. During one of the scrimmages, Trainer of the Ratterville team was injured and had to be carried from the field. The features of the game were a 60-yard run by Falvey and the playing of Ryan, Wilson, Rolfe, and Donahue.

Last Saturday afternoon on the Cedar street grounds, Newton eleven and Milton A. A. played a tie game, neither side scoring. Both teams played an aggressive game, and relief for gains mostly upon plunges through the center. In the first half Newton got the ball inside their opponents' five-yard line, but lost it on downs.

D. A. R.

The members of the Lucy Jackson chapter, D. A. R., were delightfully entertained by Mrs. Geo. Hutchinson, at her home in West Newton, on Wednesday, Nov. 14. Miss Allen, the chapter regent, presided. A vote of thanks was extended to Mrs. James C. Melvin, at whose charming home were held the three lectures given recently by the chapter. Mr. Joseph Allen was the guest of honor. He spoke of the district schools where he himself was educated and where he taught 63 years ago. Sewing was one of the requisites at that time, together with the three R's, and great attention was given to manners and courtesy. The closely graded system of today he thinks has its evils, some one has called it the devil of uniformity.

In closing he expressed surprise that while physicians and philosophers recognize and make use of the powers of hypnotism, telepathy, etc., so little interest is manifested in these subjects by teachers, and quoted President Eliot as saying that these subtle powers would make a man irresistible if he would but master them. Mr. Allen was followed by Mr. Geo. A. Walton, who said that for divining the whereabouts of a child's mind and the power of character no one, he thought, in the Commonwealth could compare to Mr. Joseph, Mr. Nathaniel T. and Mr. James T. Allen.

A letter was read from Mr. Wm. H. Baldwin, who was unable to be present. After the singing of America, a collation and social hour closed a very enjoyable afternoon. E. L. SAIGENT, Secretary.

D. R.

The November meeting of Sarah Hull Chapter, D. R., was held Tuesday afternoon, the 20th instant, at the Newton Club house and was attended by a large number of members and guests. Decorations of buff and blue brightened the interior of the club house, and in the assembly hall and parlors there was a profusion of cut flowers. The hostesses were Mrs. W. T. Logan, Mrs. W. D. Tripp, Mrs. T. W. Trowbridge, Mrs. W. B. Rogerson, Mrs. H. H. Shumway and Miss L. M. Kendrick.

A bright and entertaining paper written by Miss Alice W. Pope of Newton Highlands, on "Colonial and Revolutionary Music" was read by Miss Wilkinson. It was finely illustrated with singing by a double quartet composed of chapter members. On the stage in the assembly hall a dramatic sketch called "Two Forenoons during the Revolution" was given. The participants were appropriately costumed and the scene of the play, a New England kitchen, was fittingly furnished.

Impersonated by Mrs. F. D. Sampson, Miss Helen Wells, Miss Marguerite Logan, Miss Jennie Clark, Mrs. A. R. Bailey, Miss Grace Whittemore, Mrs. W. D. Tripp, Miss Anna Whitfield, Miss Minnie Wheeler and Miss Helen Luitwieler.

Between acts Mrs. Shumway played a piano selection composed by Oliver Shaw in 1803 entitled "Welcome to the Nation's Guest," and respectively dedicated to Gen. Lafayette on his visit to Providence. Explanations were read as printed on the piano score.

Mrs. Mary A. Chapman, state regent D. R., was present and made a brief address. The usual hour of tea and refreshments was enjoyed.

Baker's Position With Democrats.

Is Likely To Be Mayoralty Candidate.

Democratic caucuses were held in six wards of Newton last Friday evening, and for the most part fairly well attended. There was an absence of contests, and in Ward 7 an absence of voters, for no one was present there to read the call.

As there were no pledges exacted, except in Ward 2, it could not be stated positively whom the delegates favor. However, there seemed to prevail, among the voters, a general belief that William H. Baker should be the chosen candidate. Ward 2 came out strong in his support while Wards 1, 5 & 6, were silent in their approval of his candidacy. It is fair to say that they desire that he should run as many of those who attended so expressed themselves to a GRAPHIC representative.

There is a report that Mr. W. H. Maque has friends on the delegations of Wards 3 and 4, and that will be better shown at the convention this evening which is to be held in Jefferson hall, Newtonville. Wards 1, 2, 3, 4 and 6 have nominated ward aldermen, while there was no talk in any of the wards concerning school board candidates.

The result: Ward 1—John O'Connell, ward alderman; delegates: David H. Warren, P. J. Murphy, J. Murphy, D. O'Connell, H. J. Monahan.

Ward 2—C. E. Hodges, ward alderman; delegates: J. J. Kloeber, James E. Farrell, T. J. Carroll, B. D. Farrell, J. F. Maglinch, and Thomas J. Green.

Ward 3—Herbert A. Broad, ward alderman; delegates: David H. Warren, Thomas J. Lyons and Herbert A. Broad.

Ward 4—John M. Spence, ward alderman; delegates: W. P. Fitzgerald, T. F. Matthews, John Barrett, W. P. Dugan and W. J. Murphy.

Ward 5—No choice for ward alderman; delegates: Frank E. Kneeland, Thomas G. Woodman and John W. Hoar.

Ward 6—No choice for ward alderman; delegates: Frank E. Kneeland, Thomas G. Woodman and John W. Hoar.

Hospital Sunday.

In reminding the citizens of Newton that "Hospital Sunday" will occur on the 25th inst., when the annual collection will be taken in the churches towards defraying the expenses of maintaining the Newton Hospital, the Finance Committee, in behalf of the Trustees of the hospital, desires to express its thanks for the generous response made to its appeal last year.

It will be remembered that in this appeal the committee mentioned the important additions and improvements to the facilities of the hospital, supplied by benevolent friends, which, while largely increasing its usefulness, would also necessarily increase the annual cost of maintenance. This increase was estimated at about thirty per cent.

In addition to this increased cost of maintenance, it will be necessary this year to provide about $3,000 for a new laundry. The present one, while of sufficient size at the beginning, has long been inadequate to meet the requirements caused by the large increase of patients.

In view of these heavy demands, the Finance Committee most earnestly appeals to the citizens for even a larger contribution on Sunday, the 25th inst., than the generous one of the preceding year.

The work of the hospital is so well known and appreciated that the committee is confident that its financial needs will be cheerfully met.

CONGREGATIONAL CLUB.

REV. WILLIAM T. McELVEEN PH. D. ADDRESSES THE CLUB ON "PRESCRIPTIONS FOR SOCIAL ILLS" AT ITS NOVEMBER MEETING MONDAY EVENING.

The regular meeting of the Newton Congregational Club was held last Wednesday evening at the Woodland Park Hotel, Auburndale. Owing to the inclement weather the attendance was not as large as usual. A social hour was enjoyed in the parlors from 5 to 6 o'clock and shortly afterward the company adjourned to the dining-room where supper was served, after Rev. Chas. M. Southgate, pastor of the Congregational church, Auburndale, had invoked the divine blessing. At the business meeting which followed Rev. E. M. Noyes, the president, presided, and the records of the last meeting were read by the Secretary, Mr. Arthur W. Kelly. Rev. Mr. Southgate for the nominating committee announced that there were no new names for membership with the exception of the two proposed at the October meeting and these, Miss Sarah S. Webber of West Newton and Albin R. Clapp of Wellesley Hills were elected. As the next will be the annual meeting President Noyes appointed Rev. Dr. E. E. Strong and Messrs. A. O. Swain, E. E. Siles, W. G. Bell, W. H. Partridge, W. E. Lowry and W. C. Strong a nominating committee to bring in names for officers at that meeting for the coming year. Owing to the absence of the outlook committee, Rev. Mr. Noyes spoke of the death of Rev. Daniel Greene, formerly pastor of the church at Newton, and a motion, was passed that Dr. Byington prepare resolutions to be placed on the records. Mr. Noyes also spoke of national affairs, of the near approach of the 20th century and of the campaign plan in England to quicken religious interest and deepen religious life. After the company had sung "I Love Thy Kingdom Lord," and Dr. Patrick had spoken a few words on the death of Mr. Edward B. Trowbridge, a member of the club, President Noyes introduced the guest of the evening, Rev. Wm. T. McElveen, Ph. D., pastor of the Shawmut church, Boston, who gave an eloquent and interesting address on "Prescriptions for Social ILLS."

"Many people think the old world is afflicted with disease and suggest some remedy," the speaker said, "there are a number of prescriptions to improve a man's environment and that will help to restore him to God improving him in heart, mind and spirit. Boston makes much of education; send a boy or girl through the various branches from the kindergarten to Harvard or some other college and will they graduate saints? The result is not as promised, as education does not make men purer, holier, there is danger in knowledge and strength if not used with divine wisdom. The remedy is to put good laws on the statute books and see that they are enforced until the people vote to have them expunged or modified. The process of law will restrain crime for the benefit of the rest of mankind." Dr. McElveen spoke of his work in the reform movement in New York carried on under the direction of Dr. Parkhurst, of experiences with the Maine license law and closed with an urgent appeal that every one strive to gain in strength into more holy and nobler character, thus gaining moral and spiritual power. After a vote of thanks to the speaker the meeting adjourned at 8.20.

The bride wore a travelling suit of brown broadcloth, and carried a shower bouquet. The bridesmaid, Miss Marie Thayer of Boston, was attired in a suit of blue broadcloth and carried roses. The best man was Mr. Fred Smith. The ushers were Messrs. William Davis, George Baker, Albert Meade and S. Porter.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride, which guests were present from Lowell, Providence, New York and Boston.

Death of Nathan Crocker.

Nathan Crocker, for many years a much respected resident of West Newton, died early Wednesday morning at the Newton hospital. Mr. Crocker had been in poor health for some time, and recently undergone an operation for internal troubles. He was a descendant of a well-known Cape Cod family. Much of his life was spent in Boston, and for many years he had been engaged in ship chandlery. Of later years he was in the real estate business with an office in Boston. He is survived by a wife.

THE APPROPRIATION ORDER.

The board of aldermen broke the record last Monday night in the celerity with which it passed an order appropriating nearly a million and a quarter dollars for the city expenses of 1901.

The recommendations of the finance committee were unanimously approved and only the paltry sum of $300 added to the order as presented by it. The members of the finance committee may well feel proud of such unprecedented action on the part of a city government.

The committee recommended an increase of $33,822 over the figures submitted by the mayor, of which $26,100 was added to the highway division of the street department. There can be no criticism of the sum of $10,000 added to the general repairs account making a total of $70,000, unless it is on the ground that even this large sum might be inadequate for the needs of the city. The other large items are caused by work on special streets and drains. Some years ago the city adopted the policy of annually appropriating certain sums aggregating $40,000 for the purpose of thoroughly rebuilding such streets as required larger expenditures than could be well afforded from the general repairs account.

This policy has been continued with profit to the city, until the administration of Mayor Wilson, when the spirit of economy reduced the sum to about $22,000 for each of the years 1899 and 1900.

The present budget for 1901 contains items aggregating $90,000, of which nearly $29,000 is for construction of permanent drains. This latter sum ought not to be included in the amount to be raised in 1901 by taxation. The construction of drains, contemplated to stand for 50 or 100 years, should be classed with the sewer and water works, which are paid for by the issuing of thirty year bonds, thus allowing future taxpayers, who reap the benefit of the work, equally with the present, to pay their share of the cost. This conclusion is logical and inevitable. Drain work is permanent in character and stands on a wholly different basis from repairs of streets, which are constantly subject to wear and tear, and whose life, is only for a few years at the best.

Another objectionable feature injected into the bill is the feeling that each ward of the city must have an item in the list of specials. This spirit is the same that leads to the log-rolling so apparent in Congress and other representative bodies, but should have no place in such a fair minded community as Newton. When we can learn that whatever benefits our city in one part, benefits the whole, then and not till then will ward jealousies die a natural death.

The committee made larger appropriations for repairs of public buildings, where it was apparent that the mayor's pruning knife had cut too deep, and the sum of $500 appropriated for furnishing the hospital wards at the new almshouse is good economy.

Some of the items will undoubtedly call forth a veto from the mayor's office, but with the few exceptions noted, the action of the aldermen will probably be satisfactory to the average taxpayer.

THE NEWTON HOSPITAL.

THANKSGIVING week always brings Hospital Sunday, and with a prosperous year behind, and years of prosperity in sight, a generous contribution should be made to what is practically the only institution in the city which appeals alike to the sympathy and support of rich and poor, Catholic and Protestant, church goers and non-church goers.

The needs of the Hospital grow in proportion to its facilities to care for the sick and unfortunate, and as the sphere of its usefulness widens, so does the necessity for a larger income deepen.

It is hoped that the subscriptions from the various churches may be increased and that non-church goers will also remember the Hospital by sending subscriptions to the Treasurer.

THE CITY AUDITOR.

The change made in the City Auditor's department by the aldermen is the one matter in this year's budget causing special comment. This consisted of the reduction in City Auditor Otis' salary by $400, and abolishing the position now held by his assistant, Mr. Theodore A. Fien. Mr. Otis has held this position for twenty five years, and has always given honest and painstaking service to the city, and now, although beyond the age of three score and ten, is active and in full possession of his faculties. His friends contend that these reasons should have been sufficient to have continued his salary and position as heretofore, especially as the duties of the City Auditor are, under the present charter, next to the Mayor, the most important in the city, and are becoming more burdensome each year. Mr. Fien has been his assistant for about 13 years.

THE CITY CAUCUSES.

BOTH the Republican and Democratic parties have held their caucuses, and the candidates of each are fairly well known. It seems certain at the present time that Mr. Edward L. Pickard, Republican, will be opposed by Mr. Wm. H. Baker, with the chances in favor of Pickard of three to one. The Democratic nominees for aldermen at large are at present unknown, but the Republicans have elected delegates who will probably re-nominate the present aldermen in Wards One, Two, Four and Six, and will present the names of Dr. Fred M. Lowe, Ward Three, Mr. George H. Mellen, Ward Five, and Mr. Charles S. Ensign in Ward Seven. Such a list it is needless to say cannot help being elected next December.

The victory of Alderman Norris in Ward Six shows that in a campaign of personalities against experience, the voters of Newton Centre and Chestnut Hill can be depended upon to make the right selection.

For School Committee, Rev. H. Usher Monroe, Ward Four, and Rev. Geo. M. Boynton, Ward Six, are practically nominated, and while the success of the Weldon aldermanic ticket in Ward One may prevent the nomination of Mr. Fred H. Tucker, we hope that the delegation will decide to present his name to the convention and encourage such able business men as Mr. Tucker to accept public office.

For the ward aldermanships there are contests in every ward but six and seven, but at the present time there does not seem to be any doubt as to the success of the Republican nominees.

THE School Committee is proud of the fact that its recommendations for appropriations for 1901 were unanimously approved by the board of aldermen without change.

As we go to press we are informed that the receipts of the Wellesley & Boston Street Railway company for Saturday, Dec. 1st, instead of Nov. 24, will be donated to the Newton Hospital.

City Hall Notes.

The registration of voters ceased last Wednesday night with a total of 61 men and 11 women added to the lists since the state election. The number of names now on the voting list reaches a total of 5744 men and 544 women as compared with 5143 men and 576 women.

City Engineer Farnham was the guest of the Metropolitan Water Board's workmen when they inspected Spot Pond and the Middlesex Fells last Wednesday. Mayor Wilson was unable to attend on account of illness.

Much sympathy is being expressed for City Auditor Otis and Assistant Fien over the recent action of the Board of Aldermen.

The proposed abolition of the City Hall telephone exchange will necessitate more lines to the West Newton central and thereby facilitate the work of the departments.

Major S. A. Ranlett has returned from Vicksburg, Miss.

A special meeting of the Board of Aldermen is called for Monday night for the drawing of jurors.

Water Commissioner Whitney watched with interest at midnight Tuesday the Metropolitan water board's workmen when they connected their pipes in the vicinity of the Waban Hill reservoir with the Newton main. This supply is to be utilized by Newton only in case of an emergency. The uncompleted portion is the disconnection of the Newton pipes from the Waban Hill reservoir, which the Metropolitan board intends to use in supplying Watertown and Belmont. It is not likely these towns will receive water from Waban Hill reservoir until it has been cleaned and refilled. In the meantime the supply for Watertown and Belmont from Fisher Hill reservoir, West Roxbury, will continue.

City of Newton.

No. 25573.

Newton, Oct. 12, 1900.

To the Board of Aldermen of Newton:

The undersigned respectfully represents that we are residents of Wards One and Seven and that in our opinion there is at present urgent necessity for a playground or athletic field for the use of the boys and young men of these and the adjoining Wards, that this necessity will inevitably increase with the growth of the City, and that the price of land in the vicinity is constantly rising. We pray for a public hearing on the question of the acquisition by the City of such suitable public common or athletic field.

Signed by Samuel L. Powers, A. Walker Blackmore and 26 others.

Assessment of Real Estate.

The method of assessing real estate in the city of Newton is without doubt the leading system in use in this or any other state.

It is absolutely accurate, and while apparently complicated, is simple. It is the result of ten years' study and work by Charles A. Miner, who for thirteen years has been a member of the board of assessors, serving eleven years as clerk. He has been working on the block system for ten years and it is now complete in every detail, but must be continued from time to time to be up to date.

Early in his experience as assessor Mr. Miner learned that the method in use for assessing was inadequate and complicated, and he went to work to improve it. Only a portion of the city had been surveyed. Wards Three and Four were the first examined. Each ward was divided into sections and each section in blocks. The blocks took in whole estates that were surrounded by streets, and were of different areas.

Each section is numbered, as is each block and lot. The sections in the wards of the city are laid out as far as possible in conformity with the main thoroughfares.

By the experiment in Wards Three and Four the result was the discovery of unassessed real estate amounting to $83,500. This fact aroused the interest of the taxpayers and the appropriation for the block system was increased from year to year.

The work of completing the entire city began. Each estate has its number from one up, in rotation, from east to west, as goes the sun. When a large estate is cut up into house lots the number of the estate is retained and the lots are numbered.

The engineer's department made a survey of the entire city, and from their working plans the plan books for the assessors were made. These books are at a working scale of forty feet to the inch. They are too large to carry around to the various estates so that blue prints about 7-14 x 10 inches in size, were made and they can be easily carried by the assessors. The photograph from the plan book is taken on an 8 x 10 plate and printed. They are placed in binders, each precinct or assessing district being together, the same being indexed by section, block and lot. The assessors go to the street book to designate the same, giving the assessors the outline of every lot of land in the city.

In the years gone by, and in many places to-day, the word of the owner of land is taken, or a guess is made. The same supposed area is assessed every year, being frequently taken from deeds which state that there are so many feet in the lot, more or less. Under Mr. Miner's plan every foot of land is assessed; more, the lines of the lots are shown on the blue prints thus enabling the assessors to place a more equitable value. For instance, if a lot of land has a large frontage it is worth more than the same area with a small frontage and large depth. Thus many lots of land of the same area but different depths are taxed differently.

There are over 12,000 different estates to be assessed in Newton and there is not a foot of land in the city which has not been surveyed and a plan to be found at city hall.

To more fully explain, the following is an abstract from the Assessors' Report of December 31, 1898:

"In 1890 the system called the block system was inaugurated and by it we have gained a thorough system of land areas, as we have a survey and plot of every parcel of land in the city, and a system of assessment which is a very large pecuniary gain to the city, as before the system was adopted, there were areas of land which were not assessed, that is, some estates were not assessed for the correct area, some for less and some for less than they contained; but by the block system, areas are given as near correct as possible to get by surveys and original plans.

The amount expended for perfecting this system has been $23,510.72. The valuation of the net increase in areas at the time the different surveys and plans were made is $22,900 divided by wards and the years we have adopted it in each ward:

| | | |
|---------------------|-----------|---------------|
| Ward One | $7,300 | 1892 |
| Ward Two | 62,800 | 1891 |
| Ward Three and Four | 85,500 | 1890 |
| Ward Five | 45,100 | 1889 and 1897 |
| Ward Six | 51,300 | 1894 and 1895 |
| Ward Seven | 19,500 | 1893 |
| | $230,500 | |

As will be seen, the city is receiving a tax at the present rate of taxation of nearly $5,000 per year.

The increase in value of the increased areas will in short time exceed that amount. There will be a small cost each year to keep the plans up to date, and the board of assessors can not appropriate money to any other advantage than to keep the system up to date. The tax on the amount assessed on the added areas to the present time is $29,525.27.

The total cost to January 1st, 1901, has been $23,510.72, and the amount of taxes assessed upon the extra area amounts to $38,494.27, and net gain to the city of Newton of $14,983.55 over the cost of the whole system to said date upon a valuation based at the time the plans were adopted in each ward. In many instances the value of land has increased perceptibly and the city received that increase. They now have a system that is perfected and has more than paid for itself and is equal to any in existence.

The card system connected with the block system is a convenience and a matter of information. It contains the location of every piece of land in the city of Newton, the owner, its location by ward, section, block and lot. It gives the grantees and grantor, all the conveyances and all instruments pertaining to it. Almost any information regarding the various pieces of real estate in Newton can be secured at the city hall, West Newton, and be assured that it is authentic.

City officials from different sections of the state have visited the department and investigated the system. Many have already adopted it in part. Especially does the card system attract their attention.

Mr. Miner will be pleased to explain the method to any persons who would like to avail themselves of the same.

Supt. Fife's Report.

Superintendent of Schools A. B. Fife has kindly handed us a copy of his annual report to the school committee, from which the following extracts may be of interest:

"The number of changes in the personnel of our teaching force during the year has not been very large. It is noticeable that the increase of salaries obtained by those who went to other positions ranged from 30 to 50 per cent."

The increase in the number of pupils in the high school compelled an addition of one teacher to the force. It is very desirable that there should be enough teachers in order that the classes may be much smaller than they are in many of our schools. Larger school houses will help to secure this result.

The teaching of English has strong claims, and we should aim to make our pupils accurate, proficient and finally versatile.

Vertical writing has abolished the hair lines and extreme slant of the old style and reduced largely the number of illegible papers produced by pupils. The board has established the work on a most satisfactory basis by the adoption of a single system, the one which seems the most radical, and at the same time logical.

The list of text and reference books for selection by teachers has been reduced within a year from 283 to 169, and it is still too large.

The study of Latin in grammar schools has been reduced to the latter half of the year only, and a beginners' class in the high school is recommended.

Sewing has been taken out of the primary grades with approval of parents and teachers.

New arrangements have been perfected with the board of health relative to notification of contagious diseases, and parents may rest assured that pupils will be protected better than ever before against exposure in school to contagious disease.

The experiment of single session in the Bigelow school is commented upon, but without recommendation.

The decoration of school rooms is encouraged and the High and Bigelow work in this direction is approved.

The teachers' meetings are approved when speakers are secured on topics of greatest interest and importance to all school people.

The storm signals' rule has been liberally interpreted, especially during the periods when there was an unusual amount of sickness among children.

The evening schools have been maintained as in the past, but have not been very much appreciated by those for whose benefit they are conducted.

The need of additional appropriations for school incidentals is urged, and truancy has been substantially reduced by the efforts of the truant officer.

The Massachusetts Commissioners.

(Yicksburg Miss. Herald.)

Massachusetts Commission composed of Gen. Nat. Wales, formerly of the thirty-fifth infantry; Maj. Seth A. Banlett, of thirty-sixth, and Capt. Henry S. Braden of twenty-ninth Massachusetts infantry, went out with Capt. Rigby to the neighborhood of Oak Ridge, in order to pick up as near as possible the positions occupied by their commands, which formed part of the ninth corps of Gen. Burnside. These gentlemen were seated in the lobby of the Carroll last night when a reporter approached, and was cordially greeted. These veterans from Massachusetts seemed disinclined to talk for publication, particularly as their first duty is to report to the governor of Massachusetts.

Enough was gathered, however, in casual conversation to enable the newspaper man to infer that the gentlemen of the commission are evidently in favor of the plans of Capt. Rigby and the commission, to centralize the monuments or command memorials, as far as possible. The idea seems to be to place the monuments to be erected by Massachusetts, on the plateau upon which was located the headquarters during the siege. The commission of course has not had a conference as yet to decide what form its report will take. It is evident though that they are entirely in accord with the views of the park commission.

As was stated before the three regiments of Massachusetts troops were not on the investment line at all, but were thrown out to guard the investing line from the expected rear of flank attack by the Gen. Johnston. These formed part of the corps commanded by Gen. Burnside.

As Capt. Rigby states the most appropriate way to commemorate these troops is by locating the monuments on the spot occupied by the commanding general's quarters. Capt. Rigby expresses gratification at the visit of Gen. Wales and his co-commissioners, and is hopeful that great benefit to the park and that a furtherance of the commission's plan in a most substantial way will result. The gentlemen themselves were gratified as a result of their long day's drive and to be able to go over in fancy the stirring times of 1863.

The dressmaking department of Boylan Home School, under the direction of Miss Mary Kenney, of the Boston Dressmaking College, 141 Tremont street, Boston, teaches the Harriet and Brown system of cutting and basting, which is widely known and is taught in many of the leading institutions of this country. The demand for teachers is greater than the supply, which offers a promising means of support for those who wish to prepare themselves to teach this system. A special class for teachers will be formed, and arranged to date upon a valuation based at the time the plans were adopted in each ward. In many instances the value of land has increased perceptibly and the city received that increase. They now have a system that is perfected and has more than paid for itself and is equal to any in existence.

BOSTON AMUSEMENTS

TREMONT THEATRE—For the third week of his very successful engagement at the Tremont Theatre, beginning Monday, November 25, Mr. E. S. Willard will revive Henry Arthur Jones' powerful play, "The Middlemen" one of the strongest types of the modern drama. It has served to place the actor upon the highest eminence of his art, and while his embodiment of one character or another in his broad repertory may have won him more praise from the critics according to their own individual judgment they have all united in unstinted praise for this. And with them has agreed the vast majority of playgoers. "The Middlemen" will be presented on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Friday and Saturday evenings and at the Thanksgiving day matinee. In compliance with the urgent request of many who were unable to see "The Professors Love Story" last week that delightful comedy by the author of "The Little Minister" will be revived for two more performances, on Thanksgiving night and at the Saturday matinee, and will be positively be its last representation in Boston this season.

COLONIAL THEATRE—The opening performance of Klaw & Erlanger's mammoth production of "Ben-Hur" at the new Colonial Theatre in Boston will occur Wednesday evening, Dec. 19th. There is a popular interest displayed in this great drama never before noted in connection with any theatrical effort made in America. This interest is deserved, for none other has been treated of so exalted a theme. Hundreds of thousands of people have read of Gen. Lew Wallace's beautiful story of "Ben-Hur," and every one who has read it desires to see its characters and scenes displayed in the more realistic atmosphere of dramatic portrayal. The integrity of a story translated to the stage has never been so faithfully maintained as in the play of "Ben-Hur," especially in religious interest.

Do Your EYES Trouble You?

If they do, the proper fitting of glasses is of great importance. There are so many nervous conditions due to faulty vision that too much care cannot be exercised in the fitting of glasses. If you find that in reading or sewing your eyes blur, causing headache, dizziness and other unpleasant symptoms, or you cannot enjoy the theatre or lecture without experiencing similar troubles, there is no doubt an error of vision or muscular weakness, requiring attention. Realizing the inconvenience and expense of visiting both the Oculist and Optician, we have opened rooms at 51 Summer Street, where we are prepared to attend to all cases requiring correcting glasses. Examinations will be made by an oculist of known standing and ability, and special care will be taken in the fitting and adjusting of frames. The glasses will be made in our factory on the premises by skilled workmen, insuring the best of work. Repairs and mail orders will receive prompt and careful attention. We carry a full line of Lorgnettes of the latest patterns, also Opera Glasses, Reading Glasses, etc. Our rooms are light and furnished for the comfort and convenience of patrons.

Literary Notes.

For variety and interest the December number of The Smart Set ranks as one of the best issues of that smart magazine. It is not too much to say that the novelette of the number, "Her Guard of Honor," by Miriam Michelson, is the strongest short story that has been published in this country in recent years. The second story in length is another of the series of brilliant society tales that Miss Caroline K. Duer is contributing to The Smart Set. It is entitled, "An Unfinished Elopement," and deals with events at the Summer capital that came near to gaining sensational publicity. Other features of this number of "the magazine of cleverness" are "The Episode of the Earl," by Louis Evan Shipman, author of "D'Arcy of the Guards"; "For Love of Lord Patrick," an intensely interesting London story by Mrs. Poulton; "Crowned with One Crest," a characteristically vigorous story by Gertrude Atherton; "Lord and Lady Laddis," by Edgar Fawcett, and many fascinating stories of far count by G. S. Wilets, Annetta Halliday-Antona, Onoto Watanna and others.

Among the famous characters treated in The Young Heroes of our Navy series, the plain name of Reuben James. He was nothing but a common sailor, a common sailor he remained and a common sailor he died. He was just a type of the plain American blue jacket at the beginning of our Navy. He, almost alone among the many brave sailors who fought our battles on the sea, is mentioned in the pages of history, as he saved the life of one of our great naval heroes, Capt. Decatur, and preserved to his country an officer, who loved to render his splendid service. The interesting story as told by Cyrus Townsend Brady is entitled, "Reuben James," a Hero of the Forecatie and published by D. Appleton & Co., New York. Cloth illustrated covers $1.00.

Getting Thin

is all right, if you are too fat; and all wrong, if too thin already.

Fat, enough for your habit, is healthy; a little more, or less, is no great harm. Too fat, consult a doctor; too thin, persistently thin, no matter what cause, take Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil.

There are many causes of getting too thin; they all come under these two heads: over-work and under-digestion.

Stop over-work, if you can; but, whether you can or not, take Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil, to balance yourself with your work. You can't live on it—true—but, by it, you can. There's a limit, however; you'll pay for it.

Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil is the readiest cure for "can't eat," unless it comes of your doing no work—you can't long be well and strong, without some sort of activity.

The genuine has this picture on it, take no other. If you have not tried it, send for free sample, its agreeable taste will surprise you. SCOTT & BOWNE Chemists, 409 Pearl Street, New York.

Coffin and W. W. Jaquith captured first prize, and Messrs. F. L. Potter, and F. N. Robbins, J. Weston Allen and C. L. Bremer and J. F. Scully and Harvey secured the second third and fourth respectively.

In the pool tournament Wellington beat Chase, Cobb beat Bass, Cooke beat Carter, and Nash beat Fallett.

Newton rolls on the B. A. A. alleys next Tuesday in the Amateur Bowling league schedule.

On Wednesday evening one of the most attractive concerts of the season was given by members of the Faculty of N. E. Conservatory of Music, and notwithstanding the threatening weather a large audience enjoyed the fine programme rendered by Mr. Emil Maier, violinist, Sig. Alfred De Voto, pianist, Mr. Heinrich Schaefer, harpist, Miss Pauline Waltmann contralto, and Mr. W. H. Dunham, tenor.

Six tables enjoyed duplicate whist last Monday evening and the following pairs made plus scores:

F. M. Copeland and C. H. Sprague 8 plus.
C. E. Morey and W. G. Morey 5
W. M. G. Brinckerhoff and F. C. Johnson 1
F. E. Marston and Geo. Rice 1

On Thursday night the Newton bowling team took the lead in the Amateur League by easily defeating Charlestown in all three games. Scully was high man with 588 pins and all the team made over 500. Malby the lowest having 504. Only two of the Charlestown team reached the 500 mark, although Butters with 580 was the second high man.

Twelve teams have entered the bowling tournament for club members and have been divided into two divisions of six teams each. The teams in each division will bowl against each other and the winners of each division will contest for the finals.

The Proposed Playground.

To the Editor of the Graphic:
The Newton Education association is much interested in the matter of Children's Playgrounds in Newton, and has noted with satisfaction the letters upon this subject which have appeared in your columns during the last few weeks. The writers of these will, I have no doubt, be glad to learn that the Education association has already taken this matter up and last winter had one meeting devoted to it. This fall the work is being done by committees, and these are working by wards. It so happens that the executive committee assigned to the subject of "Playgrounds and Systematized Play." Mr. F. H. Tucker, 206 Church street, is chairman of the committee. A series of meetings is now being arranged, and the first will be held about Dec. 1st. One notice of this meeting will be given in the GRAPHIC. If those interested in this subject (and who is not?) will be present, it is hoped something practical may be accomplished. The need of proper playgrounds is so apparent that we feel it needs immediate attention.

Murdock-Fuller.

At the Fuller homestead, 261 Centre street, Wednesday evening, took place the wedding of Miss Mary Wright Fuller to Mr. Francis Murdock. The ceremony was performed at 7.30 by Rev. W. H. Davis, pastor of the Eliot Congregational church. There were present only members of both families and a few intimate friends. The bride's only attendant was her young niece, Miss Florence Bacon. The ushers were Messrs. J. Henry, J. W. and William F. Bacon and Edgar F. Billings. At the conclusion of a wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Murdock will reside at 261 Centre street, Newton.

The Hillside Club will meet next Monday evening with Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Johnson on Harrison street, at Eliot.

TO PICKARD.

Mayoralty Nomination is Given Him.

No Contests at Convention of Republicans.

The Republican municipal convention held last Monday afternoon in Dennison hall, Newtonville, was remarkable for its rapid and harmonious action.

The convention was called to order at 3 o'clock by Mr. Chas. E. Hatfield, secretary of the city committee in the absence of Chairman David W. Farquhar.

Mr. George M. Fiske of Auburndale was elected temporary chairman and Mr. Chas.
E. Hatfield was elected temporary secretary.

A committee on credentials consisting of Edward H. Mason of Ward 6, Geo. H.
Ellis of Ward 3 and Frederick Johnson of Ward 4 was appointed and reported 31 delegates, this was subsequently increased to 33, one delegate being absent in each of Wards 2 and 5.

The temporary organization was then made permanent and Ex-alderman Wm. A.
Knowlton of Auburndale was recognized to nominate Mr. Edward L. Pickard as a candidate for mayor.

Mr. Knowlton said that Mr. Pickard needs no introduction to the citizens of Newton as he has been active and energetic in every good cause for the 30 years he has lived here. His active efforts in politics have been consistent and disinterested and he deserves special recognition.

Mr. Thomas Weston of Ward 7 seconded the nomination which was made by acclamation, and the secretary was authorized to cast one ballot for the nominee.

Messrs. Knowlton and Chadwick were appointed a committee to escort the nominee to the hall, and during their absence, the convention continued at its work, and nominated the following aldermen at large for 2 years.

Alderman Wm. B. Weldon of Ward One on motion of Mr. John T. Langford.

Alderman Walter H. Pulsifer of Ward
Two on motion of Mr. B. C. Bridgman.

Dr. Fred M. Lowe of Ward Three on motion of Mr. Geo. H. Ellis.

Alderman Charles A. Brown of Ward
Four on motion of Ex-alderman Wm. A.
Knowlton.

Mr. Geo. H. Mellen of Ward Five on motion of Alderman Edgar W. Warren.

Alderman Alfred S. Norris of Ward Six on motion of Mr. Edward H. Mason.

Alderman Walter B. Trowbridge of Ward
Seven on motion of Mr. Daniel S. Emery.

Mr. Chas. S. Ensign of Ward 7 was also nominated for alderman at large to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Alderman Wm. F. Dana, on motion of Thos.
Weston Esq.

The following nominations were then made for the school committee, for terms of three years.

Mr. Albert E. Wright of Ward One on motion of Mr. John T. Langford.

Mr. Abbott Bassett of Ward Two on motion of Mr. B. C. Bridgman.

Rev. H. Usher Monro of Ward Four on motion of Ex-alderman Wm. A. Knowlton.

Mr. Lewis P. Everett of Ward Five on motion of Alderman Walter Chesley.

Rev. George M. Boynton, D. D. of Ward
Six on motion of Mr. W. E. Webster.

On motion of Mr. Langford, the ward and city committee was authorized to fill any vacancies which might occur in the list of aldermen.

Mr. Pickard was then escorted to the platform and was received with great applause, the delegates standing.

Mr. Pickard expressed his thanks for the nomination and hearty welcome, and promised to devote all his time and best efforts to fulfill the trust. He promised to do his utmost to maintain Newton at the head of all the cities of the Commonwealth in the matter of education and good roads and believed that the aldermen just nominated would work with him to that end.

And the convention adjourned after a session of but forty minutes duration.

ENDORSE BAILY.

Democrats Want Him for Mayor.

Republicans Their Other Candidates.

The Democrats of Newton, in convention assembled, have endorsed the candidacy of Alderman Henry Baily who seeks the mayoralty on citizens nomination papers. William H. Baker, widely known as a Democratic leader is out of the race entirely. The Democrats say that Mr.
Baily will have their united support.

There have been two sessions of the Democratic convention since last week
On Friday evening 33 delegates assembled in Jefferson hall, Newtonville. James A.
Hannon was chairman and James E. Farrell secretary.

Mr. Baker obtained the privilege of addressing the convention and stated that he was not to be a candidate for mayor.
There had been dissensions in the ranks, some leaders had deserted their posts and furthermore there were murmurings of discontent.

There was an informal ballot at the close of Mr. Baker's remarks in which Mr. Baker received 21 votes and Mr. W. H. Maguire 11, with one blank. Again Mr. Baker repeated his position and again the delegates each cast a ballot. This time there were 31 votes for Mr. Baker and two blanks. For a third time Mr. Baker declined the honor.

It was then decided by the convention to leave the matter of securing a candidate for the mayoralty to a special committee of seven. The other business of the evening was attended to and these aldermen at large candidates chosen: Ward 1 W. B.
Weldon, Ward 2 Walter H. Pulsifer, Ward
3 Dr. Fred M. Lowe, Ward 4 Charles A.
Brown, Ward 5 George H. Mellen, Ward
6 Alfred S. Norris and Ward 7 Charles S.
Ensign.

Now just here there is a muddle which,
it is believed, only the ballot commissioners can relieve. The Republicans have chosen as their alderman at large candidate from Ward 7, Walter B. Trowbridge, while the Democrats have nominated Mr.
Ensign for the same office. Again the Republicans have nominated Mr. C. S. Ensign to fill the unexpired term of one year of Alderman William F. Dana, resigned.
For this honor the Democrats have chosen
Mr. Trowbridge.

On Monday evening there was another session of the convention and the special committee of seven reported that Mr. Baker had been twice interviewed yet emphatically repeated his declination. Mr. Henry Baily had been seen, the committee said, and stated that he would like to receive the endorsement of the Democrats.

It was then voted to endorse Mr. Baily's candidacy. Later it was decided to nominate the same candidates for school board whom the Republicans have chosen: Ward 1 Albert E. Wright, Ward 2 Abbott Bassett, Ward 4 Rev. H. U. Monro, Ward 5
Lewis P. Everett and Ward 6 Rev. G. M.
Boynton.

A SHAKESPEARIAN RAAPSODY.

TABLEAU I.

Scene—A public square. Rostrum at stage left adorned with national colors, poster girls and voting lists. Crowd of citizens talking loudly and gesticulating. No words are distinguishable. Enter 1st citizen. He mounts the rostrum.

1st citizen—Friends, fellow citizens and countrymen, with you I would a word. If you will give your ears to me, pro tem, I can be heard. This well you know by this assembly. Tis given us today by power most majestic and supreme. That we may choose a ruler for ourselves, one not a queen. Is not your wish?

Chorus of citizens—It is our wish.

1st citizen—Our strength, without cement, my friends, if I must say so. Will not avail a thing at all, or I'm no Plato. I would fobly be.

Chorus—Cement, cement, we will have cement.

1st citizen—The metaphor will do, it hath great powers. For what is speech without the flowers. Let blossoms reign.

Chorus—Hold, hold we want no reign.

1st citizen—Your pardon friends, my metaphor again. Our duty as I said appears plain. A ruler, a ruler, give us a ruler.

Chorus—A ruler, a ruler, give us a ruler.

1st citizen—A man with backbone stiff from end to end. Yet who is willing to our merest wish unbend. He is our man. His thoughts must pour, be his actions fearless. Unless we find he errs or gets too careless. We want a hero.

Chorus—We want a hero, we want a hero.

1st citizen—Let us then by vote herein this meeting. To Caesar CCLX extend our greeting. That he may lead us.

Chorus—Let's vote for Caesar CCLX. Three cheers for Caesar CCLX.

1st citizen—If you but say the word, some other here and me. Will wait upon our Caesar and we'll see. If he will run.

Chorus—We bid you go. We bid you go.

TABLEAU II.

Scene as in tableau I, 1st citizen addressing crowd.

1st citizen—My words are sad and consequently short. Stay, if you wish, some other may exhort. I'd leave resign.

Chorus—We will hear you. We will hear you.

1st citizen—Thrice has our Caesar CCLX refused the proffered crown. And from our hands cares not to gain renown. He wants no laurels. With others six, a Baker's half in all. It was our pleasure yesterday to call. But he declines. A pretty pickle, if vulgar I may be. Methinks my friends that we're all at sea. What shall we do?

Chorus—What shall we do, what shall we do?

1st citizen—If counsel you'll of me permit. We'd better let our choice be "nit."

We can endorse.

Chorus—Aye, we can ENDORSE. We WILL ENDORSE. WE DO ENDORSE.

1st citizen—If this your pleasure is, here let us end. And in our idiosyncrasy no more time spend.

Chorus—Let's to our homes, let's to our homes. (Crowd disperses.)

Ingalls-Anthony.

A home wedding of unusual attractiveness was that of Miss Julia Elizabeth Anthony of Newton Centre, formerly of Dorchester, to Mr. George Torrey Ingalls, of Newton Centre, which took place at 4 o'clock, Wednesday afternoon, in that village. The ceremony was performed at the bride's home on Pleasant street, by Rev. E. E. Burr, pastor of the Newton Centre Baptist church. The bride was unattended. She wore a becoming traveling dress of blue broadcloth and carried a bouquet of white chrysanthemums. There was a small reception immediately after the ceremony in the prettily decorated parlors. Later Mr. and Mrs. Ingalls left on an extended wedding trip in New York, Philadelphia and Washington. They will reside in the future at 222 Pleasant street and be at home after Jan. 1.

Croker-Ryan.

On Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock in St. Mary's church, Newton Upper Falls, Miss Mary F. Ryan, daughter of Mrs. B. Ryan of Elliot street, was married to Mark V. Croker, Rev. Fr. T. F. Danahy, the rector, officiating. There was a large company of relatives and friends present. The bride wore grey crepe de chine and her only attendant, Miss Ellen J. Ryan, her sister, wore violet nun's veiling. Mr. John H. Ryan was best man. The ceremony was followed by a wedding breakfast at the Ryan home on Elliot street, where Mr. and Mrs. Croker were warmly congratulated. They are now enjoying a wedding trip and at its conclusion will make their home in Newton Upper Falls.

Metropolitan Water Board.

The Metropolitan Water Board is seeking to enlist the support of water works officials, city engineers, mayors and selectmen in the Metropolitan district, to its probable effort before the next Legislature to secure authority to expend more money.

The present legislative sanction is for $27,000,000, but the board claims that at least $45,000,000 will be required. The estimate of $5,000,000 for damages to the City of Boston, was $7,000,000 too small in the actual award of $12,000,000. Extra expense was incurred in the Spot Pond reservoir in increasing its capacity to double that of the original estimate, and a deficit of about $4,000,000 is estimated on account of the failure of the assessments levied upon the various cities and towns for the years prior to 1902, to meet the sums required for sinking funds and interest. In this connection it is interesting to learn that Newton with an assessment in 1901, of about $500, would be required to pay about $7,000 if the full amount of sinking fund and interest were to be assessed.

The board has also under estimated the consumption of the district, and must begin work in 1901 on the conduit through Weston, costing about $5,000,000, which was not expected to be constructed until 1903 or 1904.

The board has been at work the past week in drawing off the 9,000,000 gallons of water in the old reservoir on Ward street. This has not been done since 1889, and the problem of disposing of the water was quite a serious one. It was finally decided to cut off the supply to Watertown and Belmont, and to use the force main as a drain into the Charles river.

Millions Given Away.

It is certainly gratifying to the public to know of one concern which is not afraid to be generous. The proprietors of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, have given away over ten million bottles and have the satisfaction of knowing it has cured thousands of hopeless cases. Asthma, Bronchitis, La Grippe and all Throat, Chest and Lung diseases are surely cured by it. Call on Arthur Hudson, Druggist, and get a free trial bottle. Regular size 50 cents and $1.00. Every bottle guaranteed.

City Government.

The Board of Aldermen met in special session last Monday evening and chose as jurors to the United States district court in Boston, H. R. Turner of Maple street and Frank C. Clement of Warren street, and as jurors to the Superior court at Cambridge, C. W. Lord of Waverley avenue and Frank H. Stuart of Pearl street.

Foot Ball.

The Shawmut club of Auburndale visited Weston Saturday and played a tie game of football with the Weston High school eleven 6 to 6. The teams were very evenly matched as to weight, but it was generally expected the home team would run as they had much more experience than the visitors. By a series of rushes at the tackles and ends the visitors pushed the ball over for a touchdown, Burns carrying the sphere. Simmons picked a pretty goal. This was called with the ball in the middle of the field.

In the second half Newton played desperately to win, and by a series of end rushes the ball was carried over the visitors goal line, and the score was tied. This ended the scoring as time was soon called. The offensive playing of both teams was strong. Scott and the Tucker boys played well for Weston and Burns, O'Brien excelled for the visitors. The line up:

Weston—Richardson, Eaton, H. Cooper, H. H. Tucker, C. Baxter, R. L. Cooper, R. Doty, T. Harris, G. Scott, R. H. Tucker, H. Hunt, H. Shawmut—McCoy, E. Hayes, R. Moore, R. Brigham, C. McCarthy, O'Brien, H. Haynes, J. Simmons, C. Casey, R. Moran, H. Burns, R. L.

Touchdowns—Scott and Burns. Goals from touchdowns—Hunt and Simmons. Umpire—E. Ferguson. Referee—C. N. Eaton. Linesman—Jones and Willis. Time—two twenty-minute halves.

At Auburndale Saturday the Auburndale A. defeated the Weston town team eleven, 6 to 0.

Auburndale, Mass., Nov. 24, 1900.

Dear Sir,—This is the result of the football game between Weston A. A. and Auburndale A. A. Saturday Nov. 24, 1900.

The game was called 3:45 o'clock. Auburndale kicking off, Weston's quarter rushed and was tackled by Melody. Weston lined up and fumbled the ball. Hart tackled the man bringing him down on the 35 yard line. Kennedy made an excellent tackle on Scott, Weston's left half back. Auburndale was holding hard at middle of first half. Scott punted the ball Wyman receiving it making a back for twenty yards through Weston's hard centre. This gain was followed by Miller's gain bringing the ball on Weston's 10 yard line. The ball was again rushed by Wyman for a touch down. It was kicked by Ferriac, which time time was called leaving the score Auburndale 6 Weston 0.

Time was called and the second half began in earnest. Ball was kicked off by Weston. Haney receiving the ball and starting the second half. Kennedy made an excellent gain for 20 yards. The ball was fumbled and past into Weston's hands. Melody made a good tackle on Scott. Ball was fumbled and Auburndale received ball. Kennedy made an excellent gain helped by good interference.

Lowry fumbled and Hart made another of his tackles on Scott. For a time on Tucker, Weston's full back ended the second half leaving the score Auburndale 6 Weston 0.

Death of George P. Gross.

Mr. George P. Gross, a silk merchant of Boston, and a resident of this city, died during a drive from Boston, to his home between 7 and 8 o'clock last Saturday evening. Mr. Gross entered a carriage on Boylston street, and gave the driver orders to stop when they reached Newton, that he might give further directions as to the location of his home on Hunnewell terrace.

Following the instructions, the driver stopped his carriage at the corner of Tremont and Park streets. He opened the carriage door, and, looking in, saw Mr. Gross had fallen across the front seat. He attempted to arouse him, but found that Mr. Gross had died. A book in his pocket had his address upon it.

After the carriage reached the Gross family residence, Medical Examiner Edward R. Utley was called, and pronounced heart failure as the cause of death.

Mr. Gross was New England agent of Arnold, Constable & Co. of New York. He was about 55 years old, and a native of Gloucester, Me. He had no family. His wife died suddenly about a year ago.

Funeral services were held at the family residence on Hunnewell terrace, Tuesday afternoon at 3, and conducted by Rev. Francis B. Hornbrook. On Wednesday the remains were taken to Portland, Me., for interment.

A Suggestion or Two About Hospital Matters.

To the Editor of the Graphic.—

The cost of the rain storm of last Sunday to the hospital was nearly $5000, that is, had Sunday been clear the offerings probably would have been $11,000 instead of about $6000. But the rain was needed and we ought to thank God for sending it, but how about the hospital? Should we lose the greatly needed $5000? Certainly not, for those who did not give last Sunday should do so next Sunday. See if we cannot roll up $5000 more.

Then about the Wellesley & Boston Street Railway offer. They are to give the gross proceeds of Saturday's traffic between Newton and Lower Falls to the hospital. Some boys and young men from different parts of the city are to serve as assistant conductors. The cars would be crowded all day long, and perhaps some who ride will not be too particular in giving just five cents, or in asking the exact change. There will be some friendly rivalry as to which one of the amateur conductors will turn in the most money for the hospital. We must all ride tomorrow on the Wellesley electric.

A FRIEND OF THE HOSPITAL.

Great Luck Of An Editor.

"For two years all efforts to cure Eczema in the palms of my hands failed," writes Editor H. N. Lester, of Syracuse, Kan., "then I was wholly cured by Bucklen's Eczema Salve." It's the world's best for Eruptions, Sores and all skin diseases. Only 25 cents at Arthur Hudson.

Street Railway Matters.

As announced last week the new branch of the Newton Street Railway Company from Newtonville square to Waltham via Walnut Crafts and Waltham Street Railway Co. last Saturday morning. Vestibule cars are run and already the benefits of the line have been demonstrated.

The Board of Aldermen of Waltham has taken definite action in the street railway war which has been raging in that city for several months, by granting a location for a second track on Main street to the Waltham Street Railway company and giving the Newton Street Railway leave to withdraw. The franchise has many restrictions however, the most important being a payment of $15,000 for the paving of the street with vitrified brick. The Newton company will be granted the right to use the track.

The Waltham Street Railway company has many Newton gentlemen as stockholders and Mr. Fred C. Hinds of Newtonville is president. The Waltham Evening News says that when the system contemplated by the Waltham Street Railway Co. is completed it will be one of the finest and most extensive in the state of Massachusetts. There will be a complete and continuous connection from Watertown and Newton to Wellesley and at the latter place the cars will connect at the old Worcester turnpike with the line of the Boston & Worcester Street Railway Co., making it possible to go from Waltham to Worcester with only one change of cars.

At the next meeting of the Weston selectmen the application of the Waltham Street Railway for a franchise through that town will come up and it now appears practically certain that the privilege will be granted.

In addition to the connections mentioned the company proposes to build tracks from Waltham to Belmont and through to Arlington where it will touch the Boston Elevated system, providing the necessary franchises are granted, as now seems likely. Altogether it will constitute a mammoth system of tracks.

The Board of Selectmen of Watertown, on Friday evening last, voted to allow the Newton Street Railway company to double track Main street as far as the State highway.

This will enable the railway company to operate cars as often as every ten minutes between Waltham and Watertown next summer.

Whist.

Third Hand Play. As the partner of the original leader, third hand on taking the lead, must either approve the plan indicated by his partner or initiate one of his own. The old books advocated the opening of any suit with no matter as to its value and overlooked the valuable fact that the original suit is one round nearer establishment than that still unopened. Modern writers, however, advise the immediate return of partner's suit, unless third hand deems it advisable to open trumps, or has a suit of his own practically established such as suits headed with ace-king or king-queen. With these two exceptions, third hand should return the highest of two remaining, and the lowest of three or more remaining of his partner's suit. On an original lead third hand should be allowed but one finesse—that of queen from queen-ace holding, any other finesse is unjustifiable on a low card led by partner.

On high card leads, third hand should carefully consider the probabilities of blocking partner's suit, and should if necessary cover the lead of a king-queen or jack, with the ace, if the number of cards in suit justifies such play. For example, with ace-king and one low card on a king led, third hand should win with the ace, and immediately return the jack. With ace, jack and two or more low, it is not necessary to make such a play. On a jack lead, third hand should play the ace, from any number under five. The possibilities of blocking partner's suit should always be borne in mind when four or more are held. On high card leads, this can be prevented by playing the third best, and holding up the lowest card of all until the third or fourth round. Holding four and wishing to call for trumps and unblocked at the same time, third hand should play the second best, and retain the fourth best until the last round.

At the rooms of the American Whist Club last Monday evening the fourth match for combination pairs was played. The Hunnewell club making top score for the evening with 25 points to its credit. The club was represented by Messrs. John F. Crosby, C. L. Bixby, W. S. Edmunds and L. A. Hall. This was the club's first appearance in these matches and its team won a notable victory.

It is interesting to learn that the whist column in the Wednesday Transcript is now conducted by Mr. Chas. F. Gilman of this city.

The American Whist club now has 18 wives to its credit, the big trophy of the league and only needs two more to ensure permanent possession. The strong New York team will come on tomorrow to try conclusions with them.

Miss Caroline Finnegan has returned from New York. She stopped at the Waldorf, Astoria, and visited the horse show.

Police Paragraphs.

When Patrolman "Bob" Harrison came across a quantity of brass in the possession of an Auburndale junk dealer last Saturday morning, he notified the chief and there was a hustle to find out where the stuff came from. It was finally located at the Sonoma company, and one of the employees acknowledged to the chief his wrongdoing. His name was Walter Maloney and he had been a trusted employee of the company many years. In court Monday, he was fined $10 for larceny.

J. Allen Brown, so named in the complaint, was in court last Saturday morning charged with selling milk the quality of which was below the standard and also having in his possession milk of the same character. On each count he was fined $35.

Some time Friday night or Saturday morning the store of Kerrigan & Mulvihill on Elliot street, Newton Upper Falls, was entered by thieves who carried off a quantity of tobacco and cigars. They secured entrance by breaking a light of glass in a cellar window, and then forcing a door at the head of the cellar stairs. A break of a similar character occurred only a few nights before in Needham.

SUNDAY CLOSING HOURS:

At The Churches.

In a letter to the Boston Transcript last Saturday, Dr. Shinn takes a part in the discussion of the question of "Why Men do not go to Church?" He claims that some men do not go because their consciences are stirred up. Their lives are rebuked. They are compelled to decide which they will give up, their sins or the church, and they give up the church. He claims that no matter how beautiful may be the music, and how eloquent the preaching, if repentance for sin and clean living are insisted upon, some men will shut themselves out of the church.

This Friday night the beautiful cantata called "The Holy City" is to be sung in Grace church, Newton, by the combined choirs of Grace and St. John's parishes. The seats are free to all who want to hear it.

The service in Grace church, Newton, will be chorally rendered on Sunday night. The music is always a fine feature at the night services in this church, and the seats are free to all.

Next Sunday is the beginning of the Advent season. In the month before Christmas attention is directed to the coming of Christ to be the Saviour of men, and also to His second coming to be the Judge of all mankind.

Although Grace church, Newton, has had many changes that come to many congregations, the occurrence of the 27th anniversary of the first opening of the church building brings to view the fact that one gentleman, Mr. C. F. Wood, has rented the same seat for 27 years, and a few other persons for nearly as long a period.

At the First Congregational church, Newton Centre, yesterday morning a Union Thanksgiving service was held, and the sermon was preached by Rev. Dr. Everett D. Burr, pastor of the Baptist church.

A regular meeting of the Stebbins' Alliance will be held in the parlors of the Newton Centre Unitarian church next Tuesday.

A regular meeting of the Farther Lights, a society of the Immanuel Baptist church, Newton, was held in the vestry last Monday afternoon.

At Eliot church, Newton, last Sunday morning a large audience was present notwithstanding the storm, to hear Rev. Dr. A. Berle of Brighton, who preached one of his eloquent sermons. In the evening Dr. Davis made a pastoral address on "The Thanksgiving Temper in Christian lives."

The business men's class at Eliot church, Newton, last Sunday considered the topic, "What can be done to recover the Home life of the Nation?" Rev. Dr. Samuel W. Dike of Auburndale was the speaker.

Next Sunday's topic will be, "Is luxury necessarily pernicious to the soul?" Leader, Mr. Frank A. Day.

Miss Katherine Wood of India, gave an interesting account of the mission work being done there before the members of the bible class at the Newton Methodist church last Sunday afternoon.

At the Unitarian church, Newton Centre last Sunday, the pastor Rev. C. W. "Given to Hospitality." A special musical programme was rendered.

On Nov. 30, 1873, Grace church building was first open for services, making today the 27th anniversary. The church was consecrated Nov. 30, 1877.

Rev. Dr. John Cuckson will occupy the pulpit of Channing church, Newton, next Sunday morning at 10.30 o'clock. The pulpit are cordially invited to hear Dr. Cuckson who was formerly pastor of the Arlington street church, Boston, and is an able and interesting preacher. Owing to the weather at the church, a convenient attendance last Sunday the "collection" next Sunday will also be devoted to the Cottage hospital.

A large audience was present at the First Baptist church, West Newton, last Tuesday evening to hear Mr. Henry K. Burrison give his lecture on "A Vacation Bible in the Yosemite National Park." The lecturer described in an interesting way the wonders of our National park 11,000 feet high, with many fine stereoscopic views. The lecture was given under the auspices of the Men's union of the church. The Men's Union intends to give a number of similar entertainments. In the near future an illustrated lecture on the Alps will be given by Mr. Albert Bailey, the principal teacher at the school. Mr. Bailey has tramped through and over the Alps and his account of his experiences will be extremely interesting.

At the meeting of the Advanced class connected with the Newton Centre Unitarian church next Sunday the pastor, Rev. C. W. Vendue will continue the consideration of "The Principles and Doctrines of Unitarian Christianity."

The regular meeting of the Women's Alliance will be held in the parlors of the West Newton Unitarian church next Tuesday morning. Mrs. Samuel Barnard will speak on "Sincerity and Conventionality."

An interesting and well attended service of the Sunday school of the West Newton Congregational church was held last Sunday afternoon. The programme took the form of a Thanksgiving observance and a chorus of twenty-five voices rendered several selections. Donations of fruit and vegetables were offered for decorations.

A PORTRAIT.

The mason's hand is rough and scarred,
The mason's back is stooped and bowed;
His brow, close bent above the stone,
With lines of strenuous toil is plowed.
Small case his honest years have known,
For Labor claims him as her own.

With skillful hand he carves and chips,
His chisel on the hard stone rings,
The gray dust flies about his head,
And ever at his work he sings
A simple croon of boyhood's day,
Timing his chisel to the lay.

And all in reverence I pause
Where he sits careless on the stone;
I hail him one of Labor's kings,
The humble seat his rightful throne,
For yesterday beneath his blow,
Wondering, I saw an angel grow.

LITTLE MRS. HOPE

By M. Quad.

COPYRIGHT, 1900, BY C. B. LEWIS.

There were 20 of us making up the party at an English country house for the shooting season, and it so happened that while all were of course well known to host and hostess seven or eight were strangers to each other until introduced at the house. I do not think there were over three or four who even knew little Mrs. Hope by name or could tell anything of her past. Nor did a great deal leak out about her father after she had been generally introduced and had come to be a favorite with both men and women. She was petite and blond. She had a baby face and big blue eyes, and your first impression of her was that she was a child, and a very innocent child at that. In the billiard room it was whispered that she was a distant relative of Colonel Saunders, our host, and that she had married a scamp and been so ill used that a divorce had been sought for. It was generally agreed that it must have all been the husband's fault and that the man who would ill treat such a light hearted, baby faced wife deserved something beyond contempt. She was by long odds the best looking woman among the eight or ten, but as she was not given to flirtation and as she looked pretty without artificial means she was forgiven for her handsome face and became a general favorite.

The man who leaves business for a week or two for an outing seldom takes along jewelry or money of any account, but nine women out of ten must carry their diamonds wherever they go. There was a brave display of gems at Rose Hill with all except little Mrs. Hope. She had two or three finger rings and a bracelet or two and made a poor showing compared to the rest. This was corroborative evidence that she was none too well fixed financially, but she did not display the slightest feeling of envy, and no hints were thrown out to hurt her feelings. A country house full of wealthy guests is a bonanza for a petty thief, and the colonel warned the ladies from the outset to be careful of their jewelry. All of them agreed to act upon the advice and then, womanlike, carelessly left every ornament lying about. On the fourth day of the party a lady named White missed three valuable rings which had been left lying on a table in her room. They had been taken in broad daylight while the ladies were on the lawn and while the maid was temporarily absent from the room. It was impossible that any outsider could have got into the house, and it seemed impossible to trace the theft to any particular servant. Counting maids, valets and the house retinue, there were about 20 people in the house aside from the guests. Mrs. White's loss was kept a secret for several days from all but host and hostess, but the colonel's quiet detective work brought no reward.

The second loss was more serious. A Mrs. Willmere left her jewelry lying about after dinner and at bedtime discovered that she had been robbed of every single article. The value was at least £3,000, and as she and her husband were both excitable people the loss could not be kept quiet. Between the finish of dinner and bedtime we were scattered about the house and lawn, with the servants moving to and fro, and no stranger could have entered the house without being seen. The bedroom window was up, but no ladder had been used. It seemed to be plain enough that some servant had secured the jewelry, and one by one the entire lot were summoned before the colonel's court of inquiry and interrogated. There wasn't one without a good character, nor could suspicion justly attach to any one. It was long after midnight before we got through, and next morning the sergeant from the police station was called over. He couldn't suspect one of the guests, and he could find no grounds for suspecting one of the servants, and he got out of it by looking wise and saying that Mrs. Willmere had probably mislaid her ornaments. Unfortunately for her she was rather absentminded, and we presently came to accept the theory, though she searched her rooms over and over again without discovery.

The losses did not break up the party, as might have been the case. The colonel and Mrs. Willmere came to some mutual understanding. I think the detective advised them to call it a "mislay" and thereby put the thief off his guard. Colonel Saunders insisted that every jewel of value be locked up in the family safe, and when this had been done every guest became a Sherlock Holmes. There were 20 guests and 20 theories. Everything from an owl to the stable boy was under suspicion. The detective's theory, as he gave it to the colonel privately, was that a smart thief disguised as a lady's maid or an upper servant had entered the house and committed both robberies.

Of all the theories this was the most absurd, but of course the man felt bound to make a move of some sort. The jewelry had been locked up for four days, and things had quieted down, when the colonel started to produce it in honor of a government official who was to arrive that evening. I say he started to, because he no sooner attempted to unlock the safe than he discovered that the bolts had been shot. As he pulled the door open he uttered a groan, and the sight of his haggard face was evidence enough that something was wrong. The safe had been opened by means of a key, but had not been locked again. Every article of jewelry was gone, and the value of the lot was not a cent under £10,000. In seeking to render his guests safe the colonel had helped to despoil them. It was impossible to say at what date the robbery had happened, and the only thing to do was to telegraph up to London for a detective. While waiting his arrival no servant was allowed off the grounds, and of course no guest could well leave while under fire. It was a painful position for every one, and the detective rather added to it when he got to work. As soon as he was in possession of all the facts he said to the colonel:

"These robberies were committed by one of your guests. They must all assemble in the drawing room and submit to have their rooms searched." Rather than subject them to such an indignity the colonel offered to pay the full loss out of his own pocket, but this no one would hear to. All were willing for the search to go on, and host, hostess and detective made it. Nothing was found. The detective clung to his theory, however, and took another look at the rooms and was given the names of their occupants. There were three rooms which communicated, and those three were occupied by the colonel, his wife and little Mrs. Hope. The door between the rooms of the colonel and Mrs. Hope was bolted on her side and had been for years. This door caught the eye of the detective, and after an examination of the bolt he said:

"This bolt has been worked within three or four days, as any locksmith will tell you, and this door has also been opened."

"Do you know what you are saying?" sternly demanded the colonel.

"I do, sir. You carry the key of the safe in your pocket. To get that key some one has entered your room by this door at night."

"But Mrs. Hope's effects have been searched along with the rest."

"Her effects—yes. She has the jewelry on her person. Let your wife search her."

The colonel was furious and his wife indignant. They would answer for little Mrs. Hope as for themselves.

"I can do no more," answered the detective. "One of your guests is the robber, and it is the guest occupying this room. If you will call her up here, I believe I can break her down in ten minutes."

After long hesitation little Mrs. Hope was called up. She came smilingly, and no pair of eyes ever revealed greater innocence. A layman would have sooner suspected a toddling babe.

"Now, then," began the detective, "you are the robber. You took Mrs. White's jewelry, and you robbed the colonel's safe. You got the key from his trousers by opening this door. You have the jewelry on your person."

For the space of 30 seconds the baby faced woman regarded him with wonder, indignation, fear and anguish. Then she gasped for breath and sank down in her tracks.

"Search her," said the detective as he left the room. Ten minutes later he was called in. The little woman lay weeping on the sofa, and the missing jewelry was spread out on the table.

"God help us!" said the colonel as he looked from the officer to the recovered treasure and back.

"We must help ourselves," replied the man as he looked at the woman with pity in his eyes. "Mrs. Saunders, your maid must go. You must fix the price with her. She must get away as soon as possible, and the plunder must be found in her room later on. She will get safe away."

Three hours later the jewelry was "found" in the maid's room, and everybody else was cleared of suspicion and made happy. The maid had been gone two hours, and the detective doubted whether she could be found in big London, though of course he would use every effort. Little Mrs. Hope was ill for a day or two under the nervous excitement and so had a good excuse for leaving Rose Hill. So far as I know not one of the guests suspected her. Indeed as the maid had left a written confession before she bolted how could any one else be suspected? This being the case, you may wonder how I got hold of the inside facts in the case. Well, that's a matter of no concern as long as I have given you the full particulars. Perhaps the colonel trusted me further than he did the others. As for little Mrs. Hope, it was want of money probably that induced her to turn robber, but I have always tried to make myself believe that she couldn't have realized what she was doing.

Why the Bishop Did Not Sould.
"A little boy in the neighborhood of Bishop Brooks' home in Boston was one day mischievously ringing doorbells and running away before the doors were opened," says a writer in "The Ladies' Home Journal." In pursuit of this amusement he ran up the steps of the bishop's residence, and the bishop, happening to be in the hall ready to go out, opened the door quickly, before the boy had turned to descend the steps. The child was so startled by the sudden appearance of the good man, who had a kindly smile for all children, that he ejaculated: "Why, Phil's Brooks! Do you live here?" In spite of the misdeed the bishop could not find it in his heart to scold the little fellow. He also had been a boy.

Cough, Cough,

Night and day, until the strength is entirely exhausted, and that dreaded word "Consumption" begins to be whispered among friends. That's a common story, familiar to the people of every town and village.

There's another story which ought to be as widely known as the story of disease, and that is the story of the cure effected by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. Bronchitis, asthma, obstinate, deep-seated coughs, bleeding of the lungs, and other forms of disease which affect the respiratory organs, are permanently cured by the use of "Golden Medical Discovery."

"Only for Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery I think I would be in my grave to-day," writes Mr. Moses Miles, of Hilliard, Vt., Co., Vt. "I had asthma so bad I could not sleep at night and was compelled to give up work. It affected my lungs so that I coughed all the time, both night and day. My friends all thought I had consumption. My wife insisted on my trying Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery—which I did. I have taken four bottles and am now a well man, weighing 185 pounds, thanks to Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery."

(Pillula At Lamgan Vitam.)

The Scientific Discovery of the Age!The Magic Key to the Mystery of Life!

From time immemorial it has been man's predominant ambition to prolong Life. But among the many brilliant minds, who have devoted their lives to the fascinating subject, it was left for the immortal Darwin to give the world, in his great theory of Life, the fundamental principle upon which to build all further research in this direction. Following closely in his footsteps came Prof. Dr. Ludwig Buchner, a German scientist of international renown, with his remarkable work entitled "Das Buch des Laugen Lebens" (the book on Longevity). But alas, like Darwin before him, he could reap the fruit of his wonderful doctrine. Others, however, equally great took up the interrupted thread with the result that two famous German scientists, after years of experiments and research, have at last discovered the secret of Longevity, in the shape of a remarkable vegetable compound which if properly used will positively prolong Life. This new remedy appropriately named "Longavita" (meaning Long Life) has been subjected to the most rigid tests at all the leading clinics and hospitals throughout Europe with marvellous results. Appreciating the importance of this discovery, we have acquired at enormous cost, the exclusive proprietary right to this truly wonderful preparation, which has proved a blessing to mankind.

"Longavita" is the true Tablet of Life, a rejuvenator par excellence embodying the veritable secret of longevity in a practical, feasible form. It is the fountain of perpetual youth, which it prolongs far beyond its present limits, while retaining health in a perfectly normal state. "Longavita" brightens the eye, stimulates mental activity, gives elasticity to the step, makes the face full, absorbs wrinkles, cleanses the system, purifies the skin, and is the only true Fount of Life for old and young of both sexes. Endorsed by Europe's leading physicians.

THE BOSTON CAUCUS LAW.

Special caucuses have been called by the Republican Ward and City Committee for December 4th, on petition of fifty and more voters, to take action on the revocation of the Boston caucus law, under which we are now acting.

While the Australian ballot feature of this act has its attractions for many, yet the other objectionable features of the law, more than counteract that advantage. In warm contests, like that experienced last week in Ward 6, many more votes can be cast, than under the old system of a town meeting caucuses, with its tedious debates. Cambridge is evidently to try the method of nominating candidates by nomination papers and abolishing municipal caucuses, and very much can be said in favor of such a plan, although the advocates of party labels would oppose it. It has been suggested that if nominations could be made directly by the caucuses, instead of through delegates that a long step would be taken towards simplifying the political machinery. The present delegate and convention system is complicated, unnecessary and nine times out of ten fails to crystallize the wishes of the voter. For instance, at the municipal caucuses in Ward One, a voter who wished to help nominate Mr. Weldon as an alderman and Mr. Tucker for school committee, found himself obliged to vote for one and against the other. If there had been rival candidates for the mayoralty the situation would have been still more complicated. This condition of affairs would be ludicrous, if it was not so serious. We have gone daft on the representative system of government. We choose a President through the electoral college; we resign the government of states and cities to legislatures and boards of aldermen, and we finally even delegate the choice of these legislatures and aldermen to conventions. What is needed is the abolition of political conventions with their opportunities for deals, trades and corruption, and have nominations for all offices made directly in the caucuses by an Australian ballot. Go even farther than this, and call the caucuses of all political parties for the same day and place, bring in the election machinery of ballot box, voting list, polling booths and paid caucus officers, and give each man as he steps to the desk a Republican, Democratic or any other kind of a ballot he chooses, and let the candidate receiving the most votes for each particular office be the party nominees at the election to follow.

To return to the question now at issue we are in favor of revoking the present cumbersome, expensive and inadequate caucus law, with a mental reservation that strong efforts for direct caucuses nominations through an Australian ballot will immediately follow.

MUNICIPAL NOMINATIONS.

An unexpected element of interest has been injected into a hitherto prosaic campaign for city officers by the acceptance of the citizens' nomination for mayor by President Henry Baily of the board of aldermen. Mr. Baily has been connected with the city government for 5 years and is in close touch and thoroughly conversant with city affairs. The nomination will undoubtedly be appreciated by the south side of the city, which has not been represented in the mayor's chair for ten years.

Mr. Pickard is too well known for any extended comments at this time, and as the unanimous choice of the Republican party will poll a large vote, and it is a rash prophet who can pick a winner at the present time.

The city should also be congratulated on the certainty that in the election of either Mr. Pickard or Alderman Baily it will have a mayor in every way worthy of the respect and confidence of every citizen.

There are no contests in sight for the aldermen at large or the school committee. Dr. Lowe, the nominee for alderman at large in Ward Three, has made many friends in the few years he has lived in that ward, and his candidacy is received with great favor. In Ward Five, Mr. Geo. H. Mellen, who will succeed Alderman Warren, is a lawyer in active practice, and has had experience as a legislator as representative to the general court from Worcester. Mr. Charles S. Ensign of Ward Seven, who will take Alderman Dana's seat, is also a well known lawyer, who has served in the legislature from Watertown and is prominent in society and club life in the ward.

It is a matter of regret that Ward One did not present Mr. Fred H. Tucker for the school board, as there is a strong sentiment in his favor throughout the district, and the aldermanic contest was the probable cause of his defeat, although his refusal to pledge himself antagonized the ward delegation. Mr. Albert E.

Wright, the nominee, is a successful business man and will undoubtedly make a good member of the board. Mr. Abbott Bassett, the nominee from Ward Two is well known as the genial secretary of the L. A. W. and will enliven the meetings of the board.

Rev. H. U. Munro from Ward Four, the rector of St. Mary's church at the Lower Falls, has had previous experience in the board, and Rev. George M. Boynton, D. D., of Ward Six is well known as the general secretary of the Congregational Sunday School Union.

MEDICAL INSPECTION OF SCHOOLS.

The special committee of the School Board seems to recognize the fact that the only way to prevent the admission to school of children suffering with contagious diseases, is by constant medical inspection. The suggestion that the Boston method of daily supervision of each school by a medical inspector be followed in this city, is one which was thoroughly considered by a former Board of Health and found to be inexpedient on account of the cost.

An effective and at the same time inexpensive method of accomplishing the same result was that suggested by the health department at that time, viz: that all children should present a medical certificate from either the family or city physician, before being admitted to school after an absence occasioned by sickness. Such a plan would protect the schools at a minimum of expense.

THE ASSOCIATED CHARITIES.

Among the many organizations in Newton, few accomplish as much all round good as this association. It is thoroughly established and its officers having had years of experience in charitable work are competent to use the funds given them with rare discretion.

No better way to observe the Thanksgiving spirit of the season, can be found than by complying with the appeal of the Finance Committee of the association which we print in another column.

THE NEWTON HOSPITAL.

Friends of the hospital were much disappointed at the weather last Sunday, and the considerable falling off in the receipts, on that account. The needs of the hospital are just as urgent, however, on rainy days as well as fair and would be contributors are urged to make individual donations to the Treasurer, Mr. George S. Bullens.

The Offer of the Wellesley & Boston Street Railway company to contribute $25,000 towards the cost of widening Washington street at the Lower Falls, in order to accommodate a double track is certainly liberal, being nearly two thirds of the estimate of the entire cost of the work. The company, however, is in a prosperous condition and seems disposed to continue its established policy of meeting the travelling public and the municipality in a spirit of fairness and liberality.

EVERY one ought to make it convenient to ride on the Wellesley and Boston Street cars tomorrow and don't be particular about the change. The hospital will be benefited by the receipts on that day through the courtesy of the Directors of the Company.

Do not forget the hearing before the aldermen next Monday night on the need of a playground for Wards One and Seven.

Vote "yes" next Tuesday night.

A communication relative to the Boston caucus act, received from Mr. John T. Langford too late to be printed in full, calls attention to the fact that the law only allows two forms of caucuses, the present Australian ballot form or the one held previously to the present method. He claims that the politicians are behind the revolution movement and that all opposition grows out of a want of knowledge of its workings and which might be regulated by a revision of the rules of the committee. That the Ward and City committees are not acquainted with the law and the discussion and floor nominations can be made even now. The extra expense is small. As great as is the benefit of the Australian ballot to elections even greater will be the benefit of this Australian system to nominations. The main thing we need to make it perfect is direct nominations made by the people through their caucuses only.

Political News.

Alderman Trowbridge and Mr. C. S. Estlin have corrected the mistake of the Democrats by withdrawing from the nomination made by that party.

The Boston Herald follows an article labeled "A Terrible Example" with a cut of Dr. Daniel S. Madden, Democratic candidate for the school board in that city. The many friends in this city, where Dr. Madden was born and raised, are of the opinion that it would be greatly to the credit of the city of Boston to give the more "Terrible Examples" like the doctor.

Rheumatism.

Nobody knows all about it; and nothing, now known, will always cure it.

Doctors try Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil, when they think it is caused by imperfect digestion of food. You can do the same.

It may or may not be caused by the failure of stomach and bowels to do their work. If it is, you will cure it; if not, you will do no harm.

The way, to cure a disease is to stop its cause, and help the body get back to its habit of health.

When Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil does that, it cures; when it don't, it don't cure. It never does harm.

The genuine has this picture on it, take no other. If you have not tried it, send for free sample, its agreeable taste will surprise you.

FOR BABY'S GOOD AND GOOD BABIES.
TENNEY'S FOOD IS THE STAFF OF LIFE FOR CHILDREN AND INVALIDS.
Is your baby well? Are you sure you understand the language of a cry? Tenney's Food makes sturdy children. It nourishes the child with gentle means. It is a natural food prepared from whole wheat, malt and the sugar of milk. Tenney's Food, in itself, contains every essential for human sustenance. It is the nearest approach to a refined essence of life. Tenney's Food nourishes the infant; it strengthens the mother; it invigorates the invalid; it will sustain life and energy in persons of mature years and robust health. Tenney's Food is readily and easily assimilated by delicate or enfeebled stomachs. Does not require cooking, may be given with milk, hot water, beef tea, etc. Tenney's Food is the most satisfactory substitute for mother's milk. It is now generally prescribed by physicians and adopted by many hospitals. Pleasant and palatable,—no sickness, no sweetness, no nausea. Price 50 cents. At your druggists, or by mail. Tenney's Food Co., 155 Congress Street, Boston. 6m

Here is a story about Mme. Eames that is too good to keep. During one of her western tours she consented to sing at a church festival in a large city. Naturally, the committee charged a good admission price, but no one objected save a lone crank. He declared that a house of worship was free to all and demanded admission. The doorkeeper objected. The crank finally got very warm and cried, "Do you think I'll have to have a ticket to enter the kingdom of heaven?" "Well, no, perhaps not," replied the doorkeeper, "but then you won't hear Mme. Eames in heaven." This didn't sound quite right to the doorkeeper, and in his confusion the crank entered.

It is not life alone that they prolong, But while you live they keep you healthy, strong.

"Longevity" Tablets restores the dimples in your cheeks, the wan look vanishes, the wrinkles telling of approaching age or sorrows past will be removed, and life toned up to make it worth the living. It is a purely vegetable compound, a preparation which represents the culmination of years of labor and scientific research of two noted German scientists. Our ad. in another column will interest you. The effect of these tablets upon the human system is marvelous by their certainty of action, and the immediately beneficial results from their use. At last a mystery has been cleared and a baffling problem solved.

Literary Notes.

The Christmas Ladies' Home Journal offers a superabundance of literary and artistic features in most attractive form. Among its nearly two-score contributors are Mrs. Lew Wallace, Elizabeth Stuart Phelps, Charles Major, William Perrine, Clifford Howard and Elizabeth Lincoln Gould, while A. B. Frost, W. L. Taylor, Reginald B. Birch, Henry Hunt, George Gibbs and as many other illustrators supply its pictorial features. Apart from the articles having special holiday timeliness of interest, the notable features of the Christmas Journal include "The Inkkeeper's Daughter Who Dissolved a President's Cabinet," "What May Happen in the Next Hundred Years," "Jerusalem as We See It To-Day," "Two Women's Gifts of Twenty-Five Millions," "The 'Little Men' Play," a dramatization of Louisa M. Alcott's delightful story, "Where Children See Saint Nick," "The Fourteenth Man," "Two Christmas Days at Rock Farm," and "The Successors of Mary the First," "The Story of a Young Man," and "The Blue River Bear Stories," which are continued. Edward Bok has a thoughtful article on Christmas celebration, and there are various articles on women's wear, Christmas presents and edibles, while various other practical, helpful themes are ably presented. By The Curtis Publishing Company, Philadelphia. One dollar a year; ten cents a copy.

"In the Days of Jefferson, or the Six Golden Horseshoes" a tale of Republican simplicity Mr. Ezekiah Butterworth has taken a series of romantic episodes in the earlier years of Jefferson's life and made a most picturesque use of them. The story is a fascinating one, and is valuable as a chapter in American History, sketching the career of the author of the Declaration of Independence with peculiar appreciation of his character. Fully illustrated by Frank T. Merrill. 12 mo. cloth $1.50. D. Appleton & Co. New York.

"For the Honor of the School" by Ralph Henry Harbison, sketches the long drawn struggle of a cross country run, and the training and exciting contests in track athletics and other sports. The dedication of the book to those schools, where athletic sports are pursued indicates its general character. Illustrated by M. Relyea. 12 mo. cloth, $1.50. D. Appleton & Co. New York.

"The Substitute Quarterback" by Eustace Williams is a story for boys, which will be greatly appreciated. It tells the story of two football matches and how one boy after losing the confidence of the school by betraying its football team, comes to retrieve himself. The book is well written in a fascinating manner. Published by Dana Estes & Co. cloth $1.25. Illustrated by L. J. Bridgman.

The old established house of D. Appleton & Co. has emerged from its recent difficulties and paid out a hundred cents on the dollar. It has been reorganized on broader and more progressive lines than ever. The New England agency, under the management of Mr. W. J. Crowley, has been re-opened at 126 A. Tremont street, where a full line of the Appleton publications is now in stock.

"Rita," by Laura E. Richards, is a tale of the Spanish-American war in Cuba, and graphically describes some of the realities of that struggle in connection with the adventures of a young lady who runs away from a Spanish step-mother and is published by Dana Estes & Co., cloth $1.25.

Spread Like Wildfire.
"When things are 'the best' they become 'the best selling.' Abraham Hare, a leading druggist of Belleville, O., writes: 'Electric Bitters are the best selling Bitters I have handled in 20 years. You know why? Most diseases begin in disorders of stomach, liver, kidneys, bowels, blood and nerves. Electric Bitters tones up the stomach, regulates liver, kidneys and bowels, purifies the blood, strengthens the nerves, hence cures multitudes of maladies.' It builds up the entire system. Puts new life and vigor into any weak, sickly, rundown man or woman. Price 50 cents. Sold by Arthur Hudson, Druggist.

The Bureau of Publicity of the Pan American Exposition has just issued a very complete booklet descriptive of the enterprise to be held at Buffalo next year. The booklet contains 48 pages with 121 text and 82 illustrations. The publicity up to the present time has been piecemeal, bringing out the various features as they have developed, but an examination of this booklet gives to the reader a very comprehensive idea of the splendid character of the Exposition. The total cost of the Exposition, exclusive of exhibits, is now estimated at $10,000,000. Of this amount about $3,000,000 will be expended upon the Midway. The sum for the Midway is more than the total cost of some very pretentious expositions, so that by comparison one may gain a very fair idea of the work which Buffalo is carrying rapidly to completion. A beautiful landscape comprising 350 acres, half a mile wide and a mile and a quarter long, is devoted to this wonderful enterprise. In the use of electric lights for decorative purposes this Exposition will outshine all former undertakings. Owing to the nearness of Niagara Falls, with unlimited electric power, the Pan-American Exposition has at hand a large volume of energy which will be employed to whatever extent may be necessary to produce the most brilliant, fantastic and beautiful electric lighting effects the world has ever seen. The exhibits of the Exposition are divided into about twenty classes and embrace every line of human activity. The gates of the Exposition will open on May 1, 1901, continuing six months.

SCHOOL BOARD.

Health of Pupils Again Considered.

More Requests For Single Sessions.

The school board of this city has by its action Wednesday evening placed Christian Science on a par with parental negligence. And the board is quite emphatic in its attitude. Wednesday evening's session was the shortest of the year.

In a report made by a special committee of Ward Three members concerning a case of diphtheria in the Davis school at West Newton, which it was thought might have caused contagion, inasmuch as it had not been promptly discovered, the committee said that as no new cases had developed there seemed to be no call for comment.

The committee, however, pointed out the danger of a child absenting himself and then returning, after having suffered from an infectious disease, declaring he had suffered only from a cold. The committee advised precautions, saying "Now that there is said to be an increasing number of people called Christian Scientists, who deny the existence of disease, it seems to us that some additional precaution should be taken against this danger. We are informed that the Newton Educational association is seriously considering this matter and has called upon the physicians of this city for advice."

The committee closed its report suggesting that districts be established and physicians appointed to visit the schools each day. The committee's report was received and accepted and the superintendent authorized to take appropriate action.

The board appointed Grace B. Clough an assistant in the High school at a salary of $550 and Madeline P. Thurston and Margaret L. Sheridan assistants in the Bigelow at salaries of $650 and $600 respectively.

The resignation of Lucy M. Morrill, an assistant in the Wade school, was accepted. The committee on schoolhouses which has been considering at the city government's request, the advisability of purchasing land for a school house on Manet road, Chestnut Hill, reported that the lot of land in question was undesirable and recommended a corner lot of 30,000 square feet on high ground and having southerly exposure. The report was accepted.

The Ward Two committee, to whom had been referred the petitions for and against a single session in the Adams district, reported that inasmuch as there is being conducted an experiment in the Bigelow district along these lines, the board postpone consideration until there had been a report made on the Bigelow experiment. The committee stated further that it was reported that a petition was being circulated in the Bigelow district against single sessions.

Ward Three residents asked for a single session in the Barnard school, and Ward Five residents petitioned against a single session in the Hyde school. Both communications were referred.

The superintendent was directed to have examined by a physician all those pupils of the Newton public schools who desire to participate in athletic games on school premises. This is to preclude injury to those of weak constitution.

The Ward Five committee was instructed to select a proper name for the school building at Waban, and later $17,650 was appropriated for the November department expenses.

The Associated Charities.

For more than ten years the Associated Charities has existed in Newton, and has up to the present time paid all its bills promptly, supported by the voluntary contributions of the community, without once having had recourse to any fair, concert, or other entertainment. This shows that there have been many in the community who have had faith in its purposes and its methods of carrying them out.

Within a year or two, however, many of its firm friends and generous contributors have died. It is its misfortune that to only one of these has it occurred to remember the organization in his will.

During the last few years, also, new institutions have been established in the city, depending upon the community for the means to carry on their work. Of these the Home for Aged People might not yet have been an established institution had it not been for the memorial presented to the City Council by the Associated Charities, calling attention to the bequest that had been made for the purpose.

For all these reasons the Society finds itself now, for the first time, without the ready money to meet its monthly expenses, and it feels compelled to appeal to the community for renewed contributions.

Our work is not perfect. We do not accomplish all that we see might be done. We have but one paid officer whose work must come within the limits of one human being. This agent manages a provident branch, an employment bureau, a penny savings system, besides the registration, investigation and the consultation with friendly visitors, which is the legitimate work of the Associated Charities.

We have in our office the records and histories of nearly a thousand families who have been brought to our notice in one way or another requiring our aid. These records are confidentially kept, but are at the service of any one desirous of giving discriminating aid to any of those families.

Sometimes the appeal is for work. This can always be found. There is not a free employment agency in the country that finds work for more than one in three of its applicants. We find it, however, in some cases, even for the unskilled. A most forlorn, though not uneducated girl, who seemed an almost hopeless case through her lack of self confidence, was helped into a niche which she filled with comfort to herself and her employer. A young woman came into the office lately to thank our agent for the start that he gave her seven years ago. There are widows struggling to bring up children who rely upon our office to help them to new places whenever work fails.

Sometimes the trouble comes from a disastrous mortgage on furniture. One agent has, with the support of a police inspector, secured a money lender in his very own in Boston and secured a rebate on such a mortgage.

When the misfortune is sickness, our city is, through the hospital, the benevolent District Nursing association and the Catholic Young Ladies' Charitable association, well equipped to relieve it, and the

There are lonely aged people, some supported partly by the city, some wholly by some private charity, for whom when one source fails the Associated Charities must look up another.

A little girl was once reported to our agent by the city almoner, who thought it a pity that she should be taken to the poor house. She had spent one or two nights crouching on the piazza of a house to which her last remaining relative, a sick woman, had gone, but where she had been refused admission. Through this society her board was paid until she was placed in a family of a lady who trained her in housework. She is now in a well paid position in a good home. Our agent is trying at the present time to do much the same thing for an older girl.

Sometimes the appeal is for material aid, in which case, if such aid seems quite the suitable thing to give, our agent hunts up relatives, finds out if there is a church connection or if any member of the family belongs to any benevolent organization, or, as last resort, if there seems a case for private rather than public charity, makes an appeal to one of the few benevolent individuals in the city who has authorized him to call upon them for help.

Among the hundreds of families on our records there are more than a few chronic cases of drunkenness, beggary and evil living, to whom we believe it right that no material aid outside of some public institution should be given, and it is because so many of these cases, thoroughly well known to us, are reported and re-reported to us that the remark is so often heard, "Associated Charities do not do anything." It is significant, however, that this is never said by any of the people of all sorts and conditions who are in the habit of calling at our office for one purpose or another.

The directors feel certain that they have but to make known the needs of the association to receive an adequate response from the generous public of Newton. They recognize the many calls for charity by the organizations well worthy of support; it is the province of the Associated Charities to assist all and to make the work of each more effective to the end that every one worthy of assistance shall receive it promptly and from the proper source. Now then that it endeavors to lessen the need for aid by helping men and women to become self supporting, thus increasing the funds available for those who necessarily are to compel to rely on financial assistance.

Contributions may be sent to the treasurer, Mr. Bruce R. Ware, 73 Federal street, Boston, by whom they will be greatly acknowledged.

The Proposed Playground.

Newton, Nov. 23, 1900.

To the Editor of the Graphic:—
Dear Sir: I want to add a word to what has already been said in your paper, as to a playground for the boys of Wards One and Seven. If there is a chance of getting suitable land for such a playground, I trust the people of the two wards will not let the chance slip.

Years ago we boys had a playground, and now is a very attractive spot; but for a long time it was an eyesore to every boy. The next place, in fact the only place left to us was the lot now occupied by the Hunnewell Club. That was always too small, and for a decent game of football or base ball we had to go to Newton Centre or to Newtonville. All of the other wards of the city have a playground. Is it not about time that the largest section of the city did something for its boys?
Very respectfully,
THOMAS WESTON, JR.
